Chupps Auction in Shipshewana hosted the 14th Annual Hay Tool Collector's Show

Article & photos by Eric C. Rodenberg

In dazzling John Deere green, a 1934 John Deere Model A tractor brought $9,000.

The Chupp Brothers – Lyle, Dale and Devon – certainly know how to throw together a good party and lively auctions.

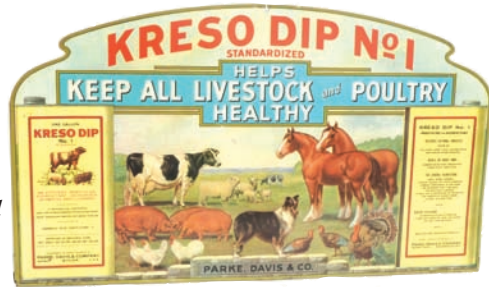

In the tiny town of Shipshewana, Indiana (pop. 700), located in north-eastern Indiana, Chupp Auctions & Real Estate LLC has been drawing bidders both far and near for 25 years.

In typical Chupp fashion, the brothers and their families pulled out all the stops June 14th-15th. Hosting the 14th Annual Hay Tool Collector's Show, the Chupps opened their auction facility for the Hay Tool Collectors Association who set-up, swapped and bragged about their wares June 13, from 8 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Chupp Brothers Spectacular Hammer Prices!

19"x27" DST Sharples Tubular Cream Separators sign -One side Fair, one side Good, $1,750.

The next day, the show continued, beginning at 8 a.m. in the auction facility, until 4:30 a.m. Shortly afterward the Chupp brothers provided a feast for some 225 hay tool buyers and sellers. Served were mouth-watering ribs, potatoes, fresh chicken breast and beans over an open fire.

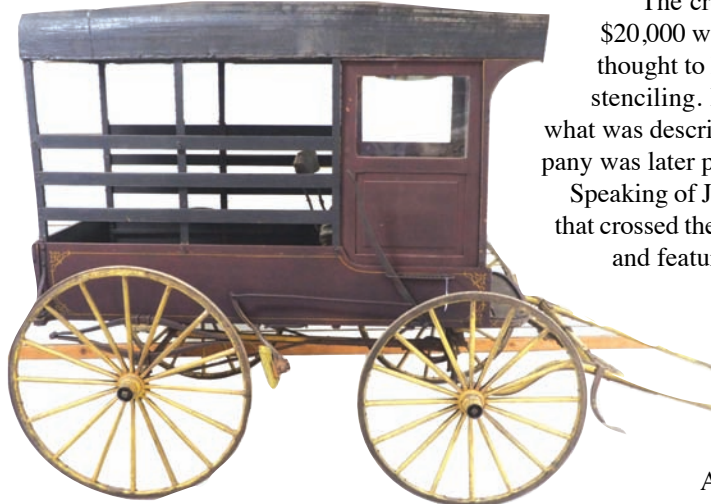

The food was catered, according to Lyle Chupp, with the Chupp women and children serving the food, followed by a small "warm up" auction of some 225 uncataloged items that already had some of the bidders cranked-up for the "big auction" set for the following day.

Shipshewana, named after a local Potawatomi Indian from the 19th century, is the perfect location for buying, selling and displaying antique farm tools. Located in LaGrange County, abutting the Michigan state line, the area is the third largest Amish community in the country. Throughout the gently rolling countryside, colorful quilt-pattern murals adorn historic barns, family homesteads and public spaces.

It is here that Indiana's first Barn Quilt Trail celebrates the history of agriculture, the time-honored tradition of quilting and the community's passion for art.

But on Saturday, the real action began at 8:30 a.m. when around 300 bidders from 17 different states, plus Canadian bidders, began queuing up for the auction featuring 500 lots of hay collector, country store, advertising, petroliana, pocket watches, antique firearms, John Deere tractors, farm primitives and more.

"People were ready for this auction," Lyle Chupp said. "When I arrived there at 7:30 (a.m.), there were already people waiting to get in."

The crowd was not disappointed, for the offerings were truly spectacular. Selling for $20,000 was an early Success No. 21B horse-drawn manure spreader. In excellent condition, thought to have never been used, the museum piece had its original early paint and stenciling. Bidding was very strong – both onsite and live Internet bidding – for what was described as one of the best early original manure spreaders. The Success company was later purchased by John Deere.

Speaking of John Deere, there were four of the old hit-and-miss tractors, dating from the 1930s, that crossed the auction block. One tractor, a 1934 John Deere Model GPP A, completely restored and featuring a dazzling green color sold for $9,000.

The prices quoted are hammer prices. For onsite auctions, Chupps Auctions does not charge a buyer's premium. Internet bidders, however, pay a fee.

Other items selling for a top dollar, included an Advance salesman sample hay carrier on a homemade stand, selling for $14,000; and an early 1-horse delivery wagon, identified by excellent stenciling (and original paint) as a "Chas. Ulmer of Holland, NJ with a Geo. Snyder maker's tag, $11,000.

A 28-inch by 16-inch Kreso Dip Livestock and Poultry stand-up counter sign sold for $5,750; a salesman sample of a Bull hog oiler, measuring 4-inches tall, brought $5,000; and a Studebaker cement pillar topper from Studebaker Proving Grounds, went for $4,700.

A 4-foot by 54-inches Brahmans cattle sign sold for $3,000; a 35-inch tall metal Cow-Ease Sprayer display sign with superior graphics, sold for $2,500; a Perfection cow tail holder with original 1891 label, earned a top bid of $2,750; a 42-inch in diameter "Studebaker Authorized Service" sign, brought $2,900; and a 48-inch in diameter "Studebaker Authorized Sales & Service" sign with a metal frame brought $4,500.

A 42-inch in diameter Tydol Gasoline neon sign, in fair condition, sold for $1,800.

Chupp Auctions next big sale is scheduled for the last weekend of October, where they will be selling country store items, advertising, farm items and much more.

Accent on Antique Phonographs

Mark your calendars for the Grayslake, IL Accent on Phonographs show September 7-8th. This is a venue to promote the phonograph hobby as part of Grayslake, IL Antique Market. Members of the Wisconsin Illinois Phonograph Society, The Antique Phonograph Society and the Music Box Society International will be at the show to answer questions on phonographs, records, and music boxes. Vintage records, phonographs, Nippers, books and related items will be on display and for sale. This large indoor, air-conditioned venue is located about 30 miles North of Chicago.

The guest speaker on September 7, at 1:00 will be John Hauger. The title of his presentation is "John Philip Sousa: The March King" Among America's music icons, no one stands out more than John Philip Sousa. Studying music as early as six years old, his talent was soon evident to his father, who was conductor of the United States Marine Band.

Invited to the Paris Exposition of 1900, Sousa's music gave Europe a fresh look at culture and refinement in the United States. Soon, tours took the Sousa Band around the world. World War I saw Sousa enlisted in the Navy, raising funds with his band to support the enormous War effort. In later life, Sousa crisscrossed the country encouraging high schools to develop top-notch bands and orchestras. Sousa's untiring efforts and international stature as well as composing over 100 marches, 9 operettas along with many orchestral suites, have given him the well-deserved title of "The March King".

The Grayslake Antique Market is held at Lake County Fairground, Grayslake, IL 60030. Tim Zurko is a member of the Wisconsin Illinois Phonograph Society and is a promoter of antique shows in Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan. At larger shows, Tim likes to feature specialty-collecting societies and enjoys promoting the phonograph hobby. This Zurko Grayslake market promises to be a good time with good friends. More highlights and information are at the website where viewers can see highlights of past shows.

A Brief History of Antique Pressed Glass

By EAPGS members Sean George and Wendy Jones of Sean George Pressed Glass & Goblets

Pressed Glass, also referred to as Pattern Glass, was produced between 1850 to 1910. The majority was produced in the 1880's. When it was originally designed, it was intended for everyday use and was made to be very durable and at the same time, attractive.

Families would use glassware as part of their table setting or for entertaining guests. For these reasons, producers made many different patterns to attract the customer to buy their products. Once a pattern was designed, it was patented along with its name so that it could not be duplicated, unless patents or molds were sold to other companies.

Often competitors would produce similar patterns or similar names, if the pattern proved to be popular with the public. For example, the "Flamingo" pattern has similarities to the "Clear Flamingo" pattern, not only in looks, but name as well.

Pressed Glass was produced in both Canada and the United States, with American companies outnumbering Canadian factories. Each year companies competed to produce the most attractive and popular patterns. Pressed Glass patterns were designed and then duplicated into a cast iron mold. The mold was then fired at an extreme temperature. The pieces of the mold were pulled away from the glass and the piece was left to cool.

If you examine a piece of pressed glass you will always find either two, three or four seams running through the glass, although sometimes the seams were well hidden in the pattern. The number of mold lines in a piece of glass does not determine the age. If the piece was small, manufacturers would use a two piece mold; if they were making compotes they would use a three piece mold. When manufacturers made punch bowls, they would use a four piece mold because of its large size, or a four piece mold was used for square patterns to help create the shape.

Around the 1920's, Pressed Glass lost its popularity and crystal became the 'in thing'. Affordable crystal was being shipped from Europe and France. When the depression came, people could no longer afford crystal and returned to pressed glass, or "the affordable glassware." This new period of glassware became known as "Depression Glass". It was produced the same way, pressed into a cast iron mold, but in different patterns and colours to brighten your day.

When manufacturers began producing pressed glass (1850-1910); patterns ranged from very plain to very elaborate cut glass imitations. The market tried and tested each pattern. Even patterns with Animals, Fruits and Florals were designed and created, with attention to fine details. Some of the patterns were produced as full table settings, while others were produced only in goblet form or single tableware pieces. People originally bought goblets and tableware for their beauty and artistic design. In addition, it was functional and affordable.

Just as ladies back then were collecting, trading and buying pressed glass for gifts, we continue to do so today. Collectors enjoy choosing and finding their favourite patterns among the over 3000 known patterns produced in early Pressed Glass.

Society for Old Ivory and Ohme Porcelains

The Society for Old Ivory and Ohme Porcelains is an organization of collectors and dealers who admire and collect Old Ivory and Ohme Porcelains. The purpose of the Society is for the members to share information and educate themselves and the public about the history and beauty of these porcelains, promote the collecting of Old Ivory and Hermann Ohme porcelains, and to develop communications between those who collect these porcelain items.

The SOIOP website is clean looking and traditional looking in keeping with the character of the collecting area the Society represents. The homepage has representative photos of Old Ivory and Ohme porcelain pieces plus a side navigation bar.

There is a section on the history of Old Ivory and Ohme porcelains and some excellent segments with photos covering the types of porcelain, patterns and marks.

The site's sections on the Society, itself, and on their annual convention is almost secondary. This is an excellent reference site for both collectors and dealers, or for that person who just happens to own a piece of Old Ivory or Ohme porcelain and wants to know a little more about it.

Out & About

The farm fields are starting to look good. Behind schedule I'm sure, but everything is green and not yellow. Lots of events happening so be sure to keep checking the auction calendar and watch the upcoming events pages. There will definitely be some tough decisions on which ones to attend. As we all know, there are only so many days in a week. With Labor Day just around the corner, watch for your favorite shops and malls to be having sales.

Mekenzy has been busy packing up her stuff. Bringing it all downstairs and stacking it in the living room. As she is living in a house that she has to set up, she needs to bring all the kitchen and bathroom stuff. The boys that she is living with are bringing all the living room furniture and kitchen table. Tia has been in contact with her group of girls and is excited for this year to start. Her schedule is busy but organized this year, so she isn't running all over. She has some free time and plans on using it for herself. Brandon has been putting in applications at some of the bigger companies. He is hoping to get into some of their apprentice programs. He is slowly learning lifes hard knocks now that he is not in school.

On Saturday, September 14th, the doors will officially open for Walter Holtz Antiques. The store will be housed in a building on the corner of 72nd and Greenfield Avenue in West Allis. Ample parking is provided in rear of building. The building was purchased in October of 2017, and I've spent the last year and a half restoring it to its original condition. It's my understanding that the building was one of the first J C Penney stores from 1934 to 1975. With more than 15,000 sq ft of space, this newly renovated building will be the ideal location to house my expansive collection of antiques.

As many of my customers already know, I have been in the antique business for 29 years. We specialize in upscale lighting, carved furniture and antique statuaries. Some of you are already familiar with me and my former antique shop known as 9th Street Antiques in Milwaukee. That location has been renovated into loft apartments, so the new location in West Allis will now give me the perfect opportunity to display the highest quality and vast collection of antiques in the U.S. Since I have done antique shows throughout the country over the last 29 years and continue to travel to expand my antique collection, customers should be prepared to be "wowed" by the selection this new store will offer. In addition to my existing inventory, I will soon be allocating space at the West Allis location for mid-century and contemporary furniture as well.

Our store hours will be Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 10 am to 5 pm and on Saturday from 11 am to 3 pm. We will also have an online presence on our website at www.9thstreetantiques.com and on Facebook and Instagram. Feel free to contact me with any questions you may have about our store or regarding a particular antique piece you might be looking for. Keep in mind that we can provide shipping nationwide. Whether its for your home or business, we will definitely have or find exactly what you need. We hope everyone will stop by and see our beautiful new location. We look forward to meeting old and new customers and providing you with the finest collection of quality antiques.
