Sunny Skies Greet Throngs of Buyers & Sellers at Centreville, Michigan Show

Article & photos by Jack Kelly

Perfect sunny weather and strong crowds were a winning combination for both buyers and sellers at the July 10 Centreville Antique Market held at the fairgrounds just south of Kalamazoo, Mich.

When the gates opened at 8 a.m. a long line of vehicles reached onto the highway, prompting one dealer to say it reminded him of "the good old days."

A 1940s queen size never-washed quilt with "original sewing pencil lines" could grace your bed for $600. At the same spot, a box of assorted Boy Scout items could be purchased for $10. 269-779-7434.

Denise McNabb of Mongo, Indiana, showed off a late 1800s feather pattern quilt that could grace your bed for $175. 260-367-1000.

Out & About

The Olympics have been exciting to watch. Every night after our walk, we try to catch up on the days events. Todd and I have been walking 3 miles every day, no matter the temperature or time. We just take breaks or walk a little slower and drink lots of water. The kids randomly join us at times. We both agree we feel much better since we started walking. We even have changed our food choices, and the kids have even gotten involved. My father (Bob) had a heart attack at a young age (48) and diabetes runs in Todds family, so we are trying to be pro-active.

Lots of events going on in the next few weeks. Be sure to keep checking the auction calendar and the upcoming events. There will be some tough decisions on which ones to attend. As we all know, there is only so many days in a week and the weekends are even shorter.

Great Finds Bring Buyers to the Centreville Show in July

Article & photos by Jack Kelly

Buying and selling antiques at Centreville is a family affair for many -- and for one teenager it started at age 5. "It's my parent's fault" chuckled 16-year-old Ariel Springborn of Decatur, Mich., while checking out a large box of collectible comic books, and purchasing several. She said she came to the July show to find some comics - and to assist in selling collectables in a nearby booth with her mother, aunt and grandmother.

Ariel's mom, Cindy Muir and aunt, Melody Swarhout and grandmother Chickie Morris displayed vintage toys, assorted antiques and more than 200 pieces of Pyrex glassware. "I just love Pyrex," said Aunt Melody who said the selection offered was priced from $8 to $100 each.

Another family, sisters Linda DeGroff and Stacy Cochard of Kendallville, Ind., filled several booths at the fairgrounds show. Catching lots of attention was an original green paint set of 4 metal deco style folding card table chairs that could seat guests at your home for $69. Halloween collectors checked out their U.S. Metal 6-inch-tall horn-nose jack-o-lantern tagged at $69. Linda said, "My obsessions are Christmas and Halloween items."

Still more glassware covered the tables of James Cooper of Grand Haven, Mich., who collects and sells Jadeite items. On display at the show was about five dozen examples priced from $6 to $175 each. Asked how many pieces he had in his own collection, he sighed and said, "I really don't have a clue."

"I fished it out of a dumpster behind an antique mall," said dealer Ron Staley of Delton, Mich., pointing to an unusual 24-inch-diameter saucer-shaped countertop brass contraption. The tag inside said it was made by V. Mueller & Co., Chicago, and was thought to be an early 1900s blood testing device. The "dumpster diving find" was priced at $95.

Cast iron cookware collectors were treated to "before and after" looks at the vintage pieces offered by Russ Wregglesworth of Buchanan, Mich. For example, the dealer showed an "as found" photo laying with a restored "The Favorite" 10-inch-diameter 1902 cast iron skillet made in a prison in Columbus, Ohio, and priced at $60. With each restored item, a "before photo" showed the cast iron pieces as Wregglesworth found them, rusty and pitted.

"You never know what that guy is going to bring," said one shopper walking into the multiple-booth display of Paul Funk, Funk's Junk, Waldron, Mich. And once again he didn't disappoint. Covering six long tables were 170 dolls from the 1920s to 1980s and priced from $20 to $50 each. "I bought an entire doll collection," Funk said with a smile, adding, "guess I'm in the doll business for a while."

Quilt collectors were treated to fine examples in two booths at the Centreville show. A finely detailed 1940s queen size multiple-circle pattern quilt that was "in excellent condition with never-washed original sewing pencil lines" was shown by Jeanne Rosie of Shipshewana, Ind. It could be taken home for $600.

Meanwhile, a late 1800s feather-pattern appliquéd 83-by 84-inch quilt was priced at $175 by dealer Denise McNabb of Mongo, Ind. The repeat Centreville dealer showed a business card stating, "Selling antiques since 1997."

Fine art filled the booth of Ervin Kimber of Fennville, Mich., who said he had "a two-story barnfull more at home." Stopping foot traffic was pair of papier mache' framed 20-by 40-inch Asian shadow puppets. The pair could grace your home for $325.

When the day ended, dealers reported sales numbers in the usual mix of "very good" to "just okay."

Show promoter Bob Zurko evaluated the day with a smile and said, "I think we're really turning the corner. Centreville is starting to look vibrant and healthy."

The next Centreville Antique Market is scheduled Aug. 14 at the St. Joseph County Fairgrounds at Centreville, Mich., just south of Kalamazoo. For more information call 715-526-9769 or www.zurkopromotions.com.

Sixteen-year-old Ariel Springborn of Decatur, MI, checks over the collectible comic books offered by Arnold Slusher of Cement City, Mich. The teen collector, who has been an antique dealer since age 5, was set up to sell nearby with her mother, aunt, and grandmother. Her Sheltie dog Popcorn sits quietly by her side. 269-753-9959.

An oddball early 1900s blood testing device that was "fished out of a dumpster behind an antique mall" was priced at $95 by dealer Ron Staley of Delton, MI. The dealer's daughter Annette checks over the large format camera for sale at his booth. 269-993-2116.

A 6" tall U.S. Metal horn-nose Halloween jack-o-lantern could be displayed on your shelf for $69. At the same spot, six original paint metal folding chairs could seat a party at your home for $69. applewood1982@gmail.com

Paul Funk of Funk's Junk in Waldron, MI holds up a sign in front of his display of 170 dolls for sale at the Centreville show. The dealer also offered pig collectables from his "personal collection." pdfunk@frontiernet.net

This beautifully restored The Favorite cast iron skillet was priced at $60 by Russ Wregglesworth of Buchanan, Mich., who offered "before" photos of his handsome goods. The 1930s Griswold #10 was said to be "for display only, not for sale."

Two papier mache' 20-by-40-inch shadow puppets could grace your home for $325. Dealer Ervin Kimber of Fennville, MI also offered a 12-inch-tall rosewood Asian goddess priced at $265.

Cookie Jar collectors checked out three different examples tagged, from left, at $75, $150 and $45. Dealer Bill Brown of Richland, Mich., also pointed out his Black & White advertising bookends that could hold your door for $65.

Long-time Centreville dealer James Cooper of Grand Haven, MI, displayed vintage glass household collectibles priced from $6 to $175 each - and a ninety different vintage brass hose nozzles priced at $4.00 and up.

An oddball combination of Waterford crystal priced at $25-$65 each were displayed near shelves of collectible beer cans priced at $20 per row by Darell Clay from Kalamazoo. 269-615-6379.

Dealer Bob Stanchfield offered an oddball mix of advertising items along with sterling silver Native American jewelry. A mint condition oyster advertising tin sold quickly at show opening. 734-417-6655.

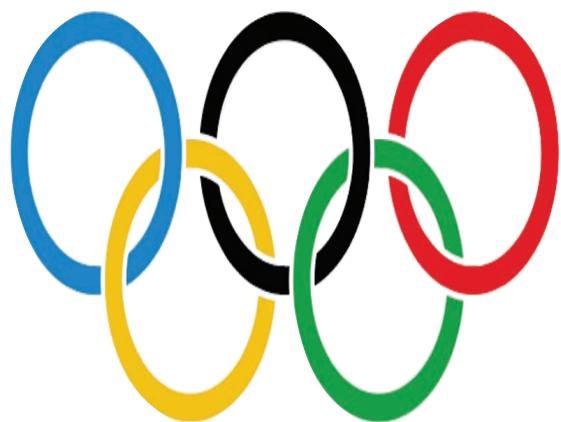

Ten year show veteran Jim Dykstra of Coldwater, MI, showed off two 1930s slag glass bedroom lamps, priced at $75 for the pair. He also pointed out an "unusual brass instrument" tagged $95.

Music from a vintage 1968 Zenith record player filled the fairgrounds from the booth of Deco Dreams and Desires. It could play records at your place for $150. At the same spot, you could take your choice of 1950s toy poodles priced from $6 to $50 each. www.facebook.com/decodreamsdesires/

Susi Chlebana, who set up with Terry Chebana of Wayland, MI, shows off a vintage floor lamp offered for $95 at the fairground show. 616-430-1428.

Wisconsin Pottery Association Holds 21st Year Pottery Show & Sale

Article by Jim Riordan (Wisconsin Pottery Association)

The Wisconsin Pottery Association (WPA) will hold its 21st annual Art Pottery Show and Sale on Saturday August 27th, 2016, 9-4 pm. This interesting and exciting event will be held at the Exhibition Hall, Alliant Energy Center, and Madison, Wisconsin.

All types of antique and collectible pottery, contemporary ceramics, dinnerware, stoneware, tile, figurines, and vintage items will be on sale. Fifty of the best Pottery dealers from across the Midwest will participate, as well as noted studio potters. Pottery examples for sale will be Roseville, Van Briggel, Fulper, Rookwood, Weller, McCoy and Red Wing along with many more. The dealers gather some of the best American and European pottery to bring to this annual sale, and the contemporary potters bring many items right out of the kiln!

Along with all of the pottery for purchase, pottery experts from the WPA and additional volunteers from the Iowa Art Pottery Association (IAPA) and the Minnesota Art Pottery Association (MAPA) will be available to help identify pottery pieces brought in by show attendees. (Maximum of two pottery pieces please). There is no charge for the identification.

In addition, Mary Pratt of Pratt Clay Studio will do a live pottery demonstration during the show at 1 pm. These demonstrations have been popular with show attendees.

Gazo Foudji was a Japanese-born artist who worked at the Weller Pottery before moving to Roseville (ca. 1905-1906) and creating the Fudji (pictured) and Fujiyama lines.

Roseville Crystalis, 1906, is highly sought after by collectors for its crystalline glazes and creative forms.

Roseville's Rosecraft Hexagon, 1925, was a simply shaped Art Deco line made in either brown or green, and more rarely, a glossy blue.

A green globe, modernistic shape.

Roseville Futura, 1928. Futura is an Art Deco line that was made in 78 different shapes and is one of the most popular lines among today's collectors.

Roseville Azurean vase, ca. 1902. This is blue version of Roseville's Rozane line, with hand painted decoration.

Roseville Egypto, 1905, in the form of an ancient Roman oil lamp.

Roseville Creamware "Good Night" candle holder. Roseville began making decaled Creamware utility ware by 1910 and continued making it at least through the 1920's if not longer.

Roseville Early Utility pitchers. Introduced around 1900 and popular for decades thereafter, Roseville made dozens of different pitchers. Some Roseville collectors specialize in pitchers alone!

Coffeepot from the Mock Orange line, first produced in 1950, typical of Roseville's late production style.

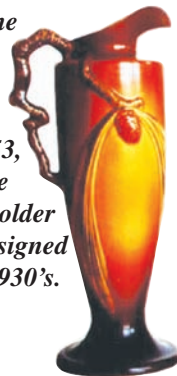

Roseville Early Utility pitchers.

Introduced around 1900 and popular for decades

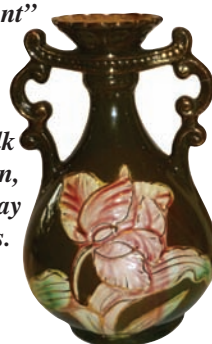

Gazo Foudji was a Japanese-born artist who worked at the Weller Pottery before moving to Roseville (ca. 1905-1906) and creating the Fudji (pictured) and Fujiyama lines.

A sleek blue Pine Cone "400 series" pitcher from 1953, and the smaller, older model designed in the 1930's.

Roseville "Vase Assortment" pieces were Roseville's earliest art pottery, beginning around 1896. The vases were sold in bulk to the A&P Grocery chain, where they were given away as premiums to customers.

Roseville Carnelian II, 1926. This line followed a line called Carnelian I and was produced in shades of red or green or a mix of red and green.

Roseville Carnelian II, 1926. This line followed a line called Carnelian I and was produced in shades of red or green or a mix of red and green.

Roseville Crocus planter, ca. 1904.

Roseville Rosecraft, 1921, also known at Florane when it appears in this tan color. The form of this vase foreshadows the art deco telescoping and saucer-like shapes that were perfected in the Futura line seven years later.

The Ceramic Arts Studio Collectors will hold their 22nd annual convention that weekend and information can be found at their web site www.cascollectors.com. They will also have an information booth set up at the Pottery Show. Many dealers at the show will have Ceramic Arts Studio pieces for sale!

Admission is $6, parking is $7 or free with the WPA show card, any clipped WPA advertisement, or download card from the website: www.wisconsinpottery.org. The Wisconsin Pottery Association meets the 2nd Tuesday 9 times per year - September through June at the Goodman Center in Madison Wisconsin. The group gets together about 6:30 pm and a presentation about pottery or related field starts at 7pm. Please see the WPA web site at www.wisconsinpottery.org for more information on meetings and membership.

We hope to see interested Pottery Collectors at the WPA Pottery Show/Sale on Saturday August 27th, 2016! We are proud to present our show and sale for the 21st consecutive year. Our first show occurred in August of 1995 at the Holiday Inn east in Madison WI. Betty Harrington, the designer of Ceramic Arts Studio Madison was the featured speaker. The WPA art pottery show and sale is a great opportunity to find just the piece you were looking for or to learn more about the many pottery items offered for sale!

Roseville Early Velvoss vase, ca. 1916. This line was unidentified as Roseville until collectors found a marked example and identified the shape numbers in a 1916 price guide in the 1990's.

Windsor, introduced by Roseville in 1931. This fern-decorated pattern was made in blue and rusty brown.

The Wisteria line, first produced in 1933, is highly valued among collectors today.

Cedarburg Maxwell Street Days Celebrates 50th Year!

Article & photos Cedarburg Maxwell Street

This event has been a Volunteer Fire Department Tradition since 1966 and the major fundraiser for our Department. Currently we have 4 Maxwell Street Days each year and all take place at our Firemen's Park - W65 N796 Washington Avenue, just a few blocks north of Cedarburg's historic district.

We have over 600 spaces available to be filled with antiques, collectibles, attic & basement treasures, crafters, produce, seasonal items, pottery, tools, sports, old toys, rummage, garage fines, family collections, vintage treasures, architectural items, farm items and much more! You will find over 100 volunteer members along with their family and friends helping to serve up food/beverages and assist you throughout the grounds. We try to have all spaces reserved prior to each of our events, but we will always keep a few spaces available prior to event for any new vendors. We are always looking for new quality vendors to join us for any event or for the entire year.

Our event opens to the public at 6am and vendors are asked to stay set-up until 2pm. Admission is FREE. There is adjacent and convenient parking to the north of grounds for $10, which is coordinated by our Cedarburg American Legion Post # 288. Event takes place rain or shine and sorry, no animals, fireworks, pornographic materials, weapons, takeoffs or counterfeit merchandise are permitted on our grounds during any of the events. It is always a great day of "Treasure Hunting" with family and friends of all ages.

The Cedarburg Volunteer Fire Department Members and their Families would like to thank you for supporting our Maxwell Street Day Fundraisers

New Owners Take Over The Long Running Minocqua Antique Show

Article by Nona Amour (Northstar Collective)

Northstar Collective is excited to announce their acquisition of the very successful Minocqua Antique Show. The show has been going for over 35 back to back years and has been a favorite of locals in trying to find that hard to find treasure.

Both Carol Zache and Judy Fuchsen of C & J Promotions are pleased to hand over the reins to their successful show to Nona Wilson the owner of Northstar. The previous owners will be enjoying the show for years to come with a relaxed and well deserved break from the hard work of show promoting. They both have a strong desire to remain connected to the community and you will be able to see them and their merchandise in future shows.

Northstar Collective will continue to have some of the wonderful dealers that the area has come to know and love. The show will also add a few new venues to the mix. Popular Americana items such as early advertising and store displays that have proven to be good investments and are considered the new artwork for your home. Repurposed antique furniture and early architectural items that are in demand in home decorating as well. More sporting, fishing and hunting items will also be introduced into the show. Formal and casual furniture, Folk & Fine Art, China, Silver, jewelry and Native American items will continue to be a part of the shows appeal. Nona adds that by diversifying the show we can appeal more to all ages creating a great experience for the whole family.

The show also benefits community charities such as scholarship funds, Special Olympics and Leyln Schmidt a local boy born with Anophthalmia a condition that renders you blind at birth. Leyln is still a toddler but the hope is to save up enough to buy him a seeing eye dog. We are glad to be a part of these endeavors for the community and the more successful the show becomes the more we can benefit some of these causes.

Northstar Collective also promotes a show in Oshkosh Wisconsin called the Antique Sporting and Advertising Show. It is held the first Friday and Sat in February at the Sunnyview Expo Center. That show is approaching 100 dealers and is well attended according to Nona.

Wilson encourages the public to bring in their treasures to sell and will continue to look for quality dealers for all their shows.

The upcoming show in Minocqua will be on Saturday, September 3rd & Sunday the 4th. The doors open at 9 am and close at 4pm both days. The event is held at Lakeland High School, 1 block west of Jct. Hwy.51 & Hwy 70 West. Admission is $5.00 and for the ages 13 and under are free. There will be a Food concession on site.
