

1974: Feignies, France

August 26, 9 pm

Source: J.M.Bigorne from Dividing UFO with Occupants, and Lumieres Dans La Nuit issue of January 1976

Sketch of the object seen by witnesses

Moret's house today

Cécile Moret, the daughter of Gerard Moret, a resident of Feignies (north France) had gone to town where there were holiday festivities. She was returning late and her father walked outside. He didn't see anyone, but there was something strange in the sky. The thing was like a perfectly round black hole, standing out starkly against the gray of the evening, and also outlined with a low-intensity white corona. He calculated the thing to be at about 200 meters from him. It seemed to be descending very slowly. He went in and asked his wife to come and see. Both watched the thing descended until 20 meters from the ground. Then, since things were not strange enough, a line of corona split the hole horizontally, so that you could see a normal D on the right and a reverse “D” on the left. The “D’s” moved slowly apart, and the right-side of the D seemed to either move away into the distance, or shrink away until it was gone. So, only the reverse D remained in the sky. From the curved edge of the inverted D, a “line” or “veil” began to be drawn across the blackness, almost like a stage curtain. As it moved to the right, it revealed, contrasted to the blackness, the forms of what appeared to be two entities dressed like astronauts: full spacesuits and helmets. Their combination, though white, was said to have a grayish tinge and seemed to be metallic. They moved around like puppets more than living beings. They were in fact very two-dimensional. The two witnesses were stunned by this “show” and watched somewhat mindlessly for 40 minutes. Snapping out of it, when their thoughts returned to their unpunctual daughter, the father took his car and drove to town. The mother went inside. The hole was still in the sky, and the puppets still blundering around within it. During this whole incident, no cars passed by on the road. No noise came from the object, and in general witnesses can’t remember any sound at all. The mother did not look at the object anymore, after re-entering her house. Mr Moret, her father, as soon as he returned with his daughter, did not look at it. The French investigators reported that the witnesses were very simple, practical folks, “completely without any interest in the UFO phenomenon.” Well, a high strangeness “display” indeed; and meaningless in the UFO literature. Did some ultra-technology kid put on an amateur stage production with his hyperspace puncturing wormhole kit? Cases like this make

“universal theories” to explain the UFO phenomenon largely a Don Quixote Windmill Tilting exercise.

Reliability evaluation:

- very high -

natural phenomenon; projection of Chinese shadows;
craft of unknown origin even if no evidences were found;
inexplicable case

