Summer fun

The key is to have fun . Carry the bare minimum of equipment to get the perfect shot but not too heavy to make your equipment a burden.

The bare minimum of equipment is a camera with a telephoto lens , fully charged batteries, a lens hood a polarizing filter and an 18% grey card.

Choose the lens most suited for the specific outing a good quality DSLR camera and a sturdy tripod.

Develop your photographic eye and learn to shoot from interesting angles . Look for magical shadows cast by various light conditions

Always use a good quality tripod to improve on the quality of your images

Be prepared keep your camera bag loaded and ready to go at all times . Just before the outing clean the lens , verify all the controls are working properly, the batteries are fully charged and you have enough camera cards to cover all the expected shots

Carry a plastic bag to protect your equipment incase of a sudden rain shower .

In conclusion Any phot expedition should be fun carry the bare minimum of equipment and enjoy your assignment only to be limited by your imagination..
