The benefits of Rain

With the amount of rain we have had in the past month or so it has dampened the spirits of many photographers- but let it rain.

For many photography is affair weather activity only available when the sun shines . Some of the best shots are taken during incimate weather

The images captured on a rainy day can be quite spectacular. Wear Comfortable water retardant clothing and protect your equipment. With plastic.

Avoid changing lenses in the rain use a telephoto lens or two camera bodies .

Your equipment bag must be water proof and always carry a dry cloth to wipe the droplets from your lens. At the end of the day open up all of you cases and let them dry out completely.

A clear blue sky is very monopolist but add a few clouds , rain drops or snow flurries and your phot takes on an entirely new perspective,. The over cast shies diffuse the light and enhance the colours which make your image POP.They prove a softer light

.Rain puddles produce instant reflective areas with some imagination you can get than one in a lifetime shot.

Observe people and animals as to how they are dealing with the elements . Children playing in the puddles Business people trying to dodge the rain drops the settlers animals are trying to seek out. Etc. Some of the best shots are captured during a rain storm.

Just Gather up you equipment dress appropriately and have some fun.
