Membership

The "Each One Reach One" is a campaign designed to reach girls and women who are not involved in Politics. We need to seek out those who want to be part of the next generation of Republican Women. The Republican Women of Trussville Club is actively reaching out to all girls and women who are interested in playing an active role in their local, state and federal governments. Our focus will be reaching those girls and women who are in our social circles and Churches.

Each RWOT member is asked to invite girls and women to visit our Club and see if it is a fit for them. Our overall goal is to create a Club that is open to all ages of girls and women, that will be active in the political process in all areas of government and that ensures our Country continues in the Conservative values of our Founders.

Caring for America

The 2017 RWOT “Caring for America” project is to support a local organization called “The Wellhouse”, which rescues and helps victims of human trafficking.

Human trafficking is a growing problem in the USA and Birmingham is situated on the I20 corridor, a route used by human traffickers to transport victims... so you can see this is a horrible evil on our doorstep.

For more info go to: www.thewellhouse.org
Below is a list of items needed for residents of “The Wellhouse”. Please bringing items to our meetings.

Looking forward to serving with you all this coming year!

FLASH!!!

"Montgomery, AL – Eight Democratic candidates qualified with the Alabama Democratic Party to run in the U.S. Senate Special Primary Election. Qualified candidates are:

Will Boyd of Lauderdale County
Vann Caldwell of Talladega County
Jason Fisher of Baldwin County
Michael Hansen of Jefferson County
Doug Jones of Jefferson County

Robert Kennedy, Jr. of Mobile County
Brian McGee of Lee County
Nana Tchienkou of Jefferson County

"Democrats all across Alabama are enthusiastic about winning this Senate seat. Rank and file Democrats are excited about the prospect of clearing out the Republican Swamp critters and electing a U.S. Senator who is a Democrat and cares about the concerns of ordinary people," said Chairwoman Nancy Worley.

"Alabama voters want a U.S. Senator that will work for higher paying jobs, quality public education, and affordable health care, rather than a rich swamp creature who only cares about tax cuts for billionaires." There are 19 major party candidates and I have heard at least two independents/minor party people are trying to get qualified.

The screenshot shows the website for the Alabama Republican Party (ALGOP.ORG). At the top, there is a navigation menu with links for ABOUT, ALGOP NEWS, GET INVOLVED, ELECTIONS, EVENTS, CONTACT, and CONTRIBUTION. The main content area features a news article titled "ALGOP Closes Qualifying for the United States Senate Election" posted on May 17, 2017. The article text states that the party closed candidate qualifying on Wednesday, May 17 at 5:00 p.m. CDT. It lists 19 individuals who submitted qualifying paperwork to run for the U.S. Senate seat: James Paul Beretta, Joseph F. Breault, Randy Brinson, Mo Brooks, Dom Gentile, Karen Haiden Jackson, Mary Maxwell, Roy Moore, Bryan Peebles, Trip Pittman, and Luther Strange. The article also mentions the primary election date (August 15, 2017), a potential runoff (September 26, 2017), and the general election (December 12, 2017). A quote from Chairman Terry Lathan is included at the bottom. On the right side of the page, there are promotional banners for "CAPITOL CLUB" and a Facebook "LIKE US!" campaign.

SPOTLIGHT!

This was so good I just had to share. This is a warning! Our own Cindy Holcomb wrote this on fb.

Cindy Monaghan-Holcomb

May 8 – on fb

I shared a post earlier today relating to Antifa and the Left's current target for isolation - the South. It later dawned on me I had failed to notice this being one of the oldest tricks in the liberal playbook. Isolating the target and polarizing it from any sympathy is number 13 of Saul Alinsky's "Rules for Radicals."

Rule #13 "Pick the target, freeze it, personalize it, and polarize it." Cut off the support network and isolate the target from sympathy. Go after people and not institutions; people hurt faster than institutions.

His formula was created in the 1960's as a blue print for change and revolution - a "fundamental transformation of the United State of America," if you will.

Just as a side, he dedicated the book to "Lucifer, the original radical who gained his own kingdom..." and it should be noted Saul Alinsky is one of Hillary Clinton's heroes and was her mentor. In fact, he was the subject of her senior thesis.

If you want to understand why nothing makes sense in the country today, a 2 minute review of the 13 Rules will make the whole picture come into focus.

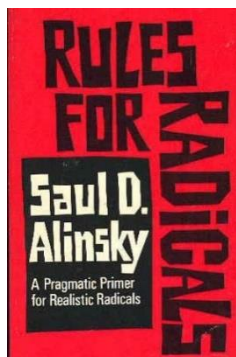

A year ago, they isolated police officers; 6 months ago, those who oppose refugees; 3 months ago, men; 2 months ago, Jeff Sessions; today, the South, etc., etc.

Nothing, absolutely nothing, the Left does is ever about the subject at hand. It is always just another push toward their ultimate goal. 🙄

Rule #8 "Keep the pressure on. Never let up." Keep trying new things to keep the opposition off balance. As the opposition masters one approach, hit them from the flank with something new.

DID YOU KNOW?

I have added this after Cindy's posting so we can try to understand Saul Alinsky's writings and what they mean to us. Cindy has piqued my interest. We need to know the enemy!

Rules for Radicals: A Practical Primer for Realistic Radicals

New York: Random House, 1971.

1. “Power is not only what you have, but what the enemy thinks you have.” – I have read innumerable articles in recent months from the lying press about how the GOP is full of crypto-White nationalists. Sounds good. Big if true.
2. “Never go outside the expertise of your people.” – We’re not going to get most people to do things they have no habit of doing. We need to play to the strengths of our existing human resources.
3. “Whenever possible, go outside the expertise of the enemy.” – This and the above rule are standard Sun Tzu; know the enemy and know yourself or else you will be defeated. We must always stay abreast of the opposition, always be more informed, and always make them look stupid.
4. “Make the enemy live up to its own book of rules.” – There are two key forms of this: concern-trolling and malicious compliance. Doing so will stress them out by increasing their cognitive dissonance load, bleed them of resources, and generally waste their time and energy. You can also bait your opponents into producing specific outcomes if they are inflexible and dogmatic enough.
5. “Ridicule is man’s most potent weapon.” – Most of the Alt-Right’s troll ops consist of making a mockery of things. Ditto for our memes and critiques, e.g. cuckservative. It will probably go down as one of the greatest political slurs of all time: implying that your opponent gets off to watching his country be destroyed while his wife’s son votes against him. Cuckservative captures perfectly, and ridiculously, how the target serves every interest but the national.
6. “A good tactic is one your people enjoy.” – Trolling. Sh*tposting. Meme magick. It never gets old because there is always something new to provide a perspective on, or some new journalist to troll, or a comments section to raid, or a viral media campaign to be fought.
7. “A tactic that drags on too long becomes a drag.” – I think the only area the Alt-Right sees diminishing returns on is putting out too black pill of a message, or being too gloom and doom. People don’t really want to hear that all the time, even when it has to be said. Things getting worse is after all part of the sales pitch as to why the Alt-Right’s solutions are necessary. On the other hand, we have to have a positive and future-oriented message to put out, and that reaches a bigger audience than commiseration.
8. “Keep the pressure on. Never let up.” – I tend to think this won’t be much of a problem because there is nothing the regime can offer us that would be satisfying other than its resignation.
9. “The threat is usually more terrifying than the thing itself.” – This certainly works in our favor given how (((neurotic))) the people we are engaged in holy memetic warfare with are. Even the implication of our presence somewhere or in something is enough to produce media hysteria and maelstroms of kvetching.
10. “The major premise for tactics is the development of operations that will maintain a constant pressure upon the opposition.” – At the moment this is our endless streams of daily content across multiple platforms, something we should continue to scale up and diversify.

11. “If you push a negative hard enough, it will push through and become a positive.” – We want to get to a point where being labeled by the establishment as a racist, sexist, or anti-Semite is a sign of having done something correct, being that bad people are saying it about you.
12. “The price of a successful attack is a constructive alternative.” – In other words, to win, you actually need an answer to the issue. It can’t just be about opposition. We must be more than reactionary.
13. “Pick the target, freeze it, personalize it, and polarize it.” – This is my favorite and I think Alt-Right troll ops have done this quite well. First you get ahold of a luegenpresse journalist’s attention. Then you apply the other above tactics to him or her. Finally, you get some sort of overdone reaction from them AND their supporters against you, which helps reinforce your own battle lines by showing that the issue you are up against is supported by x and x-plus, all of whom are against you. Many journalists noted during the 2016 presidential campaign that if one were of a Semitic surname (or known to follow a cult of volcanic demonology) and said something critical of Donald Trump, that he or she would be targeted and harassed on their social media or in the comments section. They began to reach out to one another about this and write about the responses they were getting, many going as far as labeling themselves with the triple parentheses symbol in solidarity. So what had basically happened was that our argument all along that overseas Israelis were uniquely opposed to nationalism in the United States was proven—by getting them to band together and admit that they were, and that they were proud about it too. See, all those people who hate Trump have (((something in common)))!

I think the Alt-Right is already in something of an unholy alliance with (((Alinsky))). That our trademark tactic is trolling while that of our enemies is banning and/or overreacting says something about how much society has been restructured since the 1960s. We’re the ones causing headaches for the regime, we’re the ones doing the culture-jamming, we’re the ones speaking on behalf of a marginalized class, we’re the ones tipping the sacred cows, and we’re the ones calling for revolutionary change. The meme war favors the offense.

President's Commentary

Dear RWOT Members and Friends,

We were blessed with a surprise visit from Representative Gary Palmer at our Jefferson County Executive Board meeting Tuesday night. Really enjoyed his report on the ACA (Obamacare) and the new healthcare initiative. It sounds like it might just work.

Senator Richard Shelby Soiree was held May 12 at The Club. I wish more of our club would have gone. It was a great Soiree. See pictures on last pages.

Bunco and Politics will be Tuesday May 23. This will be lots of fun and we will meet new people.

Let's be ready to help our candidates for Senator Session's senate seat. They will need our help. There are 19 major party candidates and I have heard at least two independents/minor party people are trying to get qualified. We will get as many of the Republicans to speak at our next two meetings as we can so we can get to know them.

We have had several emails to support bills coming out of Montgomery. Thank you for all your calls. I believe they have made a difference. Keep up the good work! This is what we are here for!

And as always, continue to pray for our country, wisdom for our President, and the infighting going on and Israel.

God bless America!
