Prices Roll To The Finish For Kraft Auction Service Anniversary Sale

Article & photos by Kraft Auction Service

The final weekend of Kraft Auction Service's 42nd Anniversary wrapped up three incredible weekends of fantastic auctions. Sunday, January 27th with temperatures at a brisk 16° with a feels like -3° bidders were in attendance. With this being the last of seven sales and containing more really great items for bidders to take home. The sale was held at Kraft Auction Service located at 48N 450E in Valparaiso, Indiana and it was an event not to be missed!

A Treasure Chest “A Trunk”

By Shelby Weister

A trunk, according to Webster dictionary, is a chest for clothing. Trunks were used for storage, traveling and for concealing valuable belongings. Years ago, trunks were stored in wells attached with a rope, so thieves couldn't steal silver and money, etc. These boxes of different shapes, covered with metal, cloth, leather or canvas, were used by travelers to carry clothing and personal items, like we use our modern luggage. All trunks had trays or bonnet boxes with covers for storage of ladies hats, parasols and gloves. A lot of trunks are missing trays, because they were lost or destroyed over the years.

In the fall of 1900, Sears Catalog displayed twenty-five trunks on two pages, ranging in price from $1.75 to $37.00. The ad read, “We sell trunks at all prices. We can suit you in style and quality. We want your order, because we can sell good trunks and bags cheapest. We recommend the medium and better grades; a dollar or two added to the price of a trunk may mean many years of additional usefulness. There is integrity in trunks, as in other merchandise. They should be made to stand the wear and tear, which they are sure to get from time to time. Our trunks and bags are made under careful supervision, every nail, rivet, clamp, hinge and lock is attached with exactness and skill of the thorough workmanship. This is why we warrant every trunk to be represented and the best of its kind at the lowest possible price.”

There were several trunk companies in Wisconsin, located in Milwaukee, Kenosha, Racine, Appleton, and Fond du Lac. Trunks were made from raw wood scraps of rough unplanned lumber, so companies were located near waterways and lumber mills. Pieces of tin or embossed tin covered the lumber, where seams joined together, a slat of wooden strip was attached with rivets, which is a nail with a head on both ends. Trunks were constructed of many other materials, such as wicker, rattan, and leather. There are many shapes and sizes, flat, rounded, camel back, and rounded sides. If you have ever visited Staten Island Museum in NY, where the Statue of Liberty is located, they have a display of over one hundred different kinds trunks that immigrants used when they brought their possessions to America with them.

Children's Trunks (smaller in size), doll trunks, salesman samples and unusual styles of trunks have greater demand and bring higher prices. Only the very elite could afford trunks for their children, most families shared one trunk. Theater trunks were very large and made of veneer covered with leather or black canvas. They stand on one end when you open them, and have drawers on one side and a place to hang costumes on the other. Traveling entertainers used them on trains. They were not made of wood, because they would have been too heavy to carry. Many old trunks were used to hold a young girls “Hope Chest” and carried a rich history from the old country. In Central Wisconsin, many trunks are from Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Norway.

Many people have at least one trunk in their possession. A trunk is one of the most basic and useful pieces of furniture there is. Trunks can be used as cocktail or lamp tables, storage units and benches. In the last twenty years, there has been a big resurgence in trunks, many people restore them to their original finish, or remove the tin to expose the beautiful patina wood finish. The inside of trunks and trunk trays can be restored using wallpaper, fabric, or cedar wood. Old trunks can be purchased at flea markets, rummage sales, or antique shops. The average price ranges from $50 to $200, depending on condition, style and rarity.

So Happy Trunking!

Central Illinois Antique Dealers Association Presents Bloomington's Original Antiques and Vintage Show & Sale

Article & Photos by Michelle Goltz*

Dealers travel from Kentucky, Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri and of course from all over Illinois bringing you the very best treasures! When I arrived it was raining so hard I got into the building with a drenched coat and was greeted with a smile from Priscilla and she kept my coat so it could dry by the time I left. You will never find a better group of people, not only are the dealers like family, so are most of the relationships that they build with the collectors/shoppers! Honestly, I could cover a show in about an hour to an hour and a half, but always seem to be so intrigued by the great conversations and pieces that I am usually there for at least 3 hours and I love every minute.

Whether it is a dealer I see often or a new dealer, there is such a warmth and passion that it is contagious to want to learn more. If you haven't attended a show, I encourage you to do so, and make sure you bring a friend or younger family member so you can share the experience and/or hopefully encourage younger generations to appreciate a bit of history! It is up to us to preserve, appreciate and educate! Hope to see you at a show, spring is coming so put a spring in your step and get out to some antique shows! For more information on these fantastic events you can email: Richard & Priscilla auntiesattic-stj@gmail.com

42nd Anniversary for Kraft Auction Service Drives Bids To Blazing Speeds

The last weekend included collector cars, motorcycles, gas pumps, outstanding vintage advertising, slot machines, hit-n-miss engines, coin-op, pedal cars, antique and collectible toys and more.

The Kraft Auctions Anniversary Auction is the perfect place to sell your collections. Throughout the year, we gather the most premium collections from all the consignments we receive and include them in the auction. If included in the online bidding, each item will be professionally, individually photographed and will be listed for online bidding accompanied by a detailed description.

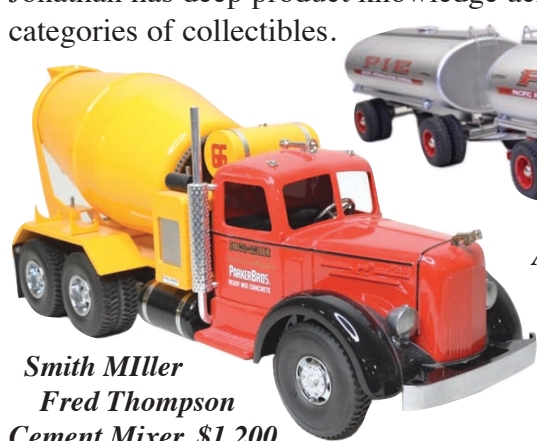

You will be able to speak with Business Owner and Lead Auctioneer Jonathan Kraft personally about the best way to handle your collection. Jonathan has deep product knowledge across a vast array of categories of collectibles.

Kraft Auction Service is a professional auction service based in Valparaiso, IN. We have been servicing buyers and sellers from around the world since 1976. The company was founded by Conrad Kraft, who is still active in the business today. Conrad built the business on honesty and integrity, forming a strong base for Jonathan to take over in 2005.

Today, Kraft Auction Service conducts the largest auctions in Northwest Indiana and is the only auction company in the area with fully computerized clerking and cashier services. Kraft Auctions has the capability to host auctions across the country and have recently conducted sales throughout Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Missouri and Ohio. Consignments and Buyers come from all over the United States and the world.

Kraft Auction Service can be reached at 219-973-9240, by email: info@kraftauctions.com and visit our website: www.kraftauctions.com.

October marks the “Haunted Season,” featuring Halloween monsters, movie monsters, ghouls, and witches at the October 27 Chicago Toy Show at Kane County Fairgrounds in St. Charles IL. Collectors from all over are revving up their motors and grabbing airline tickets to attend this event. This international show is the largest antique-collectible toy and doll show of its kind, attracting thousands of enthusiasts who would not be anywhere else when the show begins. Complete information is on the website at <www.chicagotoyshow.com>

Find perfect mint versions of DC Comic Characters, Transformers, Marvel, Star Wars, Sega, Play Station, Xbox, Atari, Comic books, Anime, Manga, He-Man, Dragon Ball Z, Thundercats, Wrestling figures, Gi Joe, Star Trek, Spawn, Batman Motu, Power Rangers, Ninja Turtles, etc. Collectors find anything and everything that children would have enjoyed through the ages. Prices are reasonable, the quality is superb, and the selection is great at this huge show that always presents items never seen before.

The show fills East Hall, West Hall, and the Atrium Doll House in the Prairie Events Center, and Trades North, Trades South, Rabbit, and Poultry with more than 600 exhibitors displaying childhood and holiday memorabilia. Enthusiasts know that treasures they have been searching for could turn up anywhere as they hunt through the booths for a glimpse of elusive pieces.

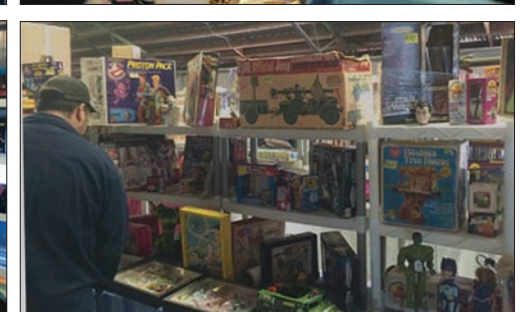

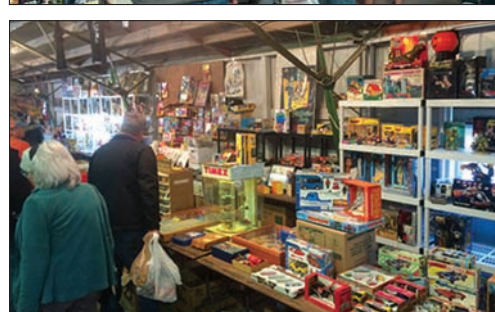

Toys are a marvelous, profitable, and enjoyable investment, and become even more of a pleasure because of friendships made at this show. Folks get together to share ideas and knowledge along with fascinating toy stories and interesting toy histories. They bring rarities to entice each other, and bargain constantly with “two of these for one of those” as collections build. Great friendships develop as everyone looks forward to visiting at the show with others who share their interest in toys.

Come if you are looking for die cast, tin litho, cast iron, pressed steel, automotives, robots, space toys from Buck Rogers to Star Wars, farm toys, boats, banks, penny toys, wind-ups, battery-ops, action figures, comic books, puzzles, bisque dolls, teddy bears, collectible dolls, character dolls, doll houses, doll furniture, miniatures, doll clothing, music boxes, puppets, Disney, Barbie, American Girl, etc.

Come if you collect Alexander, Arcade, Bing, Britians, Buddy L, Chein, Corgi, Dell, DEP, Dinky, Distler, Ertl, Fischer, Gund, Hasbro, Hess, Ideal, Ives Jep, J.P.,Karl Bub, Kenner, Kenton, Kestner, Lehmann, Line-Mar, Marklin, Marvel, Marx, Matchbox, Mattel, Schoenhut, Schuco, Steiff, Structo, Tipp, Tootsietoy, Ty, or any other major manufacturer of fine toys from the USA, Germany, Japan, England, France, Italy, or China.

Parking is free, Admission is $10 for adults, children are free, and the toy selection is endless.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION: The Midwest Garrison of the 501st Legion, Star Wars costuming organization is coming again to pose with you for your family/group photos.
