W. Yoder Auction Holds Fantastic Sale of Taxidermy, Paintings, Antiques, Sporting & More

Article & photos by W. Yoder Auctions

On Friday, July 7th, W. Yoder Auctions held a great sale for a collection that came out of a multi-million dollar home in Green Bay, Wisconsin. We had well over 100 in house bidders & 150 online bidders. People from all over the country gathered on this day to bid live in house, online, over the phone and leave absentee bids. In house was at "standing room only" shortly after the auction had begun at 9 a.m. that day.

Out & About College Bound

Well the day is here. We are college bound with Mekenzy at 5am on Thursday. She just got new tires and an oil change. So, her car will be ready for the long trips home.

Although we do not expect to see her until Thanksgiving, unless Todd and I go up for homecoming.

Tia's move in day is next week. Although they are both very ready for college, we know there will be days they will be homesick.

Many miles will be occurred on all of our vehicles.

Alaskan Brown Bear Mount Brings Over $3,000 at W. Yoder Auctions in July

Article & Photos by W. Yoder Auctions

The auction was held at W. Yoder Auction Center located in Wautoma, WI. Items up for bids that day included taxidermy animal mounts, both full body & shoulder, oil on canvas by Pal Fried & others, prints, antiques and many collectibles including boxing, sporting, hunting and fishing.

Our lead auctioneer for the day was Wayne Yoder Jr. with Rudy Hershberger switching back and forth. We had a full staff of people working as clerks, online platform, cashiers, ringers, as well as security.

In house buyers came from Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa & Indiana. Online bidders represented Texas, California, Florida, Kansas, Washington, New York & Massachusetts.

Bidders were especially interested in the full stand up body mounts of a brown bear & Grizzly bear, Muskox, alligator, and two 10 points bucks with locked antlers. And even though prices were strong throughout the auction, there was a bargain or two to be had, like a full body mount alligator that went for $750 (plus 10% buyers fee).

W. Yoder Auction, LLC was founded by Wayne Yoder Jr. in 1999, and has been a member of the National Auctioneers Association since 2002. Since opening, W. Yoder Auctions has been dedicated to staying on top of the most technologically advanced system to provide our customers with a smooth auction experience. We want everyone who comes to our auctions to have the most positive experience possible, and that is why we believe in having fun at our auctions.

We auction off estates, specialty collections, real estate, livestock, farm equipment, and a variety of antiques; including antique toys, cars, salesman samples and signs. Give us a call at 920-787-5549 or 920-295-2644 and be sure to visit our website: wyoderauction.com and see firsthand the upcoming auction in Wautoma, Wisconsin and other areas!

“TOY STORY” - The Marshall Version

The extraordinary toy collection of Alan and Connie Marshall is hard to put into words. Looking at over 40 years of collecting is hard to imagine. You can spend hours just looking at them, oh but for a real treat - wind them up. There are airplanes that fly, Jalopy's that drive, dancers that dance, boxers that box, pool players, ping pong players, walkers, dogs that chase cats, cats that chase dogs, hundreds of them, the next more fun than the last.

detail of the people.

Alan and Connie never sold any toys, they simply collected. They attended toy shows, antique shows, flea markets, and auctions, primarily in the Midwest and in the last 10 years were regulars at online toy auctions. They purchased from Bertoia, and a host of auction houses. She mentioned a few favorite shows like Smokehouse Square in Amana, Iowa, the Boys and Girls Club show in Appleton, All The WADA (Wisconsin Antique Dealers Association) shows, St. Charles, and Ann Arbor Michigan, but they would go anywhere that their toy hunting adventure took them.

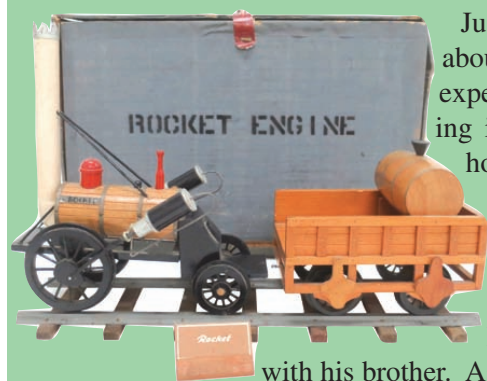

The Marshall's incredible collection spans from the early 1900's to the 1960's with a main emphasis being pre 1940. The collection boasts over 400 pieces and includes a broad range of interests including several Popeyes, The Lil Abner band, The Merry Makers Band, Howdy Doody, Amos and Andy, Robots, Rockets, Lehmann's Balty Mule, and the Toonerville Trolley. There are also historical Black Americana Toys like Jazzbo Jim, Dapper Dan and Poor Pete, many circus and carnival toys, and some larger scale toys like race tracks, roller coasters, flying planes, Ferris wheels and more, so much more.

Pick up a Toy reference book with vintage windup toys and take a look at some of their featured toys, you'll find many in this collection.

Alan and Connie were married for 51 years. They met, married, and lived in Whitewater Wisconsin. During the first 10 years of marriage, the children were young and money was tight so they didn't collect. But once it began, it was a passion they both would share. They soon loved to learn about the toys, their makers, and their references to the history behind them. They presented displays for the Whitewater historical society events and loved to share their knowledge of toy collecting with others.

Just listening to Connie talk about the collection and the experiences they had collecting is a pleasure. You can sense how special it was for the two of them to share together. Connie thought that part of Alan's passion for toys came from his early years. His family didn't have much money and he didn't have many toys, he simply shared a used bike and a wagon with his brother. As an adult he developed an interest in them, enjoying the variety and fun of each.

Alan's first toy was an Amos and Andy Fresh Air Taxi that he purchased with his youngest daughter at the Monroe Auction in Wisconsin, all the way home his daughter kept asking "how are we going to tell mom how much we spent" - Alan's approach was that they "just wouldn't tell her", but she never asked and it didn't matter - so began a passion that would continue for the next 40 years.

When people would look at their vast collection, Alan would often be asked what his favorite toy was - his response would be that "He loved them all". He loved to get them out for the grandchildren and wind them up.

Alan passed away suddenly this past year, which is why the collection is being offered at auction.

Connie had trouble listing a favorite toy, but when pressed mentioned the super German made Ferris Wheel, with special meaning as it is the last toy that Alan and her purchased together. They both loved the color and the Connie smiled when she told us that while their friends went on cruises, they went to toy shows and bought toys. At the shows Connie would walk ahead and scout the tables to find the toys of interest and Alan would do the purchasing. He didn't barter much believing that both buyer and seller should feel good after the sale. And he usually knew right away if he wanted it.

One of the funniest stories that Connie shared with us was of an Indian toy that Alan purchased. It was called Crazy Indian and in Connie's opinion wasn't very attractive or appropriate. She asked Alan "why did you purchase that thing", but Alan liked it because of its historical significance. The toy was pictured at one time in the Antique Toy World magazine, but Connie still thought "it was awful". All of the toys in their collection were nicely displayed in display cases - However Connie made sure that The Crazy Indian spent most of its time in a drawer.

This was probably the most fun we've ever had setting up an online auction. When we put the catalog together, the toys went from a photo station to a test and video station and ultimately to cataloging. Winding them up and seeing them move was so interesting - It seems like Todd must of said "oh this is my favorite" 50 or 60 times! At which time, everyone would gather and watch the toy in action.

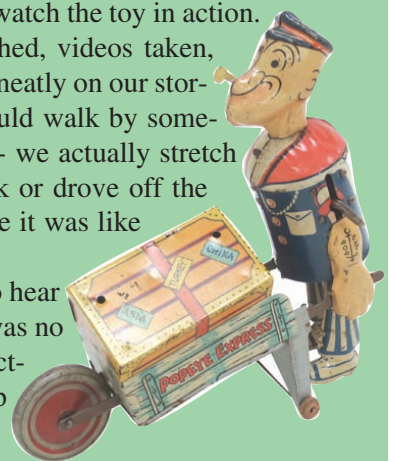

Once they had been photographed, videos taken, and cataloged, we would place them neatly on our storage racks. It was funny how you would walk by sometimes and someone would be buzzing, or moving - we actually stretch wrapped all the shelves so no one went for a walk or drove off the edge. We often wondered if when we weren't there it was like Toy Story and they were all playing.

As with most great collections, it is fascinating to hear the stories and history behind the collection. This was no exception, listening to Connie talk about collecting was wonderful and made this special group of toys even more special.

Bailey's Honor is thrilled to present this auction to the public. This auction took several weeks to catalog, photograph and video with over 4,000 photos and 320 videos being taken for the online auction.

We would like to thank Connie Marshall with whom it has been such a pleasure to work, for the opportunity to present their fantastic collection for auction. We have done our very best to present the auction in a way that She and Alan would of liked.

If you have an interest in vintage toys, you will love to browse the catalog, photos and enjoy the videos of this amazing collection. This auction is currently online and ends September 7th. You can find details at baileyshonor.com, follow the event on Facebook, and/or see our ad in next week's Auction Action News.
