A Brief History of the Cambridge Glass Company

by Mark Nye

The Cambridge Glass Company came into being for two main reasons: the desire of the citizens of Cambridge, Ohio, to secure a new industry for their city and the desire of a location for a new glass plant being planned for by the National Glass Company, based in Pittsburgh, Factory Postcard Pennsylvania. The site would have to be near sources of natural gas and coal, both of which Cambridge had. The citizens of Cambridge were represented by the Cambridge Improvement Company. In 1901, the two parties came to an agreement. The citizens of Cambridge would provide the site and National Glass Company would build the factory which it would own.

To open the factory, a new company, The Cambridge Glass Company was incorporated by five individuals. Three men associated with National: Myron Case. Andrew Heron, Addison Thompson; and two local individuals: Fred Rosemond and Casey Norris.

After construction began, National went looking for an individual to run the plant and head the newly formed Cambridge Glass Co. They selected Arthur J. Bennett, a native of England but a long time resident of the United States. Mr. Bennett's background was in the field of importation and retailing of European china and glassware and was well known in the New York and Boston areas.

Construction of the plant was completed in early 1902 and in May of that year the first piece of glass, a pitcher, was produced. During the first years the ware produced by the Cambridge Glass Co. came from molds previously used by other glass companies and was typical of the glassware of the period: table sets, jugs, bowls, molasses jugs, jars, tumblers and lamps.

It was not until 1904 that the first original Cambridge line, Radium, was designed and produced. The year 1904 also saw the introduction of the first Cambridge trademark: NEARCUT. Pressed into the glass, it was also used as two words, one above the other.

From the very beginning, the Cambridge Glass Co. was an independent company that leased its facilities from the National Glass Co. Indications are that by 1906 Mr. Bennett was the principal stockholder and hence the owner of the Cambridge Glass Co, but still did not own the physical plant.

1907 saw the financial collapse of the National Glass Company but this had no effect on the operations of the Cambridge Glass Co. and facility lease payments continued to be paid to National and its receivers. After three years of legal and financial proceeding that dissolved the National Glass Co., the Cambridge Glass Company was able to purchase the buildings in which it was operating. Now, eight years after it made its first piece of glass, Cambridge Glass Company was a completely independent company whose principal stockholder was Arthur J. Bennett. The company prospered under his ownership and around 1910 acquired the rights to the idle factory of the former Byesville Glass and Lamp Co. and expanded its operations into that plant, located a few miles south of Cambridge.

Through the early years the company operated its own coal mines and consumed many tons daily producing raw gas to fire its melting pots. In addition to the gas it produced, the factory used natural gas from its own wells and also bought gas from other well owners.

By 1920, the trend was away from the heavy pressed and imitation cut glass and toward lighter pressed and blown ware. Also by this time several etchings had entered the Cambridge line, among them Marjorie, Triangle C named after Mr. Bennett's daughter. The early 1920s saw all operations stopped at the Byesville plant with all work now being done at the main plant in Cambridge. At the beginning of 1922, a new trade mark, the now familiar letter C enclosed in a triangle, was introduced. During the early to middle 1920s a variety of opaque colors were brought into the Cambridge line, most being produced for only one to three years. Later in the 1920s transparent colors became very popular, replacing the opaques. Complete dinnerware lines, plain and etched, were being sold as was a large selection of decorative and accessory items. The company continued to produce a complete line of pharmaceutical items, a line that was continued until 1954 when the original company ceased operations.

The 1930s were prolific years. Colors such as Carmen, Royal Blue, Crown Tuscan, Heatherbloom and Forest Green were developed and brought Cambridge Factory to market. New dinnerware lines and numerous new etchings including Rose Point, became part of the Cambridge line. All this took place in spite of the effects the Great Depression had on company operations.

During its peak years, Cambridge had as many as 700 employees working three shifts with all three furnaces running at full blast. Mr. Bennett continued as company president; his son-in-law, Wilber L. Orme, was vice-president; William C. McCartney was corporate secretary and sales manager; G. Roy Boyd Was treasurer and J. C. Kelly kept the plant running as factory superintendent. In July 1939, Mr. Bennett sold his controlling interest in the company to his son-in-law, Wilber L. Orme. Mr. Bennett continued as company president until his death in February 1940.

Mr. Orme continued to develop new lines and colors. In 1950, Cambridge's Square Pattern won top honors across the United States for its modern design. Soon, however, the demand for fine handmade glassware began to decrease and at the same time, competition from foreign and machine-made glass began taking its toll. In 1954, Mr. Orme decided to close the plant, ending one of the best and most prosperous glass companies the world has ever known.

Shortly after it ceased operations, the company was sold to a firm headed by Sidney Albert of Akron, Ohio. The plant reopened in March 1955. Sales were poor and in 1956 Morrison Industries Inc., of Cleveland, Ohio, acquired possession. Sales continued to be slow and management problems grew. The company closed its doors for the final time at the end of 1958. In November 1960, Imperial Glass Co. of Bellaire, Ohio, acquired the remaining assets, exclusive of the physical plant. Included in the sale to Imperial was all remaining stock, molds, etching plates and portable equipment. For a time in the 1960s, Imperial did produce Cambridge by Imperial but sales were not what was expected and the lines were discontinued.

1984 saw Imperial forced into bankruptcy and eventual liquidation of all its assets. At that time National Cambridge Collectors purchased a number of the remaining significant molds, all of the etching plates, except those for Rose Point, and other Cambridge related equipment. Glass companies such as Fenton Art Glass and the now defunct Summit Art Glass also acquired Cambridge molds.

Prior to use, Fenton altered the molds they purchased thus causing no major problems for collectors. Summit Art Glass did not and a wide array of reproductions entered the market place. Many of the pieces produced by Summit were in colors never used by Cambridge. However, some were and a few continue to cause confusion for Cambridge collectors. The Rose Point etching plates were never used and were subsequently acquired by NCC, Inc.

In 2006 NCC Inc. was able to acquire all the Cambridge molds owned by Summit Art Glass. A few insignificant Cambridge molds remain in private hands but these offer no significant problems for today's collectors. The Cambridge molds that still remained following the Imperial liquidation were sold for scrap iron.

The Cambridge Glass Co. factory buildings met their demise in 1989 when the owner decided they had deteriorated beyond repair and were hazardous. All that remains today is a weed-filled field, a sad sight to see if you were fortunate enough to have seen the factory with its many artisans and laborers busy at their trade. for sale in the gift shop, along with books and other items throughout the museum.

AUCTIONEERS SINCE 1793

I received your letter of June 10th. I talked to a Jesuit priest in my life and I am astounded by the audacity to tell such lies about me.

From the viewpoint of a Jesuit priest I and have always been an atheist. Your counter-argument is very correct and could hardly be better formulated. It is always misleading to use ~~extra~~ anthropomorphical dealing with things outside the human sphere - which we have to sort out in the beautiful harmony of this world - as far as we can grasp it is all.

NEW EVENT SCHEDULED! MYSTERY AT THE MANSION

SATURDAY, MARCH 16, FROM 7:00 - 10:00 PM

Mystery, Mayhem, Murder! Join us for a live game of "Who dun it?" in the unmatched surroundings of Hearthstone's beautiful interiors. Guests assume the persona of characters... think heiresses, playboys, millionaires, art dealers and authors (but some may not be what they appear to be!) in an Agatha Christie-type mystery to try to solve a murder. This one is considered challenging. Can you find the solution?

Guests will be sent identity packages prior to the event, and clues, evidence and directed conversation throughout the evening. Costumes are strongly encouraged to add to the fun. All tickets include hors d' oeuvres, wine, and other beverages served by our docents in the roles of maids and butlers. One of our staff keeps everything on track towards a suspenseful conclusion. Prizes are awarded for best costume, drama and, of course, for guessing the identity of the killer. It's dining, daggers, and danger surrounded by Hearthstone's beautifully restored rooms.

For Tickets, please go to <https://www.hearthstonemuseum.org/events/>

All proceeds support Hearthstone Historic House Museum and its many educational and cultural programs.

Porquier Beau Statue "The Newlyweds"

Quimper Club International

Dick's Quimper collection began with a major piece, the Porquier Beau statue "The Newlyweds." It was love at first sight for him.

I had been collectioning cups and saucers and an occasional small plate to display with my four Quimper eggcups. My budget for collecting was tiny and even buying a piece at all seemed like a huge luxury.

Dick and I were at an antique show in L.A. when one of our favorite dealers had some wonderful cups & saucers AND this large wonderful statue. Well, Dick took a good look at the statue and decided that we should have it. So, after quite an extensive conversation we agreed – we would buy it. I must admit, the statue pretty much ate up a whole year's collecting budget for me but I have never regretted the decision.

Through the years, I've added to Dick's collection a piece at a time. The terracotta pieces don't seem to mix well with the faience pieces (or maybe they do and I'm overly sensitive to glazes and finishes), but in any case, they certainly display well as a collection! One piece at a time is usually how they entered our home but occasionally I was able to find a pair.

The matching newlywed platter is a favorite and this Porquier Beau themed collection is a source of great pride for us both.

Lucy is Co-founder and a former President of QCI. In addition to collecting and selling French faience she plays in an orchestra, teaches piano, quilts and keeps up with her handsome grandsons.

Society for Old Ivory and Ohme Porcelains

The Society for Old Ivory and Ohme Porcelains is an organization of collectors and dealers who admire and collect Old Ivory and Ohme Porcelains. The purpose of the Society is for the members to share information and educate themselves and the public about the history and beauty of these porcelains, promote the collecting of Old Ivory and Hermann Ohme porcelains, and to develop communications between those who collect these porcelain items.

The SOIOP website is clean looking and traditional looking in keeping with the character of the collecting area the Society represents. The homepage has representative photos of Old Ivory and Ohme porcelain pieces plus a side navigation bar.

There is a section on the history of Old Ivory and Ohme porcelains and some excellent segments with photos covering the types of porcelain, patterns and marks.

The site's sections on the Society, itself, and on their annual convention is almost secondary. This is an excellent reference site for both collectors and dealers, or for that person who just happens to own a piece of Old Ivory or Ohme porcelain and wants to know a little more about it.

Doll Lovers & Collectors! Mark your Calendars for March 23rd, 2019 to attend the 48th Annual Madison Area Doll Club Show and Sale “A World of Dolls!”

Article & Photos by Vicki Kutz (Madison Area Doll Club)

For the past 47 years, the Madison Area Doll Club has put on one of the premiere doll shows in the Midwest. Held in Madison, Wisconsin it is easily accessed by many Midwest doll collectors and enthusiasts. Be sure to mark the date: Saturday, March 23rd from 9:00 AM to 3:00 PM at Alliant Energy Center Exhibition Hall, 1919 Alliant Energy Way, Madison WI 53713. Admission is 5.00 per person with children under 18 years of age free when accompanied by an adult. There is a 7.00 per vehicle parking fee at Alliant, so bring a car load of other doll collectors with you to share the cost!

The show features over 30 of the best doll vendors from the Midwest in a well-lit display carpeted sales floor. Dolls of all eras and types are represented, including antique, vintage, modern, and artist dolls. Also included are doll clothing, accessories, doll house miniatures, furniture and anything doll-related. You might even find a few boy toys!

Among the treasures, you will find Barbie Dolls to French Bebe's. Antique German dolls are well-represented as well as vintage 1950s dolls, including Vogue Ginny, Madame Alexander, Ideal and others. Cloth and Felt dolls will include makers such as Lenci, Poir, Kathe Kruse and more! Modern dolls such as American Girl and others will provide you with many choices. Artist dolls include OOAK reborn dolls as well as well-known manufactured examples, done by artists such as Dianna Effner. A doll shopper's paradise for either the beginning collector or seasoned veteran!

Our vendors include well-known local, regional and national doll sellers, including Fritzzi's Antique Dolls, Victoria's Doll House, Nancy McCray Dolls and many more. We will also have some new vendors joining us this year. We are still accepting vendors for this show. Please see contact information below.

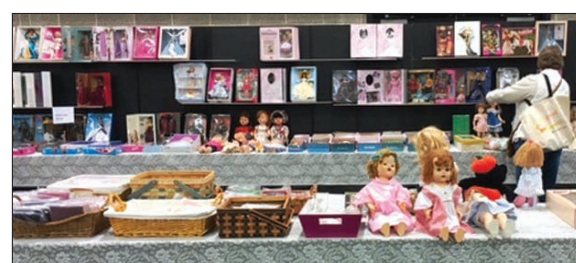

In addition to the opportunity to view and purchase merchandise at sales tables, free doll appraisals are offered and repair consultations will be available. This will be our third year of having silent auctions with items that you can bid on, which have proven to be a fun part of the show for everyone! As always, we will have a free grand prize drawing that some lucky attendee will win. We also feature our club members' doll display. The display will be based on our show theme “A World of Dolls” where different types of dolls from around the world will be featured.

A food court area will be available in the exhibition hall and offers delicious salads, sandwiches, coffee and beverages where you can sit down and take a break, as well as chat with other doll lovers about your purchases or dolls you have seen on the sales floor.

The Madison Area Doll Club of Wisconsin, an affiliate of United Federation of Doll Clubs (UFDC), is a non-profit organization. Profits from the event support other local and national non-profit organizations.

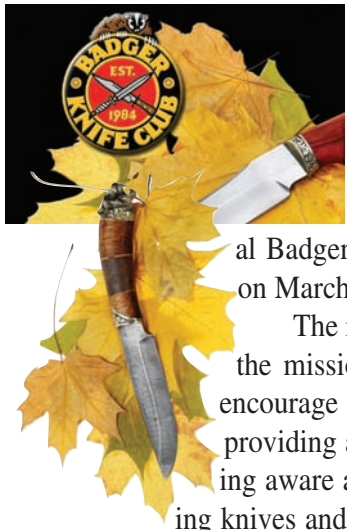

Mark the date: Saturday, March 23rd 2019 from 9:00 AM to 3:00 PM at the Alliant Energy Center Exhibition Hall, 1919 Alliant Energy Way, Madison WI 53713. Admission is $5.00 per person with children under 18 years of age free when accompanied by an adult. There is a $7.00 per vehicle parking fee at Alliant.

Annual Badger Knife Club Show

The Badger Knife Club, Inc. was founded in 1984 by a few knife-collecting enthusiasts. It has grown into a collector's club with about 500 members in the upper Midwest region. The club publishes a quarterly newsletter and meets four times a year in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. They sponsor what will be the 34th annual Badger Knife Show in Janesville, Wisconsin, held this year on March 29th, 30th & 31st, 2019.

The interest in knife collecting and making is supported by the mission statement of the Badger Knife Club, which is to encourage all aspects in the collecting and making of knives by providing a resource of information on all types of knives, making aware and expressing opinions concerning legislation affecting knives and enhancing the value of collections through expanded knowledge and demand.

The club includes members who are interested and knowledgeable about all types of knives, including: Antique factory made pocket and hunting knives, current production knives, custom made and hand made knives, and tactical and military knives

For contact information, go to the club website at www.badgerknifeclub.com or e-mail to badgerknifeclub@aol.com or call 414-479-9765.
