

John Scott

No Picture Available

Born: 1480 Scott's Hall, England

Married: 22 Nov 1506 Anne Pympe

Died: 7 Oct 1533 Brabourne, England

Parents: William Scott & Sybilla Lewknor

John Scott was born in 1480 at Scotts Hall, Smeeth, Kent, England.¹ He married Ann Pympe, daughter of Reynold Pympe and Elizabeth Pashley, on 22 November 1506 at Thevegat, Smeeth, Kent, England.¹ He died in 1534 at Brabourne, Cokent, England.¹

Child of John Scott and Ann Pympe

- Richard Scott⁺¹ b. 1508
- Reginald b. 1520

Citations

1. [S3587] Unknown compiler, compiler, "re: Gray Family"; Ancestral File (30 January 2009), unknown repository, unknown repository address. Hereinafter cited as "re: Gray Family."

. His heir, SIR JOHN SCOTT (1485?-1533), was knighted by the young Prince Charles (afterwards the Emperor Charles V) for gallantry displayed in the campaign of 1511 in the Low Countries against the Duke of Guelders [see POYNINGS, SIR EDWARD]. He entered the retinue of George Neville, lord Abergavenny, constable of Dover Castle, and had charge of the transport service on the landing of Charles V at Dover on 28 May 1522. He was sheriff of Kent in 1527, and died 7 Oct 1533. By marriage with Anne, daughter of Reginald Pympe (said to be descended from John Gower, the poet), his successors acquired the manor of Nettlestead, Kent. Their issue was, besides several daughters, three sons, William (d. 1536 s.p.), Reginald, and Richard, who was father of Reginald (d. 1599) [q.v.], author of 'The Discovery of Witchcraft.