

WISDOM JOURNAL

DAY 60

SUBJECT: MAXIMIZING MY DAY

One of the hardest things I had to learn how to do was to maximize my day. There were many days where I woke up with plenty of things to do. However, I did not understand how to organize my agenda. Sounds stupid right? Yes, it was stupid.

I thought my dysfunction came from the inability to plan accordingly. I thought my dysfunction came from me being disorganized. These were factors that contributed but it wasn't the primary reason. I FAILED to live in the moment.

I was focused on what I needed to do next that I neglected looking at what I could do NOW. Psalm 118:24 says, "THIS is the day that the Lord has made. Let us rejoice and be glad TODAY!" God said "THIS" is the day, NOW is the moment.

When I meditated on this scripture I understood that today is my greatest opportunity. Right now is my best chance to conquer what is on my agenda. My inability to value my present moment prevented me from maximizing my day.

Can you imagine how much you can get done if you seized every moment? Can you imagine how much you can accomplish if you maximized every moment? Can you imagine how much you can achieve if you mastered every second of the day?

I could of achieved a lot more if I took advantage of every moment God gave me. I promised myself that I would LIVE IN THE MOMENT, learn from the past and prepare for the future.

TAKEAWAY: Don't miss out on today's opportunities because you are focused tomorrow's hopes. Tomorrow is not promised. MAXIMIZE THE MOMENT!

For more wisdom go to www.thewisdomstore.com