CLIENT ADVOCATE AND CERTIFIED PARTNER

Program Management as a service?

Yes, because you may not need a full time person. You just need an experienced pro to manage the road map, help craft a vision and support the team so everyone grows into new knowledge and stays on track to hit program goals.

Optimization and Support: We can revisit your configuration and build out functionality you wish you knew about in implementation.

Design and Implementation: maybe you have an implementation partner but you need a client advocate: someone who can represent your team, help you make decisions and keep everything documented and moving forward.

User adoption requires planning: governance, change management, training and communication need to be built into your project plan instead of a few tasks right before go-live. A successful implementation is way more than the build.
