Public Appearances

Andy Buss' Quarterly Newsletter July - September 2015

July 16: The Indiana State Police invited me to be a guest speaker at their Junior Pioneer Camp, which is a program aimed at influencing "at risk" children in a positive direcition. After speaking to them, showing off the boat, and tackle, we went fishing.

July 28 & 30: For two days I was a guest at the Allen County (Indiana) Fair where I worked to educate the public on boat and tackle selection alongside Schnelker Marine. While there, I was even introduced to Indiana's governor, Mike Pence. (left).

August 30: At the MAC Expo in Antwerp, Ohio, I conducted two seminars where I spoke about lure color selection, the differences between largemouth and smallmouth bass, and the unique 'tools' on my boat. That, too, was on display at the entrance.

Tournament Success

July 19: Along with running the largest bass circuit in the northern half of Indiana & Southern Michigan, the R & B Bass Circuit, I managed an eighth place finish on Tippecanoe Lake, Indiana with a mixed bag of small & largemouth (left).

July 25: With another mixed bag of small & largemouth, I scored another victory at the Michiana Bass Angler's singles circuit on Austin Lake, Michigan (right).

July 26: Victory at the prestigious annual Clear H20 Tackle open tournament on the Eagle & Juno Lakes chain in Michigan (left). While most competitors focused on breaklines and lily pad fields, we focused our efforts on fish in just two feet of water and less.

August 23: Again at the R & B Bass Circuit, I managed a fourth place finish on the St. Joe River, Indiana (right) by targeting largemouth bass in a predominant smallmouth fishery.

September 24-25: Despite strong winds and persistent mechanical problems, I still managed a 35th place finish in the Bassmaster Northern Open on Lake Erie out of Sandusky, Ohio (left).

BASS Northern Opens

My participation in the Opens this year was a tremendous success and plans have already begun to compete again in 2016. My overall rank of 38 out of 260 professionals is encouraging, but I readily admit I could have done much better. The lessons learned will guide me next year and beyond. It was an honor to represent you to countless onlookers on stage, in parking lots, on the water, and on the road.
