Out & About

The snow has completely cleared and the snow fences are coming down. The farmers are on the move. They have been clearing out the trees from the edge of their fields making them larger. Last fall a lot of the farmers installed those fertilizer distribution hoses in the ground.

Brandon has been driving almost everyday. He eagerly volunteers for any trip to the store. So now he goes to the grocery store a lot with me. We always come home different ways but it gives us time to talk.

When Out and About this weekend, be sure to check out:

Domestic Violence, Divorce & The Personal Property Appraiser

We have all heard stories about domestic violence, but no one in the communities of Weston, Schofield, and Rothschild, WI were prepared for the harsh reality that recently took place on Wednesday, March 22nd. In the end, the result left one police officer, an attorney and two bystanders dead. The shootings took place at three locations.

When the media released information that the shooter was Hmong, several people were quick to pass their judgment, based on the shooter's race. It is unfortunate that a person can place blame based on a person's race or skin color. This senseless act had nothing to do with race. It was a case of domestic violence.

The attorney was representing the suspect's wife in a bitterly contested divorce action. The two bystanders had nothing to do with the case. It appears that they were just in the wrong place, at the wrong time. The police officer, who took an oath to protect and to serve, gave his life doing just that!

Nobody is immune to this growing problem in the United States. Domestic violence takes place everyday throughout this country. People of all ages and all races can be and are affected by it. Many people never give it a second thought until reality strikes. Since this incident took place, some attorneys have realized just how dangerous family law really is. They are now taking steps to increase their security.

Of all the appraisal assignments, dissolution of marriage is the most volatile situation that an appraiser can be put in. The problem is divorces can be nasty. The appraiser must be prepared for the parties to fight with a vengeance. What had been a union of two people based on love, has now become a separation based on anger, hate, and mistrust. As a personal property appraiser who specializes in divorce, I know first hand about the risks and dangers involved. There are precautions an appraiser can take that will reduce the odds of becoming the target of one of the parties.

Always remember, your task as an appraiser is to value the marital property as a basis for the court or the couple to use in dividing the property. You should never allow yourself to inflate or deflate a value merely to help one spouse that you feel is more right than the other one. Advocates are not what appraisers are. It should never matter to you what the other issues are in the case. Appraisals are supposed to be fair for both parties regardless.

I recommend that you never allow both parties to be together during the appraisal inspection. The risks of violence are significantly increased. Especially if there has been any form of domestic violence involved. Human behavior is one of the hardest things to predict. In one case, I had a knife pulled on me. In another case, I found myself in between a couple due to the anger that was escalating. Luckily, I was able to defuse the situation. Need more proof of why having both parties together is a bad idea? A couple years back, my wife, who is a dispatcher for the Sheriff's Department, called me upset, asking where I was. I told her in the office why? She went on to tell me, a woman had just called 911 to report her husband was strangling the appraiser. You never know how the parties are going to react, once they are together.

Domestic violence is a learned pattern of abusive behavior. It can take many forms. It's not always just physical. Abuse can be psychological, economic, emotional, verbal and even sexual. The statistics are staggering. While domestic violence is not associated with all divorces, the potential is always there. A good practice for an appraiser is to go online to Wisconsin Circuit Courts and check the type of divorce it is. Is it a stipulated divorce or is it a contested one? I have found there is less risk of violence in a stipulated divorce.

You should also check to see if there is any history of violence involving either party. If you discover there have been past incidents, always be prepared. Another thing to remember, when it comes to domestic violence, it is not always the man that is the abuser.

An appraiser must always use caution in a divorce assignment. They also need to be respectful and understanding. It is often an emotional rollercoaster for some. There are times where there is a lot of anger. If a party verbally lashes out at you, take a step back and imagine yourself in their shoes. It is a trying time for some. A divorce can take an emotional toll on a person. It's also expensive and affects them financially. Never lash back at the party. The situation could turn explosive in a heartbeat.

Do not go into a divorce situation thinking it can't happen to me, because it can. Do not make the assumption that you're safe because you have a concealed carry license. Nobody is invincible. Be sure to take steps to minimize your chances of becoming a victim.

Despite the dangers and risks involved in divorce appraising, there is nothing on Earth I would rather be doing. People have asked me how I became so good at appraising for divorce. I tell them, I can relate to the parties because 1) I have been through a divorce and have experienced the anger and the hurt. 2) My sister and I are domestic violence survivors.

Domestic violence is a growing problem. It can strike anyone at anytime. The results can be devastating. The recent shootings have changed many lives forever. I remember many times my mother, sister and I would run away with only the clothes on our backs. Many times we found ourselves hiding and sleeping in a car. We never knew if our step father would actually show up and make good on his threats. We were fortunate, we survived but there are many, many scars that do not show up on the surface.

Jerry Chuilli is a certified personal property appraiser and owner of Appraisals By Chuilli and Chuilli's Auction & Appraisal in Wittenberg. He has achieved the APPA (Advanced Personal Property Appraiser) designation. The APPA is the highest designation that a personal property appraiser can earn. Currently, there is less than 30 personal property appraiser's nationwide who hold this designation. For more information about divorce appraising visit appraisalsbychuilli.com.

Stunning Displays Light Up the 2017 Glass Show & Sale in Northlake, Illinois

Article & photos by Michelle Goltz

It is apparent when you walk into the hall that there are a lot of time and patience that go into setting up these delicate, stunning displays. Although I am not experienced in glassware, it was amazing to see and hear all those around me shopping and sharing their knowledge and passion.

When I grew up, there were glassware you didn't touch and rarely used and as I got older I somewhat understood. But after talking to one of the vendors, I have changed my mind. She encouraged her children and family members to touch the pieces and to use them at her home. She even has a 4 year old grandchild that goes and picks out her plates from the cabinet. Her thoughts are if you do not touch or use them how can one appreciate the piece or the story. The history of glass will die if we don't continue to educate and get the next generations to appreciate Depression ERA and Collectibles! Experience and feel the difference!

Upcoming events not to miss - GLASS SHOW & SALE July 15 - 16th Wellington High School, Wellington, Kansas with Educational Seminars and Displays. Also 2017 Collector's Market, LaGrange American Legion Hall, Sunday, April 20th & November 5th, 2017.

Grooved Ax from St. Charles County, MO, Brings $7,500 at Rainbow Traders Auction

Article & photos by Rainbow Traders

Dennis Arbeiter of Rainbow Traders said, "We are encouraged in these economic climates at the enthusiasm that continued to push Native American Indian art and relics, the items from our historic and ancient American past". Prices were strong throughout this auction, with excellent quality items crossing the block.

Mr. Paul J. Hendricks grew up in Indianapolis and started collection Native American & Precolumbian relics & paintings shortly after he graduated from college, enrolled in the Peace Corps and served in Venezuela. During a long career of teaching business and speech communications in the San Diego area, Mr. Hendricks continued to collect. His extensive collecting interests resulted in the establishment of his Museum in Metmora in 1987. Having decided to retire, Mr. Hendricks closed the museum and decided to share his assemblage with the collecting community after 50 years of having the thrill of acquiring & curating the unusual items.

Having retired from the medical profession in St. Louis, MO, Don & Diane Leahart decided to share their lifetime collection. Don has stated that it was always his intention to enjoy these items and then return the same to the collecting community at retirement. The Leahart assemblage ranges widely from local Missouri ancient arrowheads and axes, through Precolumbian, ancient and Southwestern contemporary pottery, as well as fine historic baskets.

The late William Horn was a well known Civil Engineer who worked on Harbors, Chicago rapid transit, the World Trade Center, grain elevators and bridges. A Navy Veteran who raised four fine children. William was always a collector of antiques, old firearms and Indian relics.

James H. McKinney was known to have always carried an arrowhead in his pocket. Beginning in the 1930's as a young man, he hunted the fields, streams and cave shelters of Maries Co., MO. Following his military service in the South Pacific in WWII, in which he earned a Bronze Star, as well as playing baseball for the U.S. Army's traveling team, Mr. McKinney returned home to farm and manage the local MFA Farmers Elevator. Although he helped raise six children, coached softball teams for many years, farmed crops and cattle, he continued to expand his relic hunting areas to include Osage, Franklin, Gasconade and other Central Southern Missouri counties. Jim enjoyed showing his collection to school children, and was a familiar presence at many Missouri Archaeological shows. Mr. McKinney was the recipient of several "Best of Show" and "Best Personal Find" awards at Missouri and Greater St. Louis Archaeological events over the years.

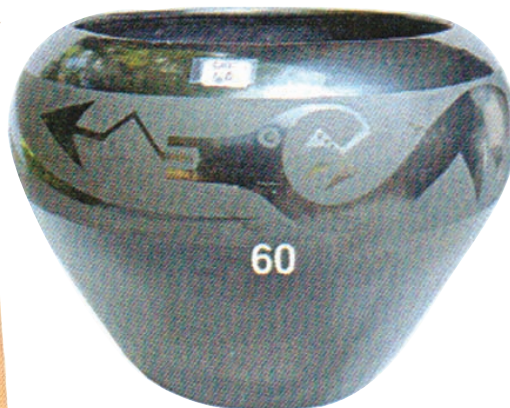

Since 1974, Rainbow Traders Auction Service has specialized in antiques, Native American art, real estate and complete estate dispersal. We can be reached at 618-372-0248 and be sure to visit our website at: rainbowtradersauction.com.

Article by Tammy Green

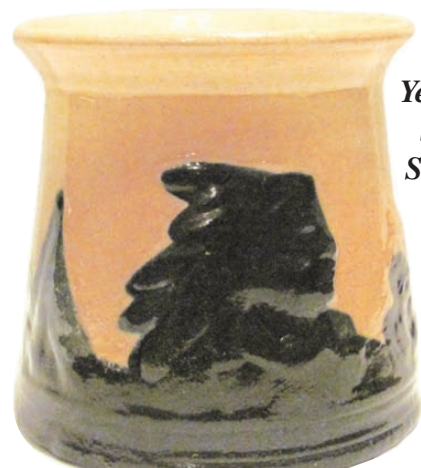

In June 2015 at the 34th Annual convention, members of the Blue & White Pottery Club voted to merge their club with the Old Sleepy Eye Collectors Club. Then in July at the 40th annual convention of the Old Sleepy Eye Collectors Club, those members voted to join the Blue & White Pottery Club. This merge took place because of modern day trends to get bigger and better with more recognition of the beautiful items that both clubs represent to avid collectors of history.

The Embassy Suites in East Peoria, Illinois was the setting for the 1st Annual BWPOSECC Convention which was held in June 2016. With over 175 members attending convention from all over the United States, members enjoyed a variety of convention activities which included Room Sales; an Antique Show & Sale; Displays; Fun Auction; Seminar; Club Auction; & Banquet.

Monmouth Pottery Monk Bank brought $3,000.

With the merge of these two clubs, the annual club auction had an outstanding auction with exceptional and rare pieces offered. There were 33 "premiere" pieces that sold for $48,325.00 and 171 "Regular" auction pieces that sold for $28,261.00 for a Yellow & Blue Sleepy Eye Sugar sold at $1,900.

One Gallon Whites Utica Polar Bear Cooler brought $2,000.

Rare Sleepy Eye Trivet brought $2,800.

Rare Whites Utica Sundial sold for $4,000.

grand total and record setting auction total in the (BWP) club's history of $76,586.00.

Some of the prices realized were a Western Stoneware Salesman Sample Bird Bath that brought $3,250., Blue & White Stoneware Sleepy Eye Pitcher sold for $3,000., Rare Sleepy Eye Trivet brought $2,800., a Yellow & Blue Sleepy Eye Sugar sold at $1,900., a One Gallon Whites Utica Polar Bear Cooler brought $2,000., Rare Whites Utica Sundial sold for $4,000., a Monmouth Pottery Monk Humidor sold at $5,000., & a Monmouth Pottery Monk Bank brought $3,000. just to mention a few. There was a wide variety of items available for sale at the club auction from Blue & White Stoneware to Sleepy Eye to Whites Utica, Monmouth Pottery, Western Stoneware, & Red Wing.

Monmouth Pottery Monk Humidor sold at $5,000.

This years convention will be held at the Embassy Suites in East Peoria, Illinois June 8-10. Check out the website for more information blueandwhitepottery.org

You will find pictures from last years convention along with this years convention agenda & convention registration form. If you not currently a member & would like to join, an annual membership is $20.00 for the first person in a household, $10.00 for the second, and children under the age of 12 are free. Membership includes 4 newsletters throughout the year.

Some of the prices realized were a Western Stoneware Salesman Sample Bird Bath that brought $3,250.

Hearthstone Historic House Museum

20th Annual Appleton Antique Show & Sale, April 8th & 9th

Article & photos by Cheryl Kaczmarek
(Friends of Hearthstone)

Hearthstone Historic House Museum.

Library, facing looking south, Cherry woodwork, fireplace burned coal, electroliner had electrical wiring and gas jets.

Library, original Thomas Edison phonograph.

Front parlor, Birdseye maple fireplace with Minton tiles, Woodcraver.

Grand hallway.

Hearthstone Historic House Museum is the world's first home lighted with hydro-electricity using a Thomas Edison system. The Friends of Hearthstone support the preservation of this historically significant home and provide tours, exhibits and special events to share its unique history with the public.

This year's 20th Annual Appleton Antique Show & Sale will be held Saturday, April 8th from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, April 9th from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $6 and good both days of the event. Children under 16 are free. The event will be held at the Tri-County Ice Arena, 700 E. Shady Lane, Neenah, WI just off of the Prospect Street Exit on Hwy 41. Parking is free.

More than 35 of the Midwest's best dealers will be setting up at the show to sell high-quality antiques displayed beautifully in booths throughout the Ice Arena. Attendees will be able to walk the floor and purchase from an excellent selection of furniture, decor and country primitive antiques for home and garden; fine antique and vintage jewelry; sterling, crystal, porcelain and china including Flow Blue; art, pottery, quilts, textiles, vintage clothing, maps and prints, advertising, folk art, holiday, dolls, toys, sports memorabilia, clocks, tools, books, postcards, sheet music and more.

A wide variety of eras and styles will be represented including Civil War, country primitives, Victorian, Edwardian (think Downton Abbey), art nouveau, art deco, mission and mid-century modern. As always, there will be something for every taste and budget.

"Hearthstone's mission is to 'illuminate' history, culture and innovation in a beautiful 1880's era Victorian mansion built by Henry Rogers, one of Wisconsin's early entrepreneurs," stated Cheryl Kaczmarek, president of the Hearthstone board of directors. The Friends of Hearthstone continue to put on this wonderful and worthwhile Fox Cities event and use the proceeds to provide much needed funds for operation of the museum. It is a good fit for us and our mission, "The show dovetails nicely with the emphasis Hearthstone and its volunteers place on preserving the past and appreciating history."

Hearthstone, a beautiful Victorian house, has a unique spot in history, being the first residence in the world to have electricity from a central hydro-electric source using an Edison system. The electric lights were turned on in September 1882, shortly after the house was built, and the original light fixtures, Thomas Edison switches and wiring are still in the house. In addition to electricity, the house boasted other innovations like central heat, indoor plumbing and a call annunciator system.

Hearthstone is a non-profit organization operated entirely by volunteers, who assume responsibility for everything from renovations to program planning, historical research to fundraising. Proceeds from the antique show will help Hearthstone Historic House Museum continue its educational tours and programming, its restoration and maintenance efforts, and help ensure that this important piece of Wisconsin history has a strong, relevant future.

Hearthstone is open for tours from Thursday to Sunday, including the weekend of the antique show. See the website for hours at HearthstoneMuseum.org. Volunteers have researched and worked diligently to restore the grand Victorian residence to its 1880s appearance, complete with period furnishings.

For more details, a complete list of the dealers who will be participating in the show and to learn more about Hearthstone Historic House Museum, visit www.HearthstoneMuseum.org.

Pure & Simple Antique Show Puts A Grin On The Faces Of Buyers And Sellers

Article & Photos by Marti Korba
(The Old Shed - Pure & Simple Antique Show)

Smiles say a lot about the Pure and Simple Antique Show. Known for a strong selection of antiques, primitives and Americana offered, the event tends to put a grin on the faces of buyers and sellers.

Marti Korba, who promotes the show with her husband, Mike, has seen it from the start. "Everybody's smiling," she said.

Located in central Indiana, about an hour north of Indianapolis, Pure and Simple has earned a reputation for the quality of the antiques offered and the integrity of the dealers selling those goods. This year's show will be no exception.

The 2017 edition will feature a full house of 68 dealers from 12 states, with sellers coming from as far away as New York, Texas, Alabama, Nebraska and Virginia. In addition to those who have been with the event for years, Pure and Simple will feature a few new faces -- well-known sellers whose merchandise will enhance the 18th- and 19th-century material offered.

Mike and Marti Korba debuted Pure and Simple in 2010 as a way to bring desirable antiques to the marketplace. The show quickly became a must-do event, both for the dealers who set up and for customers who shop.

Since that first outing, Mrs. Korba has credited the show's dealers for Pure and Simple's success. Those sellers not only bring top-notch goods in a variety of price ranges, but also have a good eye for displaying that material.

"Everybody brings their best, and they're proud of what they're selling," she said. "It's a beautiful show." The end result: smiles all around.

Show hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Admission is $7. Parking is free. The Kokomo Event Center is located at 1500 N. Reed Rd. (also known as Indiana State Road 931). The site is easily accessible from I-69, I-465, I-65 and U.S. 30.

For more information, phone Mike and Marti Korba at (765) 437-6849 or visit www.theoldshed.com/pure-simple. In addition to information about the show, the website features a gallery of booth shots from last year.

Rare Vintage Miniature Decoy Carvings to be featured in Member Display during the 52nd Annual North American Vintage Decoy & Sporting Collectibles Show in St. Charles, IL

Article & photos by Jeff Seregny
 (Midwest Decoy Collectors Association)

This year's Member Display at the 52nd Annual North American Vintage Decoy and Sporting Collectibles Show will go small with an exhibit of the miniature decoy carvings of many of the Midwest's most highly regarded makers of full-size working decoys. While the focus of these early makers' efforts was certainly decoys designed to lure ducks to the water, many of these folk artists also made smaller versions of these working birds as gifts for family or to simply sell. Working with a smaller form allowed these men to stretch their creativity resulting in many unique and truly beautiful pieces. Attendees at this year's show will see works by makers such as Charles Perdew and Charles Walker from Illinois; Tom Schroeder and Ben Schmidt from Michigan, and John Tax from Minnesota, and many, many more. This display is just part of a five day show that features a number of activities that provides something for anyone who has an interest in truly American folk art.

ALL EVENTS OPEN TO PUBLIC

April 25-27: Room-to-Room Trading (All Day)

April 27 -28: 11:00am Guyette and Deeter Decoy Auction

April 27-28: National Call Makers and

Antiques & Appraising School Releases Data On Top Selling Items

Antiques
Collectibles

Rising
Trends

The latest results from the Asheford Institute Of Antiques survey of buying trends within the antiques and collectibles community were recently published online this past week by the school's Research & Polling Department.

After conducting similar surveys over the past five years, the internationally recognized home-study school on antiques, collectibles and appraising, released its latest trending data from the antiques marketplace for the 2016 year. The survey, which concentrated on compiling and grouping information related to customers buying habits over a twelve month period, was brought back this year after a strong response on the school's website from readers requesting updates from previous surveys, said current Director of the Institute, Charles Green. He went on to note that there were some interesting differences between the results from this poll, and those from previous years. "We've made our questionnaire sharper, and more specific, as well as bringing the participant base up to over 1,200 respondents, but the questions are still essentially the same," said Green, "even though the answers are quite different."

Carlee Jackson, the school's public relations director agreed with Mr. Green's assessment, and stated that the main goal of this year's survey was to once again measure the interest in current trends of antiques and collectibles, based on actual sales results and requests for specific items.

She noted that while the survey was informal in nature, and not predicated on scientific formulas, the results were still quite compelling when viewed in their entirety. "What we're seeing is a strong change in direction when it comes to certain areas of the decorative arts..." said Jackson, "It's not just Mid-century modern that's moving, but a number of other areas that are also making up ground." Jackson went on to note that interest in 1960's and 70's collectibles, particularly space and Star Wars related items, had also risen sharply as well. "There's no doubt in my mind that these are the new younger collectors that we're seeing today," said Carlee. "They're the one's who are really beginning to drive the industry forward."

Aside from the popularity of Mid-century modern furniture, many of the younger dealers from the survey also noted that literally anything twentieth-century, from brutalist metal sculptures to lesser known painters had also become increasingly sought after by both dealers and collectors. "We're in a virtual bidding war every time something from this era comes up," said Shannon Smith, a young east coast dealer. "Honestly, sometimes I wonder if it's worth all the fuss!"

Older dealers seemed to echo a similar sentiment, but indicated that there were other areas of the market that were beginning to show signs of renewed interest, particularly in the area of Greek and Egyptian revival styles - especially when done in stone and marble. Claude Paquin, a longtime dealer from Quebec, said some of his Victorian marble-top side tables, which hadn't moved in years, were suddenly flying out the door. "Who knows," said Paquin, "...maybe it's the beginning of something old!"

For readers wanting to view the full results of the Institute's survey, you can find them online at the school's Student News page at: <http://www.asheford.com/2016-survey-results.html>
