DREAM WATER BEDROOM

This bedroom includes a swimming pool all around it so that all you have to do is wake up in the morning and just step into your pool for a swim. Plus you can go to sleep with water all around you. Just like in the water hotel below.

School + Fairness = Oxymoron

Fairness. Define. The opposite of school, of course, (not including fun, happiness, and all those thingies.) If you have been in school, right now, for at least 30 seconds you know what I mean. By now you must of been treated unfairly at least 20 times. Some examples for those of us not in school, they say you should ask questions but when you ask for the answer to a question on a test they send you to the principal, and even worse, for doing what they told you to! Ever try asking how to spell something on a spelling test, you're in big trouble and even worse if you dare answer their question you get punished! When they ask does anybody know bla bla bla, if you answer yes, that kid does, or anything sensible like that, you're down in the office with a discipline slip. Even more, if you answer every question right on a test you will still probably end up with a zero (there are many ways). So obviously school is the definition of unfair. See following the pages for some common examples of total unfairness. (9 & 10)

ALEX RIDER: Stormbreaker By: Anthony Horowitz

What's the story?

Alex Rider has lived with his uncle Ian since his parents were killed in an accident when he was an infant. Now Ian has died in an accident as well, but as Alex looks deeper he finds that everything he knew about his uncle was a lie. He wasn't a banker, he was a spy for Britain's MI6, and his death was no accident. Now MI6 wants Alex to spy for them as well, and they won't take no for an answer. Though he is only 14, he discovers that his uncle was training him for spying his whole life. Billionaire Herod Sayle is donating his state-of-the-art computers to every school in England. But MI6 is suspicious of his motives, and Ian was killed while investigating him. Now they want to send Alex in to find out what is going on behind the guarded fences of Sayle Enterprises.

Tips & Teasers

Detective Sara Dunts was called in for an investigation on a Saturday morning. Mr. John Gooding had mysteriously vanished from his one story home, Sara was told. "I'll phone Mrs. Glen, the caretaker, and get you the address." Detective Chad Sandlers, Sara's partner, said. Sara stood waiting as he made the call. "Okay, everything's set. Mrs. Glen will be expecting you in half an hour at 232 Parker At." Detective Chad said.

Sara hopped out of her car and walked up the long path that led to the house. Right away she was ushered inside by Mrs. Glen. "Detective, I'm so glad you came. The last place I saw Mr. Gooding was in his room. I suspected that would be your first question." Mrs. Glen said somewhat nervously. She walked Sara into the other room. "Up here," Mrs. Glen called from a twisting flight of stairs. The front door banged shut just as Sara started up the steps. "Oh, I must have left the door open. The wind must have shut it." Mrs. Glen said. Again they started up the stairs.

They walked up the enormous stairway. Halfway up detective Sara noticed a weather vane through the window. She realized that the wind was blowing west and in order for it to have shut the door it would have to have been blowing east. Then Sara realized for the first time that there was a third set of footsteps on the stairs. Then it dawned on her and she realized she had walked into a trap. How did Sara know she had walked into a trap?

Oh, The problems with America today

I DREAM OF A BETTER TOMORROW... WHERE CHICKENS CAN CROSS ROADS AND NOT HAVE THEIR MOTIVES QUESTIONED.

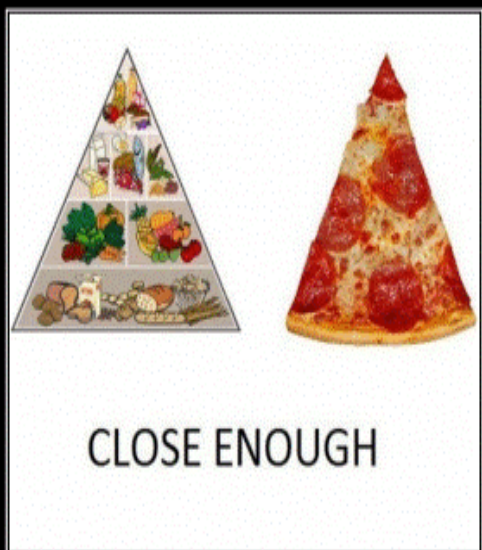

Only in America

- can a pizza get to your house faster than an ambulance.
- do banks leave both doors open and then chain the pens to the counters.
- do they have drive-up ATM machines with Braille lettering.
- do people order double cheese burgers, large fries, and a diet coke.
- do we leave cars worth thousands of dollars in the driveway and put our useless junk in the garage.

The Haircut

One day a florist went to a barber for a haircut. After the cut, he asked about his bill, and the barber replied, 'I cannot accept money from you, I'm doing community service this week.'

The florist was pleased and left the shop.

When the barber went to open his shop the next morning, there was a 'thank you' card and a dozen roses waiting for him at his door.

Later, a cop comes in for a haircut, and when he tries to pay his bill, the barber again replied, 'I cannot accept money from you, I'm doing community service this week.' the cop was happy and left the shop.

The next morning when the barber went to open up, there was a 'thank you' card and a dozen donuts waiting for him at his door.

Then a Congressman came in for a haircut, and when he went to pay his bill, the barber again replied, 'I can not accept money from you. I'm doing community service this week.'

The Congressman was very happy and left the shop. The next morning, when the barber went to open up, there were a dozen Congressmen lined up waiting for a free haircut.

And that, my friends, illustrates the fundamental difference between the citizens of America and the politicians who run it.

BOTH POLITICIANS AND DIAPERS NEED TO BE CHANGED OFTEN AND FOR THE SAME REASON!

RIDDLE:

Detective Sara Dunts realized she had walked into a trap when she heard the extra set of footsteps. Hearing the footsteps on the stairs made her remember what her partner had said, "Mr. John Gooding had mysteriously vanished from his one story home." She then realized that this was not Mr. Gooding's home because that was when she noticed that she was climbing stairs in a one story house.
