Cabin Fever to Bidding Fever at Rich Penn Auction in April

Article & photos by Rich Penn

The Spring Rich Penn Auction Event seemed like it was Spring only in name. The April 28th auction in Waterloo, Iowa had a special gift from Mother Nature. Saturday's session was given four inches of snow. But those in attendance weren't hampered by a bit of snow. Cabin fever quickly turned to bidding fever!

Good Weather Smiles Down on Spring Chicagoland Antique Advertising, Slot Machine & Jukebox Show

Article & Photos by Jack Kelly

"This sunny weather is perfect," said one dealer with a smile as he carted sale items into the Lake County Fairgrounds & Event Center in Grayslake, Illinois. Good weather all three days greeted visitors from all over the U.S; and multiple foreign countries who assembled for the semi-annual Chicagoland Antique Advertising, Slot Machine & Jukebox Show on March 29th through March 31st. During recent previous shows weather conditions for a comparison, were "a mixed bag of good and bad and sometimes downright miserable," according to one veteran dealer.

Van Briggle Pottery & Tile

In 1899, when Artus Van Briggle stepped off the train in Colorado Springs he must have felt worlds away from the studios of Paris and the landscapes of Italy where his extraordinary talents had so recently flourished. Here, however, surrounded by the beauty of the Rocky Mountains, the defining moments of his life would occur; the twin destinies of a great artistic triumph and an imminent personal tragedy would unfold, leaving in their wake the dawn of a 100 year artistic legacy - Van Briggle Pottery - an American tradition in art pottery since 1899.

Artus Van Briggle, an American artist of Dutch descent, was established as a world class painter in Europe. Having been trained at the finest academies there, and with paintings accepted by the Paris Salon, he received the highest honors for a painter in his day. Yet his artistic passions would ultimately lead him away from his brush, canvas, and easel toward another artistic pursuit that would ultimately define his genius.

Though Artus was a brilliant painter, his artistic passions were most eloquently expressed in the forms and colors of one of history's oldest arts - pottery. From his years as a celebrated artist at the famed Rookwood Pottery in Ohio he knew firsthand the extraordinary range of expression an artist could achieve with the potter's materials. His pursuit was the creation of exquisite satin matte glazes, like those he'd seen on ancient Chinese masterworks, in a palette of glorious colors, never achieved by any artist in modern times. The materials this brilliant artist would use for his greatest artistic pursuit would be minerals from the earth - clays, feldspars, oxides, - and the glowing orange flames of a fiery kiln. When transformed by the creative mind and the skilled hand these materials become the essence of both humanity and nature blended in unity. Clay and glaze are indeed extravagant media, offering the artist a lifetime of challenges and rewards. Artus, however, didn't have a lifetime - tragically, he had contracted tuberculosis and, though a relatively young man, his future was uncertain.

Artus had achieved some success in discovering a formula for these beautiful matte glazes prior to his arrival in Colorado but he continued his work there, seeking a standard of perfection not yet achieved. Pottery is a melding of art and science, and during the time when he conducted his experiments Artus knew success could not come without the patience of a scientist and the passion found in all great artists. He pursued his vision with tireless effort, though the effects of failing health often interrupted his progress. No specific date is recorded, but one day in the spring of 1901 he reached into the kiln, with the anticipation known well by countless potters throughout the ages, and finally held in his hands the perfect, rich, matte-glazed pottery he had sought for so long - the first pieces created in centuries, the first ever on this side of the world. Against the odds of failing health and a pursuit which no western artist had ever achieved, he succeeded; his passion was realized - a lost art was now reborn. The world would once again see and touch of the soft marble-like glazes first known by ancient Chinese masters half a world and so many generations away.

When you hold in your hand a piece of fine artistry and craftsmanship, a human creation with elegant lines and a sensual surface - something experienced by the eyes and hands and ultimately felt by the soul, you'll know what Artus Van Briggle was seeking - and what he ultimately achieved. He lived to see his artistic passion fulfilled before his own mortality could eclipse his dream. Though the sun setting on his own life, a new era was on the horizon for one of the oldest arts in history.

Once perfected, Artus Van Briggle's exquisite new glazes graced his elegant Art Nouveau pottery designs which were sent across the Atlantic and, when shown to Europe's best art judges, were proclaimed, "A supreme discovery in modern ceramics." Soon, art critics across the continents marveled at his works, lavished him with praise, and brought international acclaim to this quiet American artist on the Colorado frontier.

Before long, he succumbed to tuberculosis and died there in the shadow of the Rocky Mountains, but not before receiving word that when shown at Exhibitions here in the United States and in the Salons of Europe, his creations had won their highest awards.

Van Briggle Pottery is the living heritage of an extraordinary artist whose heart and hands were given only half a lifetime, and to his wife, Anne, whose own dedication and fine artistry after Artus' death carried their vision to success in its earliest years. Together they left a timeless and permanent imprint on the tradition of American art pottery. With each passing year and with each new piece created, their artistic legacy continues, a legacy in known as:

Van Briggle - a Tradition in American Art Pottery since 1899.

Out & About

We want to wish everyone a
Happy 4th of July Weekend!

May everyone's travels be safe and fun filled with family and friends. The weather has been wonderful and scary. One minute the sun is out and the next, the sky turns dark and the wind and rain hit. I enjoy the occasional storm or two but these ones are causing havoc for my rose trees and other shrubs. I have these huge flower containers that flank my french doors and I just can not seem to get anything to thrive in them.

It was Brandon's Graduation party this past weekend. He did not want a big party, just close family. He is not one for attention but wanted to be with family and celebrate. Mekenzy has had a rough couple of weeks at work. The main water line in her plant broke and they had no toilets or drinking water, so she was sent home, then they ran out of paint, the power went out for a day and a few more problems. She is ready for a break and is planning some weekend trips with Noah. Tia is loving Boston, she went to a "dancing in the street party" with a DJ and tons of people, kayaking on the Charles River and still has many more adventures planned before she comes home.

When Out and About this weekend, be sure to check out:

Visitors From Around the World Gather for the Annual Chicagoland Antique Advertising, Slot Machine & Jukebox Show

"I've been here 63 shows in a row, never missed one," said John Pappa of the National Jukebox Exchange in Mayfield, N.Y. Although the dealer sets up to sell, he buys too, and quickly purchased "a very difficult to find all-original 1946 Wurlitzer 1080 jukebox" before the show "from a guy in a van parked next to me who had it laying on its side." Although Papa valued the 78 rpm record playing machine at $6,500, he chuckled and said it was "too nice to sell – I'm taking it home with me." One jukebox Papa did offer for sale was a 1958 Seeburg model 162 that could play 80 45rpm records at your place for $4,000.

"This one is too nice to sell -- I'm taking it home with me." said dealer John Papa. He purchased the "very difficult to find 1946 Wurlitzer 1080 jukebox" just outside the fairgrounds building shortly before the show opened.

Once again, the largest display of the show was hosted by Bill Rawski, Zap Props of Chicago, sprawled over 10 booths with coin-operated and vintage advertising items. Coke collectors stopped to gawk at his mint condition 7-foot-long die-cut 1950-60s cardboard foot-tall Coca-Cola "festoon." The rarely seen piece illustrating Coke and vintage auto themes could hang at your place for $4,500. Toy collectors checked out his mint condition painted tin 1920s

Gilbert Erector Set advertising display with die-cut windows displaying four different items from the famous toymaker. It could sit on your shelf for $6,000.

Rawski also announced he was exploring the idea of forming a "Coin Op & Advertising Dealer Association" to promote the hobby, and invited interested people to contact him via cell phone at 773-848-0120 for more information.

Frank Zygmunt Jr. of Westmond, Ill., filled several booths with vintage slot machines including a fancy mammoth upright 1910 wood and cast iron Caillie Black Cat slot machine upright payout slot, with music box, for $90,000 – but Zygmunt called attention to a lesser priced machine. "I've seen most every slot machine over the years, but never this one" he said, pointing to a quarter play double Mills Bonus High Top slot that he called "ultra rare," with a relatively modest price tag of $8,000.

Several tables and shelves of gambling and vending machines filled the booth of Jan Pursell of Herrin, Ill. Drawing lots of attention was an early 1900s cast iron and wood countertop Mills Brownie slot featuring the famous Cox Brownie on the front, and a price tag of $4,000. Sitting nearby at the same price, was a Royal Ace classic round globe cast iron base vender that Pursell called "only one of six known."

"This one was featured in the 1950s movie, 'Quicksand' " said dealer Alex Warschaw pointing to a 5-foot-tall coin operated metal stand-on foot massage machine that he said could give you a treatment for a nickel – plus purchase price of $1,500. The Phoenix Ariz., dealer hung a "sold" sign on a countertop cast iron Bat-A-Penny top coin operated baseball machine tagged at $3,000.

Another coin operated baseball machine, this one an action filled 1972 Williams Line Drive pinball machine, gained lots of attention in the booth of Paul Reno, Home Game Room Supply, Franksville, Wis. Priced at $2,695, it was just one of the packed booth of pinball machines priced from $1,200 to $5,600 each, with "another 30-40 back at the shop," according to Reno. His wife Carrie, a special education teacher, took time away from the classroom to assist at the Chicagoland Show.

Life size re-created coin op arcade machines filled the booth of Bob Sossa of North Olmstead, Ohio. Many folks stopped to gawk at his 8-foot-tall oak and cast iron penny operated Humpty Dumpty, with cone shaped hat, priced at $4,500. Sossa estimated it took about 50 hours to create the device.

Others checked out his standup tin nickel operated grip tester, which could test your strength at home for $850.

Glossy original vintage rec room machines that were restored to what some folks called "like new condition" were featured at the booth of Rod and Janet Heuerman of Fun-Tronics, Teutopolis, Ill. An ice chest type floor model 1940s Royal Crown Cola cooler could keep your beverages chilled for a cool $4,800. And snacks could be served at your home from a 10-cent coin operated floor model dome top 1950s T & C Co. old fashioned popcorn stand, priced at $3,400. For a more moderate wallet the couple had items priced at $125 and up.

Several dozen popcorn items were featured by Marque Popcorn Co. of Rockford, Ill. Joe Verace and Christine Schneider showed off poster-size framed copies of famous popcorn box advertising they termed "home décor wall art," priced from $85 to $175 each.

Dealer Nathan Lippe of Hanover Park, Ill., was assisted by daughters Charlotte, age 9 (left) and Hannah age 5 setting up a 20 x 23-inch bread sign tagged at $125.

The couple also pointed with pride to their re-created 1910 era brand new 62-inch-tall powdercoated metal and glass fully operational “Mr Delish” popcorn maker priced at $1,750. The couple said a buyer could take it home from the show, or they could ship the machine anywhere in the country for $145.

Dozens of framed pop corn art priced from $75 to $175 each surround the fully operational re-created metal and glass pop corn popper that can serve you a bag fresh and delicious for $1,750 from Marque Popcorn Co., Rockbord, Ill.

Bill Rawski of Zap Props, Chicago, checks out his mint 1920s Gilbert Erector Set display that he priced at $6,000.

Vintage toy collectors were drawn to the booth of Keith Miller of New Franklin, Ohio who offered select goodies. “I love my toys,” said the dealer pointing to a 1934 Daisy Buck Rogers 10-long-pistol with holster that he said was “the first space toy made” ready to draw and shoot anywhere for $400. Other shoppers checked out his 1954 Nichols Toy Co., 30-inch-long cast metal and plastic Fury 500 cap-shooting machine gun -- yours for $500.

A huge banner could be seen across the isles promoting the booth of Rod and Janet Heuerman, Fun-Tronics, Teutopolis, Ill. Two professionally restored crowd favorites at the spot included a 1940s Royal Crown Cola ice cooler that could chill soda at your home for $4,800 and a 10-cent pop corn stand that could serve a treat for $3,400.

The Chicagoland show usually hosts many offbeat items, and this show was no exception. Samples included a stunning condition 1920s woman's lifesize wax head with real stitched-in-hair and glass eyes, thought to have been used in a stand-up fortune telling machine, priced at $2,000. “She has thicker hair than I do,” joked dealer Jo Addie, Somewhere In Time Antiques of La Grange Park, Ill. At the same spot, jewelry collectors could checked out hundreds of 1920s Deco/Nouveau Czech items ready to wear home for $135 to $465 each. As in years past, chatter from the crowd came in many languages as foreign buyers converged on the show to purchase items to take home. One of the largest contingents was a group of six from San Pedro, Brazil who said they purchased jukeboxes and advertising signs that are popular items back home.

Dealer comments on the Chicagoland Show ranged from the usual “It was okay” to “the best show I've ever had!”

Shoppers who entered the show during dealer set-up on Friday paid $50 admission for a full three-day pass, while more frugal visitors paid $7 for a single daily admission, or $11 for a two-day pass on Saturday and Sunday.

The fall Chicagoland Antique Advertising, Slot Machine & Jukebox Show will again be held at the Lake County Fairgrounds and Event Center, Grayslake Ill., Nov. 15,16 & 17. Dealers can get information from co-promoter Bob Traynoff at 1-847-244-9263. Show information is available from co-promoter Kevin Greco at 1-815-353-1593 and at www.chicagolandshow.com.

Frank Zygmunt Jr. (right) rallies around his “ultra rare” Mills Bonus High Top with Paul Bonomo and Dan Jed. The quarter play slot was priced at $8,000.

Visitor David Barnette, age 8, of Fort Payne, Alabama, tested the dealers coin operated foot massage machine that could “sooth your dogs” for 5-cents – and $3,000.

Zap Props displayed a long die cup cardboard Coca-Cola "festoon" that was tagged $4,500.

ATGLEN, PA - Schiffer Publishing, Ltd. would like to introduce Do You Read Me?: Vintage Communication Toys.

The invention of the telegraph, telephone, and broadcast signals gave kids in mid-century America a new way to play. Speak into a device, push a button, turn a knob, and you were instantly communicating with friends around the block or across the planet. In most cases, it was imaginary, but adults were actually doing it—and with the right "equipment," you were, too! The 150 color images in Do You Read Me?: Vintage Communication Toys, captures the excitement of these new technologies. The art deco and futuristic designs from the 30s through the 70s convey the wonder and optimism of the ever evolving communication world. String and wire may have carried the signal, but it was the power of imagination that really carried the message. Toy collectors, nostalgia buffs, and retro-future fans will appreciate the price guide and build-it-yourself communicator included with this beautifully photographed and designed volume.

Founded in 1937 by a small group of enthusiastic collectors, it is chartered under Ohio law and recognized as non-profit 501 (c) (3) organization. The Society is "home" today to 2,000 dedicated collectors in the United States and foreign nations. Whether an individual is an experienced or beginning collector shoulder sleeve and distinctive unit insignia (patches and DIs), rank insignia, wings, decorations and awards (medals), elite forces emblems, cap badges, specialty markings, or of simply information on heraldry and the symbolism of heraldic devices, membership in ASMIC has many advantages.

ASMIC publishes a quarterly journal entitled The Trading Post and a Newsletter. The Trading Post contains a wealth of information on all aspects of U. S. and foreign military insignia. It includes articles from members, illustrations of old and new emblems as well as an occasional color section depicting American or foreign insignia. Unidentified Insignia are covered in a separate column in The Trading Post

The Newsletter brings word of insignia and dress items for trade or sale via classified and display ads. Society members rely on the Newsletter to advertise for insignia they wish to include in their collections and for announcements of regional and national insignia and militaria shows.

The ASMIC Reference Library contains almost 1000 items available for loan to members. These publications range from back issues of The Trading Post to major reference works published by our members and other militaria experts. The Library also includes many journals from other militaria societies for use by our members

Over the years, ASMIC has produced more than 20,000 black and white line drawings of military insignia, along with detailed descriptions of the insignia and known variations. Most of these drawings are available in our Distinctive Insignia or Cloth Patch catalogs, available to the general public and, at a discounted price, to ASMIC members.

Prices Soar at Rich Penn Spectacular in Waterloo, Iowa

The auction kicked off at 10:00 am on Saturday with over 200 lots of non-cataloged items, for just in-house bidders. Auctioneers Fred Van Metre and Tom Millie sailed through those by noon. When the first cataloged lot came to the podium, the house bidders were joined by an additional internet following from 37 countries across the globe. When Sunday's session wrapped up, those bidders captured nearly half the auction. According to Penn, "We continue to see increased participation from our online clients. But when it comes to some of the more serious items, many bidders want to be here and see it and examine it for themselves."

The Saturday session included Salesman Sample Stoves, Country Store and Soda Fountain Items and Pressed Steel Toys. The top two lots for that session were both Salesman Sample Stoves. A Home Comfort No. CB, in Exc Restored condition sold at $4,000. A Quick Meal No. 407-16, also beautifully restored, sold at $3,500. Two other stoves that warmed up bidders included the c.1900 Karr Range Co. w/blue & white enameled finish. In Exc orig condition it sold at $2,750. The c.1900 Great Majestic Junior, in Exc Restored condition sold at $2,250.

Pressed steel toys showed strong prices too. According to Penn, "In our last two auctions we've seen the interest start to come back with good toys. Pressed steel is definitely showing strength again, especially Buddy "L". The c.1927 Buddy "L" Flivver One-Ton Express with original paint & transfers was a great example. It sold at $3,250. Close behind was an unusual and quite rare Buddy "L" Railroad Double Trestle Bridge. It came with 10 pieces of track. Each piece of the track was stamped with the Buddy "L" name. When all the bids had rolled across the block...it sold at $3,200. All prices are hammer prices and do not include the buyer's premium.

Rich Penn Auctions has a strong tradition for offering a great selection of Country Store artifacts. This auction was no exception. And signs are always a favorite. A colorful self-framed metal sign for Sunbeam Rolls, picturing Little Miss Sunbeam, sold at $2,750. Bidders were charmed by the graphics and the Near-Mint condition. A 39" dia. Frostie Root Beer diecut metal bottle cap sign, with fun Frostie graphics, sold at $1,600. More fun graphics came on the always popular Grape-Nuts sign. This self-framed litho on tin featured a pretty little girl on the way to school with her St. Bernard. With strong color and overall scratching it dished up a top bid of $1,000.

Among the other items doing well on Saturday was the Triple XXX Root Beer keg-shaped syrup dispenser. In Exc condition, it pumped up a top bid of $1,500. A c.1909 National Cash Register, Model No. 327, in Exc orig cond, rang up a high bid of $1,300. And coffee grinders are still grinding out bidder interest. A cast iron counter style, Enterprise No. 8, w/original orange paint, decals and Eagle finial, sold at $1,100.

The Sunday session took on a totally different flavor. It was about things that were BIG, made music, took coins or sparkled and glittered!!

Coin-operated machines showed great bidder interest as well. The top lot on Sunday was a classic c.1941 Paul Fuller designed Wurlitzer model 750E Jukebox. Fuller was single-handedly responsible for designing the 1938-1949 line of Wurlitzer 24 selection machines. His designs set the stage for other manufacturers to follow. None did it quite as well as Fuller. As a result, his machines are among the most desirable with today's collectors. This machine, largely complete but with a few minor issues, still played up to a $5,500 high bid. Another jukebox from Wurlitzer's rival Rockola was their c.1947 Model 1426. A great Art Deco design, this 20 selection machine was in Good orig condition, but needed amp work. It still hit a high note at $1,800.

From pumping out great tunes to pumping gas, bidder interest was strong! And the gas pumps all had High Octane bidders in the Sunday session. The Eric Motor Systems clock face pump had an older restoration. It looked plenty good enough to pump out a $3,500 bid. The American Oil Pump & Tank Co. visible pump, c.1920s brought $1,900 as did the Wayne clock face Model 861. A Red Crown Gasoline bulk drum from Standard Oil Indiana, with great graphics, brought $1,700.

In the days of the classic jukeboxes it wasn't unusual to see a slot machine or two in the same establishment. Any machines that took in extra money helped the merchant make a bit more profit. So coin-operated machines were in every little town and big city in America. You could buy a song for a nickel and the same for a pack of gum. Or buy a pencil, a soda or take a chance on winning some money! Many of those coin-operated machines survived. A nice group of them found their way to the Rich Penn Auction.

The top selling slot machine was an unusual Watling Rol-A-Top with a Diamond Front jackpot. This 25 cent machine from the 1930s took in a $2,750 winning bid. A rare $1.00 play Jennings light-up Club Chief, in a console cabinet, hit the jackpot at $2,300.

Decorative items, which have been a softer side of the market in recent years, seemed to be making a modest comeback in prices. A colorful signed Handel leaded glass lamp had strong internet and in-house bidding. It ended up selling at $1,800. Another stained and leaded glass table lamp, from Duffner & Kimberly, settled in at a winning bid of $1,100. A c.1900 disc German music box, with 9 discs played beautifully. As a result...several inhouse bidders played it up to the winning $1,500 bid.

If you wanted something that glittered & sparkled and have it be something you could wear, a nice 1.59K diamond ring was offered. It went to a lucky winner with a size 7 ring finger for $1,300.

According to Penn, "The wide variety of lots kept bidders interested throughout both sessions and many commented about that fun variety. We plan to continue that". Penn's November auction, also scheduled at the Sullivan Bros. Convention Center in Waterloo on Nov. 1-3 reflects another great variety. That November auction includes a Coca-Cola collection, Coin-operated machines, Gas & Oils signs, Automotive, Country Store, Toys, Western & Cowboy items as well as quality Decorative pieces. For more information or to consign, call 319-291-6688 or go to Penn's web site: www.RichPennAuctions.com.
