

1965: Rio Hato, Panama

Unspecified day of summer, unspecified hour of sunset
Source: Jorge Martin bulletin and Patrick Gross' web site

Sketch of the presumed entity

Rio Hato area of the incident

In Rio Hato, Panama, on Summer 1965, at sundown, during a series of "mysterious animal killings" in the area, Eddie Melvin and several other locals stayed up one night hidden behind the darkened windows of the house and kept watch on the nearby woods.

Soon they saw a bizarre creature step out of the woods. It was 4-feet tall, covered in dark stringy hair. Its head was shaped like a large oval, with a pointy chin, with huge glowing red almond shaped eyes. It seemed to have what appeared to be fangs protruding from its mouth. It walked on two muscular legs that terminated in claw-like feet. It had two small thin arms, terminating in four-fingered hands with powerful looking claws. It had a peculiar feature described as some kind of a crest running down its back. This sharp crest appeared to be fluorescent, giving off multicolored hues. The creature at one point lifted its arms revealing a web-like membrane under them. Suddenly it apparently sensed their presence and ran into the woods rapidly disappearing from sight.

Reliability evaluation:

- very, very low -

no credibility of the original source

(P. Gross opinion: according to Jorge Martin, there would be UFOs, aliens, alien bases, and Chupacabras in all places of Central America; but his reports are mostly vague enough to be unverifiable);

no other declaration from residents available;
possible prank, false, tale or invention

