

WISDOM JOURNAL

DAY 37

SUBJECT: I MADE MANY BAD INVESTMENTS.

I've made many bad investments in my life. I really hate to think about it. My bad investments go beyond the financial arena. The worst investments I have made were into PEOPLE. I've invested countless hours of wisdom into people who refused to listen to me.

I've invested my energy into people who refused to give me their best effort. I've invested my time into people who never made time for me. I've invested my resources into people who abuse them. A lot of my investments have gone on dry ground.

With all the bad investments I made I also made good investments. The encouraging thing about my investment strategy is that I KEPT investing in spite of the results. I honored the law of probability. IF YOU KEEP DOING

SOMETHING CONTINUOUSLY, SOMETHING GOOD WILL HAPPEN EVENTUALLY.

I did not allow my bad investments to discourage me. However, it did disappoint me. With every disappointment I experienced I scheduled a NEW appointment to be encouraged.

Here's what I mean: When I find out I made a bad investment, I encourage myself by doing something I love. I do my best not to dwell on the bad investments. I try to stay hopeful for the next investment because I stand on the promise that God told us.

Galatians 6:9 says, "And let us not be weary in well doing: For in due season we shall reap, if we faint not."

TAKEAWAY: Don't let bad investments stop you from investing. You will reap a harvest if you stay CONSISTENT, don't give up and don't get discouraged.
