John Deere Toy Collection Brings Collectors to Hamilton, Illinois

Article & photos by Sullivan Auctioneers

On Saturday, December 5th, Sullivan Auctioneers had the honor of conducting an auction for the late Richard Mabeus collector toy collection. The auction consisted of a variety of farm toys, memorabilia and paper goods. With 1,500 to 2,000 items crossing the block, it was a great chance for farm toy fans to add to their collections.

Oshkosh Expo Center Hosts 14th Annual Antique Sporting & Advertising Show

Article & photos by Brian Maloney

Bigger and better than ever, the 14th Annual Oshkosh Antique Sporting & Advertising Show returned on February 5th and 6th to the beautiful Sunnyview Expo Center in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. The show has grown rapidly in those years, and now has more than one-hundred dealers completely filling the huge hall. Northstar Collective took the reins as the event's promoter this year – broadening the show's focus to include period advertising, toys, and more in addition to the sporting memorabilia it's always been known for.

One-of-a-kind surely described this 19th century silver-fitted cane shown by Schoolmaster Antiques, once owned by Blatz Brewery founder Valentin Blatz (and inscribed as such), $18,500. 608-356-1017

Here's an odd find from Ugly Rick's Collections: a circa-1950's penguin-form trash can originally from St. Paul, Minnesota's Como Park Zoo, $1,695. 218-341-5913

My tin toy pick from Pearmont Antiques: this rare Buckman Ives "Jupiter" steamboat, measuring 18" in length and priced at $375. 920-210-4101

Note fishing lure aficionado Don Ludy came with rare examples including this boxed 1920's A. Fagestrom Silver-Glass Fish Lure, made of mercury glass and priced at $2,500. 630-842-8635

Advertising was the focus at Timber Peg Antiques, who came with finds like this 28" x 42" E-C Corn Flakes framed poster, asking price $1,500. 217-821-1294

Out & About Happy Easter

I spoke too soon about spring weather, although I did not put my snow shovel away. Maybe if we do not say the word "s-w", this storm will not arrive. I was just starting to get organized enough to start my outdoor projects. I would like not to spend my whole summer working on outdoor projects, as we have recently installed a pool and have yet to install the deck around it. It was not as enjoyable when I was constantly vacuuming the sand from inside my house!

People everywhere are getting out and going to antique shops, shows and auctions. Our advertisers are letting us know that they are having record sales and foot traffic. I'm also told there are still many good finds to be discovered. So, get your antiquing gear ready and packed in the trunk for your weekend excursions. Pack your chair, water, sunblock, pad of paper, pen and your Auction Action Antique News in your vehicle. So, you are ready for any antique event.

Clip and save those auction calendars and upcoming events page. Please let our advertisers know where you saw their ad! This helps our advertisers know where their advertising is working and helps us as well.

Great Crowd, Great Vendors, at the 14th Annual Oshkosh Antique Sporting & Advertising Show

It's hard to believe, but I've been coming to this show for a dozen years now. And there's always been a good-sized crowd waiting in line at the show's opening, even if the weather hasn't always cooperated. This year, good weather greeted visitors for both days of the event. The crowd was also greeted by the show's new promoter: Nona Amour of Northstar Collective, who recently purchased the show from its founder Dennis Gauger.

"As longtime collectors and antiques dealers ourselves, we plan to focus on serving the exhibitors as our number one priority," Nona told me. "That means getting customers through the door of course, but also in selecting exhibitors who cater to the wants and needs of current buyers." That careful mix of dealers now includes notable purveyors of period advertising including Chicago's Zaps Props and Missouri's Old 54 Antiques.

The Sunnyview Expo Center is just off of Interstate-41 on the north end of Oshkosh. It's a quick and easy drive from Milwaukee, Chicago, or just about anywhere. The modern facility has abundant natural lighting, 24-hour security, and drive-thru loading and unloading for the dealers who require it. Admission to the show is only six-bucks, and there's plenty of free parking just outside the front door.

Step inside and you'll encounter a diverse mix of exhibitors - from professional dealers from several states to area hobbyists wanting to buy, sell, and trade what they love most while having a good doing it. Knife collector Josh Robinson was one of those hobbyists. He set up here with some impressive big game mounts, but his focus is really on the hundreds of vintage knives which he's been collecting since the age of twelve.

And among the hundred-plus other exhibitors you'll find sporting collectibles of every description, like the rare vintage fishing lures displayed by veteran collector Don Ludy, or Ted Slaton Art & Antiques' choice musky mounts, or John & Linda Welsch's amazing array of Native American artifacts.

Not into the great outdoors? There was still plenty here for you too. Retronamia's display was crammed with countless vintage advertising pieces, my favorite a cool 1940s Magic Chef figural display figure standing 28" tall. And they were just one of more than a dozen advertising specialists showing here. Toy collectors found gems all over the show too, especially in the displays of both Pearmont Antiques and Out on the Farm Antiques.

Whether you're looking for a $10 fishing lure, a $100 decoy, or a $1,000 porcelain sign, it's a good bet you'll find it here. Even if you're not a collector, the Oshkosh Antique Sporting & Advertising Show is still one of the most interesting shows you could attend.

If you have questions about the event, show organizer Northstar Collective can be reached at 906-250-1618, or through their website www.antiquesportingandadvertisingshow.com. It's a once-a-year event, always held right here at Oshkosh, Wisconsin's Sunnyview Expo Center on the first weekend each February. And as always, keep an eye out for listings of the 2017 Oshkosh Antique Sporting & Advertising Show in the Auction Action Antique News!

Period advertising of all sorts awaited at Retronamia, from light-up "gas range" dealer signs ($345 and $695) to a way-cool Mammoth Salted Peanuts 10-pound tin priced at $275. 320-532-3971

Shoppers at Minnesota's Retronamia could choose from several pristine WWII War Bond posters starting at only $65 - all recently rescued from a Gopher State Monastery! 320-532-3971

Two great vintage composition advertising figures from Retronamia: the 28", 1940s Magic Chef example priced at $675, the circa-1950s United Air lines "Menehune" figure (27" tall) at $475. 320-532-3971

I found this rare & pristine Dent Manufacturing "The Queen" toy cast iron stove at Ugly Rick's Collections, with all accessories and measuring 24" across - $4,500. 218-341-5913

Allie Smith of Old 54 Antiques lends scale to a jumbo framed Apple Chewing Tobacco linen advertising poster, asking price $950. 573-363-5698

At Missouri's Old 54 Antiques, this 10' Mascot Tobacco canvas banner was priced at $1,850, this 6'-long, two-sided Blue Ball Livery wooden sign $1,600. 573-363-5698

Two beautifully restored early outboard motors from Ugly Rick's Collections: the 1937 Clarke Troller priced at $2,150, the 1933 Elto Pal backpack motor at $2,195. 218-341-5913

This book is a concise history of German stoneware, illustrated with 200 vivid photos, spanning from c.1300 to 1700 AD. German stoneware, high fired, nearly waterproof before light salt glazing, and extremely durable, has been described as “the most important and specific contribution that Germany made to the medieval European ceramic arts.” This book interprets archeological remains in a bid to explore the spread of German stoneware to Britain, Continental Europe, and Colonial America. German stoneware has a story to tell. In 1300, the potters of Siegburg succeeded in fusing clay at an extreme high temperature to produce Rheinische Steinzeug, the stoneware of the Rhine, a virtually waterproof material. Rheinische Steinzeug became very popular and is considered to be one of the most important medieval ceramics. From the kitchens of medieval Europe to those of Colonial America, this fascinating story of German stoneware’s dissemination and use is perfect for collectors, dealers, historians, archaeologists, museums, and anyone with a passion for the ceramic arts.

The 22nd annual World's Fair Memorabilia Show is on Sunday, April 17

Article by Rick Rann

The 1933/34 World's Fair returns to Chicagoland on April 17. The hours are 10am to 4pm and it is being held at the Elk Grove Holiday Inn, 1000 Busse Road (Rt. 83 and Landmeier Rd.) in Elk Grove Village, Illinois. Admission is $6, $5 for seniors over 64. Early 9am Preview admission is $20.

Collectors and dealers will meet to buy, sell and trade items related to World's Fairs from 1876 to the present. The main focus will be on the 1933/34 Chicago World's Fair. There will also be items from the 1893 Chicago Columbian Exposition and other Chicago related ephemera. There will be some items from other World's Fairs including: 1904 St. Louis, 1939-40 New York, 1962 Seattle, 1964-65 New York, Expo '67 and most other World's Fairs. There will be over 20 tables of World's Fair items for sale! Though there are few traces left in the area where the fair took place - between Roosevelt Road and 39th Street along the lakefront including the area where Meigs Field was located (now Northerly Island Park) - Rick Rann and Bob Conidi are bringing the fair back to Chicago at this show!

There will be continuous showings of home movies and newsreels on video from the 1933/34 Chicago World's Fair. There will be a special display of 1933 World's Fair memorabilia including an exhibit on the Enchanted Island. The "Enchanted Island" was five acres on Northerly Island that were set aside for children at the World's Fair. World's Fair collectors and fans of the fair are invited to come and relive one of the brightest moments in Chicago's history. (Two of the stars on Chicago's flag commemorate the 1893 and 1933/34 Fairs!) For info contact: Rick Rann, PO Box 877, Oak Park, IL 60303 708-442-7907 or Bob Conidi at (630) 467-0100. Or check our website for updates: www.worldsfairshow.com or e-mail ukczech@att.net.

Over 39,000,000 people attended Chicago's second World's Fair during 1933 and 1934. (The first being the Columbian Exposition held in 1893.) The theme "A Century of Progress" referred to the one hundred year period from the founding of Chicago in 1833, to the year of the fair, 1933. One of the guiding principles of the fair was "Progress Through Science". Many companies had working factories at the fair, where people could see the products being produced. Some of the items actually produced on the fairgrounds included Firestone tires, White Owl Cigars, Hiram Walker Whiskey (at the 1934 fair, as Prohibition ended at the end of 1933), Wonder Bread, and even Chevrolet automobiles.

The signature attraction of the fair was the Sky Ride. The Sky Ride had two observation platform towers which were 628 feet high (64 stories high). These platforms were taller than any building in Chicago at the time. Visitors could pay 50 cents and either go to the observation deck at the top of the towers (and see up to four states on a clear day) or ride in one of twelve double decked rocket cars at the 219 foot level. Each of the rocket cars held 36 passengers and traveled back and forth over a third of a mile over the fairgrounds.

The fair had many memorable buildings and attractions including the Sky Ride, Havoline's 227 foot tall thermometer tower (with neon tubing showing the current temperatures to fairgoers) and the Travel and Transport Building with a suspended roof. It is amazing that this fair was privately financed at the height of the Depression and was one of the few World's Fairs to make a profit! When the fair's accounts were settled in 1935 the profits were donated to area museums and some of the exhibits from the Fair were moved to area museums. The Adler Planetarium, the Shedd Aquarium, the Field Museum and Soldier Field all pre-dated the 1933-34 World's Fair, but were incorporated into the plan of the Fair. These landmarks were incorporated into the Museum Campus by Mayor Daley in the 1990s.

74 Dealers From 13 States Offering The Best In Country Antiques, Primitives And Americana

Article & photos by Marti Korba (The Old Shed)

With a strong lineup of dealers known for offering the best in country antiques, primitives and Americana, the seventh annual Pure and Simple Antique Show will be held Saturday, May 14, at the Kokomo Event Center.

Once again the show is at capacity, having 74 dealers from 13 states. In addition to those who have been with the event from the start, Pure and Simple will feature some new faces -- well-known sellers who add to the quality and variety of 18th- and 19th-century material being offered.

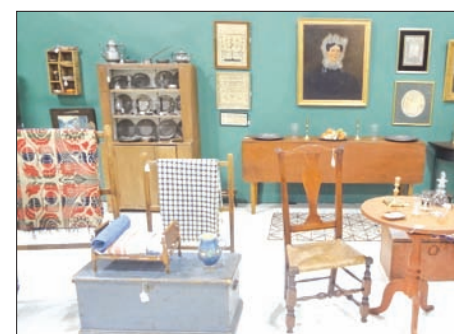

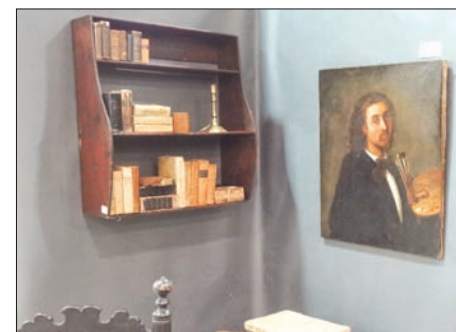

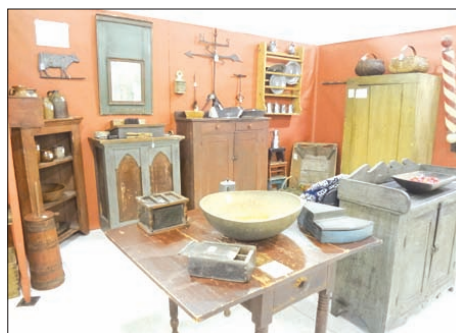

Mike and Marti Korba debuted Pure and Simple in 2010 as a way to bring quality antiques to the marketplace. The show quickly became a must-do event, both for the dealers who set up and customers who shop.

Since that first outing, Mrs. Korba has credited the show's dealers for Pure and Simple's success. Those sellers not only find great merchandise, but also have a good eye for displaying that material.

"We have wonderful dealers, and they put their heart and soul in decorating their booths," said Mrs. Korba. "They always make us so proud."

Show hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Admission is $7. Parking is free. The Kokomo Event Center is located at 1500 N. Reed Rd. (also known as Indiana State Road 931). The site is easily accessible from I-69, I-465, I-65 and U.S. 30.

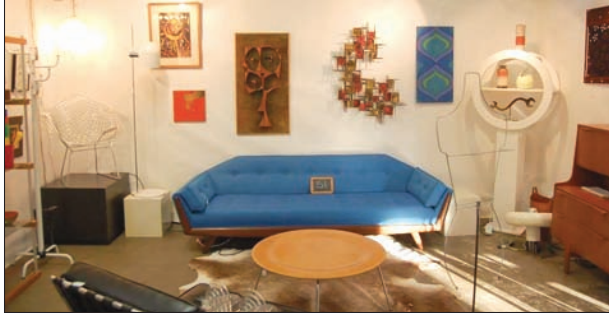

For more information, phone Mike and Marti Korba at (765) 437-6849 or visit www.theoldshed.com/pure-simple. In addition to information about the show, the website features a gallery of booth shots from last year.

Mid-Century Emergence At The Midwest Antique & Art and Collector's Eye Shows

Article & photos by Cathy Rawson

Over the last three years a strong Mid-Century art and design presence has begun to emerge at the Midwest Antique and Art Show in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The show has always been known for its unique qualities that have distinguished it from other shows in the area but what has been apparent has been its ability to evolve as a show attractive to a broad spectrum of buying clients.

Certainly a part of that evolution is the inclusion and promotion of dealers with quality Mid-Century art and design objects. The April show will feature no fewer than 10 vendors specializing in great mid-20th century furniture, art and special accessories. The offering is hardly kitsch but carefully selected items for both the beginning collector of objects of the 1950-70s and sophisticated collectors interested in creations by the best known and designed objects of the time by the very best designers of the period. Furniture and accessories by Herman Miller/Eames, Dunbar, Milo Baughman, Bertioia, Kofod Larsen, Kovacs and Sonneman lighting, works by Knoll, Adrian Piersall and Mies van der Rohe have all been present and sold at the last several shows. Serious dealers bringing serious merchandise for serious buyers are paying dividends for all concerned. The show evolves and is attractive not only to the traditional Americana audiences but also to the younger, hip generation as well. It is a living, thriving show.

The Midwest Antique and Art and Collector's Eye Shows will open their doors at 10a.m. Sunday, April 3rd, 2016, at the Hawkeye Downs Fairgrounds, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.
