IN THE NEWS

OWSIM Inc. Has recently been interviewed by the ONSITE INSTALLER Magazine. Several Board members have collaborated and took part in the 1 1/2 hour interview for this article on Thursday November 13.

This is a fantastic opportunity for our association to be recognized in this major onsite industry publication.

The main goal of the column is to let readers and other associations know about the onsite industry in other states and provinces.

Questions revolved around these topics:

- What issues are facing the onsite wastewater industry in your province?
- What accomplishments has the organization had in the last few years that you are most proud of?
What services do you offer members?
- How do you work with regulators?
- Do you do anything unique that other state organizations could try?
- How many members and what type of onsite professionals are members?
