Out & About

The antique shows are warming up for spring, with lots of press releases to keep our readers busy this week and for the weeks to come. It always starts with the shows getting us ready for spring, followed by the auctions. The antique shops keep us busy all the time with special events happenings all the time. So, be sure to always be checking their ads. Also, let our advertisers know where you saw their ad. This lets them know their advertising dollar is working for them, which works for us at AAAN as well.

Coloring contest winners, watch for your gift cards coming soon in the mail. Thank you to everyone who participated, check out more on pages 13 and 14. Until next year kids!

News on the home front, Mekenzy plays in her first game tonight since being cleared from her car accident. Todd was told he could go back to work, but should not play hockey for 10 months. I hopefully get my car from the repair shop tonight. Just in time too, it was starting to get a little stressful being without a car, now that everyone is back to somewhat of good health.

Brandon at his game in Green Bay this last Saturday. He played very well, which makes attending the games more enjoyable. They even won, 4-1. He had two great slap shots & a save for his own goalie. He is a very robust young man & we always tell him his parents gave him a hardy body, use it. Most kids when they try to check him, they end up falling over. He is not one for being aggressive on the ice, but definitely looks intimidating. He gets that from his dad, which will come in handy when he becomes a dad. The girls friends (boys) all say "Your dad scares me". The girls tell them he is a teddy bear! Just the same, it works to our advantage.

Chicagoland Show Brings Buyers & Dealers from Across the Country

Article & photos by Jack Kelly

In fact, spring-like temperatures held sway Sunday, the last day of the event - in sharp contrast to the usual cold blasts and rain of some previous shows.

Early buyers scampered around the parking lot, armed with flashlights during the pre-dawn hours on Friday, dealer set-up day, and many of them plunked down $50 to shop with dealers as they moved indoors. More frugal visitors waited for the later Saturday and Sunday show openers with a more modest $7 entry fee.

There was a buzz in the air during Friday set up day as news traveled of a rare and expensive early 1900s Berger vending machine being offered by Bill Rawski of Zap Props Co., of Chicago. "It's only one of three known," said Rawski, adding "and the only one with the original fancy twisted fancy iron stand." The 21" tall tent-shaped bulk vending device also boasted original paint, decals and lock, which are important to collectors.

Oddly enough, the buyer, who shelled out what he called "five figures to take it home," is a collector of coin-operated trade stimulators - not vending machines. That buyer, Tom Gustwiller of Ottawa, Ohio, said, "I'm not into vending that much, but the stand with lion feet really triggered me," adding, "I know what's powerful and good." Fellow collectors who admired the rare find agreed it was a treat to see it in person.

"I started in the coin op business at age 13 and am still working at age 77," said Steve Squires, who traveled to the Chicagoland Show from San Mateo, CA. Three of the many slot machines he offered at the show were a 1938 Mills Bursting Cherry for $1,450, a 1934 Mills War Eagle for $1,950 and a 1934 Mills Castle Front for $1,750. He added that there were "hundreds more slots at the shop, Squires and Corrie Slot Machines, priced from $500 to $5,000 each."

Wisconsin dealers Paul Hinden and Jack Freund live only about 50 miles apart but set up across the aisle from each other at the show. Both "friendly competitors" are known for rare original coin-op finds, and once again they did not disappoint. Hinden, of Mequon, showed off a circa 1915 "very desirable" Columbus 36 cast iron vending machine, just 5 inches tall, priced at $3,895. He also pointed with pride to a 1920-30s 19 inch tall Sunny Boy trade stimulator/vending/payout coin-op machine complete with marquee (which usually is missing) offered for $6,595.

Not to be outdone, Freund, of Springfield, displayed "one of a kind" treasures. The first, a 15" tall double-glass-cylinders and cast iron Pepsin Gum and perfume penny-operated vendor, could grace your collection for $7,900. Sitting next to it was an 11" tall Balba Bouquet cast iron base 10-cent perfume vendor offered for $3,695.

For many, the Chicagoland Show is a family affair. Dealer Nathan Lippe of nearby Hanover Park, IL, was visited by daughters Charlotte, 5 and Hannah, 2. The girls pointed with pride to Dad's 1950s giant 6-foot neon Pepsi-Cola sign priced at $9,500. At the same spot, a 16 x48 inch arrow-shaped Double-Cola sign could be taken home for $1,950. Although the tots seemed to like the signs, they quickly showed off their prizes purchased at the show - two stuffed toy unicorns.

Little Nathan Warden was just a baby when he attended his first Chicagoland Show with mom and dad, many times sleeping as busy crowds strolled by. But now, at age 4, he was playing with arcade machines while perched on a chair to reach the controls. His parents, Jeff and Diane Wardon, who run Arcade Adventures, Crystal Lake, IL, said "sales were brisk" at the November event.

"I started collecting records in 1958 and now it's jukeboxes," smiled John Maletz of Chicago. Many people stopped by his booth to admire and operate his fully restored light-up 1947 Seeburg jukebox, playing 78 rpm records, and lovingly nicknamed "the trash can" by collectors because of its design, tagged at $3,700. Others "oohed and ahed" over a 1952 Rockola Fireball jukebox, one that played 45 rpm records, priced at $6,600.

Not all jukeboxes at the show were old. A replica 1940s light-up Rockola '91 countertop jukebox with wood stand, could play a selection of cd's at your home for $2,795. At the same spot, dealer Steve Hanson of Vernon, Conn., showed off a vintage Orange Julep soda fountain syrup dispenser priced at $950.

Many visitors stopped to drop a coin and check their weight on the penny scales filling the booth of Bill and Jan Berning of Genoa, IL. A long line of chest-high examples were priced at $295 to $325 each, while a 6' tall cast iron 240-pound Watling Lollipop scale -so named for the shape of it's face --was sold early in the show for $2,400.

Penny arcade games along with vintage pinball games filled the booth of Phil Hubbert, Romeoville, IL. Sharpshooters tested their skills with a 1940s "Shoot the Bear" coin-op gun game that could entertain friends at your home for $5,000. Hubbert said he had set up at Chicagoland "from the start" and makes contacts for service calls on other folks machines, as well as buying and selling.

It was a nearly eight hour drive to the show for first-time-vendors Dave and Allie Smith from Old 54 Antiques, Macks, Creek, MO. They offered an eclectic mix of collectables including a 16" tall wooden G.E. radio for $900 and a "Pete the Pup" 1932 wood toy priced at $295. Did they sell well? Allie thought for a moment and softly smiled: "We killed 'em."

"I like that witness window that reveals cheaters using slugs," said Bill Bryk pointing to the small coin-size glass cover on his 1930s countertop Try-It dice shaking machine. The dealer drove to Chicagoland from Coweta, OK. He also showed off an oddball and spooky 27" tall rubber construction 1940s "Mushroom Man," thought to be a movie prop. Mushroom Man could stand tall at your place for $1,250.

Even though favorable weather greeted visitors and vendors, the covered tunnel-like pedestrian walkways that connect the Mega Center show to the nearby Pheasant Run Resort Hotel insures that everyone could move with ease between buildings warm and dry. "It sure makes for a more comfortable show," said one vendor, adding, "you never know what weather Chicago hands out in November."

Co-promoter Penny Traynoff said the November show was "sold out" for dealers and added she "saw many new collector faces at the show."

It will be spring before crowds gather at St. Charles again for the twice-per-year event, April 1-3.

Dealers can get information from co-promoters Bob and Penny Traynoff at 1-847-244-9263. Show information is available from co-promoters Kevin and Dawn Greco at 1-815-353-1593 and at www.chicagolandshow.com.

Five-year-old Charlotte and 2-year-old Hannah Lippe helped their dad Nathan at his booth at Pheasant Run - and the girls showed off two colorful stuffed animals purchased at the show - naming one of them "Rainbow."

Nathan Warden, 4, gets playing tips from his dad, Jeff, who with his wife Dianne, set up to offer coin op games from Arcade Adventures in Crystal Lake, Ill. 815-788-9296.

Steve Squires, 77, drove to the show from San Mateo, Calif., with a load of vintage slot machines. 800-342-6737.

Show promoters wave goodbye to the 2015 show while stopping at the booth of Classic Couches of Chadwick, Ill. They are, (from left,) Penny and Bob Traynoff, Dawn and Kevin Greco and 15-year-old son Nic. That same spot was used for a relaxing moment by recently married dealers, Keith and Tammie Stelter of Niles, Mich.

Pheasant Run Banquet Manager Steve Meggos stopped to visit the show, looking over 1991 Rockola jukebox offered for $2,795 by New England Jukebox & Collectibles. www.nejukebox.com

Jim Welytok, promoter of the semi-annual Kalamazoo Toy Show, and other events, tries is luck on a coin-op gun shooting game priced at $5,000 by Arcades at Home, Romeoville, Ill. 630-306-2567.

Steve Mumma of W. Des Moines, Ia., shows off his late 1930s Airflow airplane tagged $2,200. 555-255-2525.

Twelve year show veteran Walter Scott said he was proud of his 1920s 52-inch-long salesman sample horse and harness priced at $18,000. Others checked out his wood and metal auto turn light display priced at $8,500.

Young ladies of all ages lined up the check out the penny scales offered by Jim and Jan Berning of Genoa, Ill.

Even pooches seemed to like the 1940s AMI jukebox marked "sold" at the booth of Sam and Lynn Reichert of Just Off 66 Antiques, Plainfield, Ill. 815-405-9714.

A series of collectable ships was priced from $250 to $1,500 each by Marco Schneider of Asburn, Virginia. Joyful.antiques@gmail.com.

John and Linda Fifter, Medina, Ohio peek over the display of slot machines priced from $1000 to $2,500 each at the semi-annual show.

A 1940s Whizzer motorcycle could be driven home for $3,200 at the booth of Artie Rickum of Milwaukee. Shoppers also checked over his antique microphones priced from $100 to $3,200 each.

Golf 101 "fore" the non-Golfer

Even if you are not into this rich man's game, golf offers some great collectibles and they're free!

Here's a thought for you! How about starting a new collection that won't cost a penny and might help you to lose a few pounds? Interested? Read on.

My personal collections range from Victorian butter pats to turn-of-the-century Flash Ruby souvenir glassware to British Royal family memorabilia. Despite having more than enough of everything, I still had the unshakeable urge to respond to the primordial call to continue collecting. Two major drawbacks: lack of space and money to start another collection.

Several years ago I found myself transplanted from my long-time home, which was located fifteen miles beyond Times Square, to a tiny village that happens to have a golf course. I am a non-golfer and have no interest in the game. However, I soon acquired a penchant for the diminutive treasures I started to find on my walks around the perimeter of the course.

Small white balls with colorful emblems beckoned to me from swamps, ravines, rock crevasses, and yes, even trees! Now here was something I could get into. I began to gather a variety of advertising golf balls with the thought that surely these items will be valuable one day.

On my walks I have garnered branded balls from charities and foundations, Disney and Warner Brothers, breweries, insurance and real estate offices, pharmaceutical companies, airlines, resorts and private country clubs. The list is endless. However, a word on protocol: Do make sure that you are not taking a ball "in play" from someone who has just teed off out of your eyesight.

When the big shots come to town for charity events or celebrity tournaments, many of them bring their own kit. This gives me an opportunity to expand my collection to include faraway places such as St. Andrews, Royal Troon, Munakata and usually a few balls from tony golf courses around the United States: Augusta, Pebble Beach and Kapalua. Then there are those snooty monogrammed balls that add cachet to my collection that is housed in a plastic bucket in my garage.

I now have a colorful and varied new collection that didn't cost me a dime and the added health benefits derived from the walking and bending over are a bonus.

Mary Dessoie founded the Butter Pat Patter Association for beginner and advanced collectors of butter pats from the Victorian through Edwardian eras and 19th-century to current-day transportation and restaurant ware. A butter pat is a miniature plate, part of a place setting of fine china, used to hold an individual portion of butter. Manufactured by leading porcelain houses all over the world, these diminutive plates have been seen on the tables of royalty and presidents, as well as in the homes of fine china lovers everywhere. Rarely manufactured for popular use, they are now considered antique, exquisite each in its own style and a joy to contemplate.

For additional information about butter pats and sample copies of The Patter newsletter, please send a stamped (61 cents) self-addressed long envelope with $4.00 to: Mary Dessoie, Butter Pat Patter Association, 7950 E. Keats Avenue, No. 178, Mesa, AZ 85209-5025. Kindly make your check payable to Mary Dessoie.

Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association 42nd Winter Antiques Show In Waukesha, February 5 & 6, 2016 - 55 Dealers From 7 States

Article & photos by Debbie McArdle (Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association)

Founded in 1948, the Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association is a non-profit, charitable organization dedicated to preservation & education within Wisconsin. Their next show is at the Waukesha Expo Center in Waukesha, February 5 & 6, where, once again, your paid admission will fund scholarships and grants awarded annually.

Waukesha County high school seniors recently submitted entries for the Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association's annual scholarship competition. Winners for the 2015-2016 school year will receive their awards at the 42nd Winter Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Show, held February 5 & 6, 2016, in Waukesha.

In addition, the Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association awarded a fourth grant to the Friends of the Wisconsin Historical Society, continuing as the founding sponsor of the "30th Star Benefit Antiques Auction". This latest grant from WADA will carry the partnership between the Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association and the Friends of the Wisconsin Historical Society through the April 23, 2016 benefit auction, funding, in part, restorations at the H. H. Bennett Studio, the oldest operating business in the Wisconsin Dells, and possibly the oldest operating photography studio in the United States! Bennett is considered one of the best landscape photographers of the 19th century. Nearly all of his landscape photography was devoted to creating "eye-popping" 3D stereoscope views of the Dells, Devil's Lake and the rock formations in Adams and Juneau Counties where he captured the spirit of late 19th-century Wisconsin.

To encourage donations from the general public of items more than 50 years old for the upcoming "30th Star Benefit Antiques Auction", the Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association is again providing a free booth to the Friends of the Wisconsin Historical Society at their February 5 & 6 Antiques Show. Attendees to the show are invited to bring their donations (more than 50 years old) to the show where they will receive a tax deductible receipt. If the items are too large, other arrangements can be made. Call Riene Wells at 262/363-4700 or Debbie McArdle at 815/575-1272 for more information.

Show your support and help promote history by attending the 42nd Winter Antiques Show Friday, February 5, 10 am - 8 pm and Saturday, February 6, 10 am - 5 pm at the Waukesha County Expo Center, 1000 Northview Road, Waukesha (a Milwaukee suburb), Wisconsin 53188. A free educational exhibit, "Racine and Kenosha Remembered", hosted by collector Barna Bencs, will be available to all attendees. A traditional Wisconsin Fish Fry (baked fish also available) will be served Friday, late afternoon and evening. As always, there will be five drawings for $50 gift certificates. There's plenty of free parking and an ATM is on the premises. Questions? (414) 510-4441 or visit www.WisconsinAntiquesDealers.com.

An added bonus, the Red Wing Collector's Society will be hosting their Mid-Winter Show, Sale & Auction at Olympia Resort in nearby Oconomowoc, February 4-6. Visit www.redwingcollectors.org/ for more info.

Why not make it a weekend getaway and attend BOTH the Wisconsin Antiques Dealers Association Show AND the Red Wing Collector's Society events!

At the WADA show you can expect to see a wide variety of antiques, both large and small, exhibited by 55 dealers from 7 states. All indoors. Free Parking. Good Food. ATM on Premises.

IT ONLY HAPPENS ONCE A YEAR! 56th Annual Northern Illinois Antiques Dealers Association Show Saturday, February 20 & Sunday, February 21, 2016

Article & photos by Debbie McArdle (NIADA)

Some events you just don't want to miss, especially those that only happen once every 52 weeks! The 56th annual antiques show produced by the Northern Illinois Antiques Dealers Association is one of them. Customers and dealers alike are filled with anticipation.

Forty professional antiques dealers from throughout the Midwest will gather Saturday, February 20, and Sunday, February 21, at Forest Hills Lodge in Loves Park near Rockford, Illinois. Saturday hours are 10:00 AM to 5:00 PM; and Sunday, 11:00 AM to 4:00 PM. These experienced dealers have been saving their best 19th and early 20th century furniture, textiles, pottery, folk art, toys, garden adornments and decorative elements for this special event, all merchandise presented in pleasing individual booth displays.

Returning for a repeat performance will be Bruce and Linda Tomlinson of Alexandria, Minnesota, focusing on early textiles and country accessories. While exhibiting at shows back east, they developed a following of top designers who tap into the past to either develop a period look or to develop a completely new look. (Like old song, "Everything old is new again"!)

At the NIADA show, unlike the shows back east, you won't have to rub elbows with the Ralph Lauren and Pottery Barn designers. You can have the Tomlinson's full attention.

Diversity is the key to this show's continued success. A wide selection of antiques and collectibles in every price range tempt both the experienced & beginner collector. Friendly dealers share their knowledge and excitement with customers, making for a memorable "thrill of the hunt"; the satisfaction of finding that perfect item!

The Madison Antiques & Fine Art Showcase and Sale is a family oriented event, and encourages adults and youth to explore, learn and own a piece of the past, which were used and cherished by our ancestors. The show is known for its knowledgeable and friendly dealers, who always bring the best high quality antiques, fine art and collectibles of every design and make, all offered at reasonable prices.
