Episode 1 (boarding party): "Kill Him" cried the Klingon General! Brunt's warp drives groaned and his ship's hull creak as he tried to outrun the perusing bird of preys. Brunt's Ferengi officers frantically ran for the escape pods. "There is no profit for us in this! Every Ferengi for himself!" screamed one of the deserters. Suddenly a tractor beam took hold of the vessel as a Klingon Battleship decloaked meters away. "Muahahahh! Brunt is ours!" laughed the Klingon General. Several boarding parties landed on Brunt's ship and began taking prisoners and killing the defeated Ferengi crewman. The Klingons stormed the bridged and began burning through the captain's door with a high density phaser. A large hole emerged in the door and the Klingons burst through weapons in hand. "He's gone" reported one of the Klingons to his General." "Impossible" cried the General. Suddenly, a bright flash flooded the Ferengi ship. Steel and flesh melted instantly as the remnants spurred out in a fiery and violent spectacle. The ship was gone...
