

THE BUSS REPORT

Andy Buss' Quarterly Newsletter
October — December 2015

In November, www.AndyBuss.com was launched!

Public Appearances

October 3: At the Schnelker Marine Open House (New Haven, IN), I represented all of my sponsors proudly as displayed on my jersey and boat. My boat was also on display as a model. The most satisfying component of this day was meeting several individuals who came out just to see me, including several adolescents. Several are following me on social media after meeting me earlier in the year at other public appearances.

October 16: I spent the evening at the St. Thomas' School Fun Fair (Elkhart, IN). A fishing trip with Andy Buss was raffled off to raise money for their PTO. Again, it gave me an opportunity to represent you as you were displayed on my jersey. Pictured left was the considerable basket of goodies to go along with an autographed photo of yours truly. A child won the trip and will get a fishing trip with me this spring.

December 18: "Honored" might be the wrong word, but regardless, I was given the opportunity to participate in "Stuck for a Buck." This event (right) was run to raise money for a middle school student's efforts at being self-published. At her school, strips of tape were sold to stick me to the wall. All proceeds went to the student's ambitions. Her book should be published later in 2016.

Tournament Success

October 17: In the annual Breast Cancer Awareness tournament on the St. Joe River in Elkhart, Indiana, I managed a third place finish and also scored the biggest bass of the event. (left).

November 28: The annual Thanksgiving tournament on Klinger Lake, Michigan, had water temperatures in the upper 30's. Despite the frigid conditions, I managed a 6th place finish amongst my area's top anglers (right).

Published Works

October 6: "Stik to the Basics" is an article I contributed to the Bass Pro Shops' blog. It focused on my experience during the Bassmaster Northern Open on Oneida Lake and the hard lesson that was reinforced to me. It can be viewed: <http://blogs.basspro.com/blog/bass-pro-shops-portage-in/%E2%80%9Cstik%E2%80%9D-to-the-basics>

R & B Bass Circuit

The R & B Bass Circuit is expanding. As a result of my tremendous success (over 160 members in 2015) in 2016 I will be running two divisions.
