These students will get an opportunity to teach and perform with an assigned group of peers while leading those peers through a camp competition. Participants in this clinic will be challenged in many areas of student leadership to produce successful results in a positive environment and will prepare for the task of leading their programs in the upcoming season. Students will also participate in numerous individual and group challenges and will conclude the week with a full show performance and fundamental demonstration.

Section Leaders:

The Section Leader program will focus on similar elements of the drum major camp, but will emphasize the need to function within a large group setting while preparing to lead in the musical component of their program. Section leaders will participate in the beginning conducting course and move into sectional management classes. Section leaders will also be included in the leadership development classes along with Drum Majors. Participants in this clinic will be challenged in areas of performance technique and group work environments preparing them for working in front of small sections of their program. Section leaders will also participate in individual and group challenges and will perform with the drum majors in a full show performance and fundamental demonstration. Section leaders must bring their instrument each day to camp.

Percussion Camp:

There will NOT BE a 2017 Percussion Camp. Instead, percussionists may participate in the section leader camp with Percussionists must make arrangements with their director to provide their own drum and stand to participate in the camp.

Color Guard Camp: For Members and Captains

LVSLC offers a Leadership & Color Guard camp experience for all levels of performers. Throughout the week, students will focus on leadership styles, teaching methods, dance and movement basics, peer to peer communication skills, and fundamentals in performance technique on Flag and Rifle.

Students will learn drill exercises and group methods that can be used in the marching band and winter guard seasons. All color guard campers will take classes in Marching, Leadership, Teaching methods, Drill and Fundamentals Cleaning, and will work with their peers in the band in a challenging movement exhibition. At the end of the week, the color guard candidates will perform a final demonstration of their routines of the week. This demonstration can be viewed on Saturday morning at the main football field. Color Guard Campers must bring their own flag, rifle, or saber to camp.

New Marcher Camp: Introduction to High School Band

Our new marcher camp is a unique program designed to introduce you to the high school band system. Freshmen participants will meet directors, fellow band members, and other leaders from Bishop Gorman High School and other music programs throughout the Clark County School District. Students will be introduced to leadership, conducting marching technique, and take classes specifically designed for band members. These students will participate in the fundamental demonstration and show performance. New Marcher participants must bring their own instrument to each day of camp.

Advanced Leadership Challenge

As part of this year's camp, students will have the chance to participate in the ALC (Advanced Leadership Challenge). This activity will allow students a chance to push themselves to the next level through a series of four activities. Students will be able to take additional classes throughout the week in order to prepare themselves for this challenge. We encourage any and all students to participate as it a great opportunity to measure themselves to the highest standards of marching band leadership. Students who complete the challenges will be receive the Advanced Leadership Challenge certification unique to SLC.

We look forward to seeing you this year. Bring your positive attitude and your drive for success and we will work hard towards achieving success this year and for years to come.
