

Meet Our Newest Member: Mary Gosden

Mary Gosden joined our cooperative in November of 2016, but what with all the hubbub of the holidays, we haven't had the chance to introduce her. But we are very happy to have Mary join our happy group and share her beautiful and unusual art work with all of us. Mary has been creating art and music her entire life. She loves architecture and Art Deco style, and has developed her own distinctive style of painting on porcelain. Mary has developed her own style with use of modern materials and methods (including her own sandblasting) that make her work unique and distinctive. She gives several demonstrations each year to art leagues, civic groups and at international porcelain painting conventions.

Mary's work is unlike anything else you are likely to see elsewhere, and certainly unique within our own cooperative. Come in and see it soon. And if you are lucky and Mary is working when you come in, ask her to explain how she achieves these beautiful pieces of art.
