

- I. Know and honor your ‘true’ history before it’s lead astray, when at this place the truth has come to pass; for what now abides in its locale, a corrupted version forevermore
- II. If not wise on a topic remain silent, silence suppresses inexperience, redemption is procurable after one is predisposed
- III. People who live in constant debt and/or pay interest, are not free people, but servants
- IV. When one endeavors to be expert in all things, one becomes average in all things, so be expert in few, and average in many
- V. Possessing the ability, to be able stop at the correct moment, can become the difference between life or death
- VI. unless divine - Remember, nothing last forever, love and companionship can last a lifetime, but nothing lasts forever
- VII. Speak most only when most valuable, the one who speaks least and listens most, becomes the one who learns the most
- VIII. If you say, “something is too difficult”, then I say to you, “The Pilgrims had to survive over two months crossing the Atlantic Ocean. Many died, and never was land in sight. They had no food or shelter waiting for them when they did step upon land, and winter was now beginning”. ~ that is difficult
- IX. Don’t think of yourself ever, as not in need of God’s grace, thus being claim, of equal to a Sovereign Power
- X. Simple thoughts of right or wrong, become difficult when the origins of right and wrong are over evaluated, this is where God, and the Holy Spirit come into value in your life