MAY IS MENTAL HEALTH MONTH...

Let's talk about it!

Anyone who experiences anxiety, depression or other mental illness knows, it's not "all in your head." These experiences can affect every aspect of life. Mood, energy, appetite, sleep, relationships with others, ability to function at work or school, even physical health can be affected. People experiencing mental health conditions often face rejection, bullying and even discrimination. Navigating life with a mental health condition can be tough and can make life's journey more difficult. Let's look at some Mental Health facts:

- 1 in 5 adults in the United States lives with a mental health condition.
- Half of all lifetime mental health conditions begin by age 14 and 75% by age 24.
- 60 million people in the United States face the day-to-day reality of living with a mental illness.
- 90% of those who die by suicide have an underlying mental illness. Suicide is the 10th leading cause of death in the US, but suicide is preventable.
