Sonadev Aarogyam therefore launched a unique campaign bringing in stories from the field, stories of inspiration such as that of hearing impaired Renuka Sharma, having bilateral severe hearing loss, with body level hearing aid, were loosed her hope to speak, hear and help parents like other person. Her parents were worried and she was her first, only one daughter. Being average income had hard time to do proper rehabilitation for her daughter's Renuka Sharma's family was aware about a proper way of rehabilitation program and read many articles about her problem. Her daughter was receiving all kind of rehabilitation support. When she grown up her dedication was inspired and she learned to talk, hear and listen sounds just like other person and also drive car and working hard on her college education. Their parents and her dedication educate our many other people facing same kind of problem.

Providing composite care to people in need, is what Sonadev Aarogyam has been striving hard for over the past few years. A complete rehabilitation plan of activities were set in place to meet their goals which covered areas of healthcare, education, social protection, care giving and shelters, to name a few. Many projects initially started by Sonadev Aarogyam becoming self-sustaining, as people were mobilized to take on the projects and sustain them independently. Low economical Associations (LEA) became a major catalyst to bring about this sense of empowerment. Today as a result, there are many other programs managed by our professionals and members.
