Preparing for European Trip
 By Bo Cung

Four weeks to go and so many details to nail down. So far I only got the airline tickets (fly to Rome and fly home from Paris.) I have some ideas about where I want to stay in Rome, Venice, Como and Paris but still need to book the hotels. Also need to book European passes, make train reservations, and find out everything about all the miscellaneous stuff including: how to get a European phone, where are wifi hot spots, where are the subways, what good restaurants...

MON 1 All Set for the Trip
 By Bo Cung
 OCT

Everything is set. We'll leave DFW on AA Flight 38 to Zurich on Friday, Oct 5th then catch Swiss Airlines Flight 1736 to Rome.

We'll stay at the Eurogarden Hotel on the outskirts of Rome near a Metro Station on Oct 6th and 7th. A lot of sightseeing and walking those two days.

Taking Eurotrain to Venice on Oct 8th, we'll spend two days there at La Meridiana Hotel. Venice is the main reason why I want to go to Italy.

We will leave Venice on Oct 10th for Como and while we're there, we'll take the ferry to visit Bellagio and other towns sprinkled around Lake Como. We'll spend the night at the Park Hotel Mueble Como.

On Oct 11th, we'll take a late train to Milan and Paris. I've booked a private first class sleeper for two so I hope we can catch some sleep on the train to Paris.

Arriving City of Lights early Friday Oct 12th, we'll check in the Hotel Relais Bosquet near the Eiffel Tower. Besides the typical sightseeing, we'll try to catch a cruise down the Seine River and have either a lunch or dinner on the Eiffel

We will end our 10-day trip with a lot of memories on Sunday the 14th as we head to Charles De Gaulle Airport to board AA Flight 49 back to DFW.

I've done enough research to know where we want to go each day and we're so ready. I look forward to relaxing in sidewalk cafes, munching on croissants and drinking coffee but man, it's going to be difficult not to be able to converse with the locals since I like to talk too much.

I'll post the next blog with pics when we get to Rome.

So long.
