DAY 54

SUBJECT: WHAT IS MY BEST DECISION?

I've made plenty of great decisions throughout my lifetime. The decision to accept King Jesus as my personal Lord and Savior was a great decision. The decision to graduate from Kaplan University with a Bachelor's degree in Human Resource Management was a great decision. The decision to start the Wisdom Store was a great decision.

I've reaped bountifully from my decisions. However, everything I just mentioned cannot compare to my best decision. My best decision is my NEXT DECISION! The decision I'm ABOUT to make is my best decision. Everyday I wake up I become wiser. The wiser I become the broader my perspective stretches.

Everyday you wake up is an opportunity for you to get better and think bigger. The decisions you made yesterday should not compare to the quality of your decisions TODAY. You should examine each day with a microscope. What mistakes did you make yesterday? What words did you say yesterday that you regretted speaking?

Examining each day you live will help you perfect the next day you are about to live. This is how I get better. I inventory my day and think about what I did right and what I did wrong.

I think about what I produced in mediocrity and what I produced in excellence. I think about words I said to increase my favor and words I said to decrease my favor. With me pondering these different thoughts I am able to IMPROVE my decision making ability on a routine basis.

One of my priorities of each day is to increase my wisdom. I cannot fulfill this requirement if I do not analyze my own decisions. Proverbs 16:16 says, "It is better to get wisdom than gold, and to choose understanding rather than silver!"

Possessing the ability to improve your decision making ability is PRICELESS. It is worth more than any tangible item you can think of. Wisdom is more valuable than gold. Understanding is more valuable than silver. If you can accept this truth your best decision will be your NEXT DECISION.

TAKEAWAY: When your best decision is your NEXT decision life will continually get better for you.
