No one who sets a hand on the plow and looks to what was left behind is fit for the kingdom of God. (Luke 9:62) Is Jesus being unreasonable? All this man wanted to do was say goodbye to his family before following Jesus. If you're suspecting that something deeper is going on here, you're probably right. First, it helps to remember how this passage fits into Luke's timeline: we have just learned that Jesus is now "resolutely" traveling to Jerusalem. The hour of his passion is drawing near. Luke is showing us a new sense of urgency in Jesus' life and message. There just isn't time left for secondary things—even good, important things. For those individuals whom the Lord is calling, it's now or never! Second, we don't know how they responded to Jesus' words. Maybe there was more to the conversation. That's because Luke is actually more interested in encouraging us, his readers, to follow Jesus than in recounting the details of an event long past. But Jesus knows how challenging it can be. He knows that he is asking a lot of us. He also knows how much grace he has stored up to help you. He has already determined to forgive you when you fall and to encourage you when the going gets tough. He is never one to issue a command

Questions of the Week

Thirteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Youth: To follow Jesus means to do what is right. Name a time this past week when you followed Jesus by doing the right thing you were asked to do, the first time, without an excuse.

Adults: Sometimes we are like the people in the Gospel and have many excuses for why we cannot follow Jesus. Name a time this past week that you followed Jesus even though you had many excuses.
