Media Exposure

June 16-18: The first FLW Northern Costa tournament (left) on the Potomac River in Maryland was a success. Competing as a professional, I finished 28 out of 144. This high finish has me in great position to qualify into the 2017 FLW Tour.

This garnered media coverage at FLWOutdoors.com (the weigh-in was streamed live), South Bend Tribune, SouthBendTribune.com, LouieStout.com, and RandBBassCircuit.com

June 4: On Southern Lake Michigan, I was able to finish Runner-up (right) at the R & B Bass Circuit West Division event with spawning smallmouth bass that weighed 16.73 pounds. These events are especially difficult to compete in because I am also the director. This garnered media coverage at South Bend Tribune, SouthBendTribune.com, LouieStout.com, and RandBBassCircuit.com.

April 23: At the R & B Bass Circuit East Division on Hamilton Lake (left), I notched a Top 5 finish with bedding largemouth bass. The 16.32 pound limit was fooled with an array of soft plastic baits. This garnered media coverage at RandBBassCircuit.com.

March 6: The South Bend Tribune published an article in the Sports Section entirely about me. This article highlighted my experience on Lake Erie last fall. I was extensively interviewed and quoted throughout it about the day I nearly lost my life. An article in my own words can be found on my web site, AndyBuss.com.

Additional Tournament Success

May 22: In an open tournament hosted by the Peru Bassmasters on Winona Lake, I tallied a Top 5 finish with spawning largemouth bass (left). The 15-13 pound limit was caught on a variety of soft plastic baits.

April 10: Despite frigid temperatures and relentless rain, I still managed a Top 5 finish and Big Bass Award (right) at the Peru Open tournament held on Lake Manitou. My limit consisted entirely of largemouth bass caught on soft plastics and custom painted crankbaits along a rocky break-line.

The names of the bodies of water are bold in blue to showcase the diversity of my skills.
