Amy McWhirter is a dynamic and engaging professional Trade Show Presenter, Host, Corporate Speaker, Moderator, Consultant and Event Emcee.

DYNAMICALLY ENGAGE AUDIENCES at your next trade show or live corporate event with attention-grabbing, consistently energetic presentations. Expert experience in HealthCare & Medical, Information Technology, Manufacturing, Cybersecurity, Consumer Electronics, Construction, Graphics, Government and other industries for mid-level corporations, innovative startups, and Fortune Global 500's.

Corporate and marketing clients appreciate her warmth, professionalism, credibility, flair for becoming part of the team, and ability to truly engage, empower and connect with audiences.

Amy has a unique flair for transforming technical and medical information into easily understandable, relatable conversation, with the ability to improvise and think on her feet, adapting to the changing variables of a live event.

She is a partner to your company's team, working closely to ensure more qualified sales leads, successful events, audience engagement and maximum ROI!

Why hire a professional Presenter? An experienced presenter will...

1. Engage audiences consistently, drawing people in.
2. Increase qualified sales leads.
3. Transform technical concepts and scripts into relatable conversation.
4. Be an expert: audiences assume working for the company for years.
5. Represent your company, messaging, and brand with high energy.
6. Build your Brand as the face and voice of your company.
7. Artfully tailor tone and messaging to audience.
8. Personalize existing script or write from provided materials.
9. Free staff to answer questions and do demos for clients.
10. Provide booth staffing: presenters, speakers, narrators, moderators, crowd gatherers, demonstrators, brand ambassadors.
11. Assist in strategy plan for maximizing ROI at event.
12. Be credible!

What some satisfied clients are saying:

"Several times a day our own employees asked me if we hired someone new because she was that believable. If you didn't know firsthand she was a professional speaker you would think she is visiting our customers and talking about our technology on a daily basis."

- Renee Etiopio, Corporate Marketing Manager | INX

"Simply Amazing! That is how I would describe Amy. She is the most professional and fantastic presenter. Her stage presence, her ability to hit the message consistently on target every time, her ability to absorb and learn the technology, and her skills in making script change recommendations for the best message, makes her absolutely unique. I have worked with Amy in two different companies now, and over a number of years. I would highly highly recommend Amy, as I have yet to meet or see any other presenter that is even close to what Amy delivers. "

- Yama Habibzai, Chief Marketing Officer | ScienceLogic

"When it comes to professional, attention-grabbing and consistent presentations for any public venue, Amy is a must have! She has the perfect combination of energy and professionalism that instantly lends credibility to practically any presentation. You really brought my script to life and truly spoke to the audience."

- Mike Guillory, Manager WW Marketing Communications | Texas Instruments

"Amy is amazing to work with. Our company has worked with Amy for several years having her present highly technical medical equipment and software at multiple trade shows. She is a true professional. She was able to easily adjust to our last minute changes and provided excellent suggestions to make our presentations more impactful. Amy delivered multiple presentations numerous times during the day, perfectly every time. I would highly recommend Amy."

- Tom Chadwick, Senior Business Marketing Manager | Elekta
