

Tim Ecclestone Koho game used hockey stick.

The accompanying photo represents my best effort to show Tim Ecclestone using a stick similar to his game used Koho depicted below. Ecclestone played for four different NHL teams with his last being the Flames. He also served as an assistant coach for the Flames for their last three seasons in Atlanta. Ecclestone was one of many former Atlanta Flames players who remained in the area after retirement, owning a popular sports bar in the north Atlanta suburbs. I acquired this stick from a noted collector of Atlanta Flames jerseys and memorabilia.

