

Tina Johnson is a certified Equine Assisted Learning Facilitator , Horsemanship / Assisted Riding Coach, SafeTalk Facilitator, and ASIST trained caregiver.

Originally from Sudbury Ontario , Tina Moved to Northern Saskatchewan as a child with her family and called La Ronge home until her passion for horses as a young adult took her to North Central Saskatchewan where she started a small hobby farm raising and training horses for pleasure riding .

In 2013 after loosing her daughter to suicide Tina and her family returned home to La Ronge with her horses to heal and be closer to extended family. The hypervigilant nature of the horses dramatically helped in Tina's personal journey of healing.

In 2016 Tina became Certified In Equine assisted Learning through Cartier Equine Center and started the Hoof Beats E.A.L program as a way to help her community heal after tragically loosing several young people to suicide

When She is not sharing her passion for horses and healing she works at a domestic violence shelter and is continuously expanding her knowledge and skills in the helping industry.
