

DR. COLLINS NORBERT UGOCHUKWU currently works for the Government of Alberta as Coordinator, Research and Innovation; he previously worked as a Senior Policy Advisor with the Department of Energy, Government of Alberta, Canada. He holds a B.Sc. (Hons.) in Biochemistry from the University of Calabar; M.Sc. in Biochemistry (specialized in Toxicology) from the University of Port Harcourt; M.Eng in Environmental Engineering also from the University of Port Harcourt; and PhD in Environmental Resource Management from Brandenburg Technical University Cottbus, Germany with the prestigious DAAD scholarship. He also attended the Harvard Business School, USA where he obtained a certificate in Management.

Dr. Collins Ugochukwu also obtained certificates in Leadership Development, and Management Development Program from the University of Alberta, Canada. His professional career spans over 18 years in environmental management and strategic policy development with public and multinational institutions. Dr. Collins Ugochukwu is a consummate project management expert in public policy development; environmental impact assessment (EIA); environmental site assessment; remediation and reclamation; natural resource management; and environmental permitting/regulatory programs.

He belongs to many international and local professional organizations including: Alberta Society of Professional Biologist (ASPB), Canada; Canadian Environmental Professional (ECO Canada); American Water Works Association (AWWA), USA; International Association for Impact Assessment (IAIA), USA; and Nigerian Environmental Society (NES), Nigeria. Dr. Ugochukwu is widely travelled and had attended and presented papers at various international conferences and workshops across the globe.