The children of this world are more prudent.

(Luke 16:8) Perhaps some context will help.

Jesus had just finished telling the parable of the prodigal son— a story about a father who forgives his son completely and throws a lavish party to celebrate his return. The father's extravagance is so outlandish that you would have a hard time finding anyone who acts that way in real life. But that's the point. The prodigal son is a parable about God's extravagant mercy toward us. As a contrast, he tells a story about limited, self-motivated "mercy." The steward who uses shady means to forgive just a portion of the debt some people owe. He knows that forgiveness and mercy are in short supply in this world. But then, in his conclusion to the parable, Jesus says that his followers seem to be unable to match even the so-called "mercy" of this dishonest steward. The steward was indeed prudent in his forgiveness of the debts. But Jesus is looking for something beyond prudence. He is looking for true mercy— extravagant mercy that forgives with no strings attached. Can you rise to Jesus' challenge? Can you forgive, especially when the other person doesn't deserve mercy? It isn't easy, but it is possible. It will come as you keep practicing it and asking for this grace to help you.

Today at Mass, you will receive the highest expression of God's extravagant mercy: the Body and Blood of Christ, given for you. When you do, let his love flow into you. Let it melt your heart and make you as merciful as he is.

It has been an exciting first week working Together as One! Make sure you pledge or make your gift this year to support adult and youth conferences and retreats, marriage preparation, religious education, and mental health assessments through Catholic Charities, just to name a few things! Our goals this year are listed to the left. With your help, we will get there. You can give online, easily and safely, at www.scdiocese.org.

Me & My House is a practical game plan for Catholic parents who are struggling with all the things that parents struggle with.

We challenge you to do little things. To make little changes that will make a huge impact on your family. In this Catholic Parenting Program, you will discover the foundations that can strengthen your motherhood and fatherhood. You will learn the habits that can make parenting easier, and the habits that you absolutely want to avoid. In fact, we will get so practical that we'll discuss discipline and how to set boundaries, so that by the end of the program you will have a very clear sense of how you want to build your unique family culture with the children God has given you..
