Great Finds at St. Mary of the Hill Parish Flea Market

Article & photos by Michelle Goltz

On Sunday, July 30th, I attended the 28th Annual Antique & Flea market sponsored by St. Mary of the Hill Parish held on site at the beautiful Holy Hill grounds. The parish is located approximately 20 miles northwest of Milwaukee, making it a great place to spend the day! With 250 vendors, you will be sure to find some great stuff to take home.

This old wagon is originally from La Courneuve, a commune within the city of Seine-Saint Denis, France, which is located 8.3 km from the center of Paris. Children walked along the streets pulling these wagons during local holiday parades. Most recently, it belonged to the mother of a young French girl who married an American boy living in France. Eventually, the whole family moved to Miami and brought this with them, priced at $40. General Store Antique Mall, Lynne Diefenbach, dbach440@gmial.com

Out & About

Our thoughts and prayers go out to everyone that is dealing with all of the current events in the news. It seems there is so much going on in the news that listening to the events on the radio on my way in and home makes me sad. I opened my utilities bill and read the newsletter, which put a smile on my face. Our local Shawano Municipal Utilities linemen were among many to help Florida after hurricane Irma. They worked 16 hour days along with the many other people to help with the damage of the hurricane. I was so proud my hometown helped provide assistance in their recovery. We want to say "Thank You" to everyone who has been taking the time out of their lives to help with all of these distressing news events.

Brandon had his homecoming this past weekend. Although he said they lost their Friday night football game, the crowd made it fun. On Saturday was their dance. He went with a group of friends, but escorted Ashley as his date. They went to dinner and both ordered shrimp alfredo and dessert. I think now that he can drive it was more enjoyable. He did comment to his sisters that the dancing was not for him, the floor was too crowded.

The American Bar Lip Decanter- Form and Function

By Bill Morrison

The cultural history of material objects can reflect events and industrial processes in unexpected and interesting ways. They were often created to cater to specific social trends or phenomena, became part of the fabric of everyday life, but then disappeared almost as quickly as they appeared, to be replaced in turn by improved versions and styles.

The bar lip decanter is one such object, and its history offers a fascinating glimpse of the social and economic development of America's first 100 years, as well as the evolution of glass manufacturing in this country. It appears that the bar lip decanter was an exclusively American form. While catalog illustrations confirm that they were manufactured elsewhere, foreign-made examples appear to have been specifically made for export to the US, as bar lip decanters do not appear to have been used elsewhere in the world.

The 1830s witnessed radical changes in the interior design of bars and saloons. The traditional layout had placed the keeper "behind bars," in a caged area with an opening to the taproom, to protect him and his inventory from unruly customers. However, as bars became more open, the ironwork disappeared and shelves were fitted to a wall behind the tender's back for displaying his range of liquors.

Bars and saloons continued to store large quantities of liquor in barrels, but a means was required to house liquor at the counter in a manner that helped project a suitably refined image. Pottery stoneware jugs were old fashioned and suffered practical disadvantages.

By 1845 new-style city bars had begun to resemble their modern descendants, fitted with elegant trappings and comfortable furniture, intended to attract more discerning customers than old-fashioned saloons.

Newspapers began to describe some as "drinking palaces," with long rows of decanters behind the bar. On the other hand, sleazy bars and saloons were referred to as "barrel shops" because they still poured directly from barrels, not decanters.

With most liquor during the period remaining colorless, sophisticated establishments would have required decanters of differing shapes, sizes and designs to assist the bar tender in identifying specific brands. Blown molded and engraved bar lip decanters first appeared between 1830-1840 to meet this specific need.

By the late 1850s the blown decanters were being replaced by pressed versions in numerous patterns and sizes.

The bar lip decanter enjoyed a heyday spanning just 45 years, between circa 1830-75, during which decanters in countless patterns, shapes and sizes, were being manufactured by dozens of American glass houses. Two factors, one technical, one sociological, combined to cause its ultimate demise.

The first technological advance was the development of lime-based glass, which was around sixty-percent cheaper to produce than lead-based equivalents. The increased workability of lime glass allowed more efficient manufacturing methods and encouraged the introduction of cheap, labeled bottles.

The associated cultural change was rapid "nationalization" of American drinking preferences. Soldiers who had traveled the country during the Civil War returned home having newly acquired tastes for particular brands that had previously been unknown in their hometown or state. The smoother and more flavorful liquors developed by some distillers, notably in the south and east, proved particularly popular. Early Times (1860) and Jack Daniels (1866) are only two of several brands established at the time of the civil war and reconstruction. Bar owners were quick to recognize the commercial potential that "added value" brands brought to their business, and the explosive expansion of the railroads provided the routes of national distribution.

Advances in bottle-making technology encouraged the manufacture and the distribution of new "branded bottles" embossed with the type of the liquor, or branded and decorated with logos identified with specific brands. The first "bar bottles" appeared in the McKee catalog of 1871, and within four years bar lip decanters had all but disappeared from glass catalogs.

Bitters-sized decanters survived longer as they were adapted for use as sauce bottles, with examples illustrated in catalogs into the early part of the 20th century.

There were vendors all over the property showcasing their unique antiques, refurbished items, skills and knowledge as well as good food. You name it they had it! The American Society of Military Insignia Collectors

The American Society of Military Insignia Collectors, commonly known as ASMIC, is one of the oldest and largest organizations of military insignia collectors in the world. Founded in 1937 by a small group of enthusiastic collectors, it is chartered under Ohio law and recognized as non-profit 501 (c) (3) organization. The Society is "home" today to 2,000 dedicated collectors in the United States and foreign nations. Whether an individual is an experienced or beginning collector shoulder sleeve and distinctive unit insignia (patches and DIs), rank insignia, wings, decorations and awards (medals), elite forces emblems, cap badges, specialty markings, or of simply information on heraldry and the symbolism of heraldic devices, membership in ASMIC has many advantages.

ASMIC publishes a quarterly journal entitled The Trading Post and a Newsletter. The Trading Post contains a wealth of information on all aspects of U. S. and foreign military insignia. It includes articles from members, illustrations of old and new emblems as well as an occasional color section depicting American or foreign insignia. Unidentified Insignia are covered in a separate column in The Trading Post

The Newsletter brings word of insignia and dress items for trade or sale via classified and display ads. Society members rely on the Newsletter to advertise for insignia they wish to include in their collections and for announcements of regional and national insignia and militaria shows.

The ASMIC Reference Library contains almost 1000 items available for loan to members. These publications range from back issues of The Trading Post to major reference works published by our members and other militaria experts. The Library also includes many journals from other militaria societies for use by our members

Over the years, ASMIC has produced more than 20,000 black and white line drawings of military insignia, along with detailed descriptions of the insignia and known variations. Most of these drawings are available in our Distinctive Insignia or Cloth Patch catalogs, available to the general public and, at a discounted price, to ASMIC members.

To join ASMIC, visit their website: www.asmic.org

40,000 Collecting Clubs: Their Role in Collectibles Industry

We have had requests for the listing of all the various ways that collecting groups support their membership... and all collectors. We display this at ACC information booths and now have it available on our website.

See: <http://Collectors.org/ACC/Library/>

New Book Authored by ACC Co-founder

If you like antique automobiles, are interested in the early U.S. highways and byways, or enjoy presidential campaigns and the political artifacts they generate, this is all rolled up in one new book authored by Larry Krug, one of the founders of the Association of Collecting Clubs.

Entitled, "The Coolidge-Dawes Lincoln Tour 1924," the book is the story of the political caravan promoting the presidential campaign of Calvin Coolidge and his running mate, Charles G. Dawes. The book is compiled from eyewitness accounts. It was documented by E. A. Seidel, who drove the lead vehicle - a REO Speedwagon - and from newspaper accounts along the route, all illustrated with vintage photographs and political artifacts. Starting in Coolidge's hometown of Plymouth, Vermont, the caravan wound its way down to New York City, then followed the Lincoln Highway across the country to San Francisco, then along the Pacific Coast.

Over five million people turned out to witness the caravan as it rolled along 6,500 miles, much of it still unpaved, ranging from dirt in good weather to mud in bad weather, and involving over 100,000 vehicles! Along the way local bands played, horns honked, most of the cars were decorated in red, white and blue, and two million campaign buttons were distributed.

Civil War veterans who had voted for Abraham Lincoln were invited to sign a roster at the various stops and they turned out by the hundreds. National GOP dignitaries provided the rhetoric at the stops, making over 400 speeches promoting the re-election of Coolidge. The newspaper press along the route loved the event, proclaiming it the largest continuous procession of any kind in all history.

Krug has been a member of the Calvin Coolidge Memorial Foundation in Plymouth, Vermont, for over 30 years and assembled the broadest private collection of Coolidge political memorabilia in the country. The book was published by Schiffer Publishing. For more information or to order contact: info@Amres.com or go to the website: <http://CoolidgeDawesLincolnTour.com>

What's Fascinating About Collecting Is That Virtually Anything Is Collectable Nothing Should Surprise You, But It Will!

Article & Photos by Jim Stephenson

I'm betting most of the readers of Auction Action Antique News were never at a loss for something to do in their youth. I, for one, had boxes and bags of collectables in my closet. My grandmother, with me in tow, would walk plowed fields in the spring looking for sundry items that, for lack of any description, were just neat in my eyes. Rocks, pottery shards, arrowheads, bottle tops, china, and occasional round things filled my pockets for the transport home. A few hours of scouring yielded a few dozen artifacts. After a soak and scrub, they were amazing to look at, hold, and sense the history. I was hooked and have been walking plowed fields ever since. Only after my grandmother passed away did I learn that she had planted a few seeds in those fields. Little did I know she led me to those treasures stepping over the seeds so I would know the excitement of a find. She showered me with praise for having good eyes to spot an arrowhead or pottery shard on a clump. She knew that it was important that the time I spent scouring those fields had a more important meaning than a walk in the dirt. I've been walking in dirt for decades. Never bored, the hours go by in anticipation of the next 'find'.

Today, or any day in 2017, might be a good moment to mention that as much as you, who are most likely collectors of something, would be hard pressed to find a youngster in your neighborhood willing to lay down his phone to walk in dirt for a few hours. I was an educator for 33 years and at the beginning of the year I would have my students fill out a form so that I might know a little about them. I asked nothing personal, but I did ask if they had a hobby or collected anything. Some did, but those that did usually followed a parent passion. Our schools keep them so busy with academics and athletics, and that along with their 'screen time', leaves most of them with little extra time for pursuing a hobby.

All genre of collectables have a social history which makes them fascinating and uniquely fitted 'to-each-his-own'. Those of us who collect will preserve collecting, like my grandmother, you might sense a responsibility to 'teach' collecting, unless, of course, you consider anything beyond bare life giving necessities as 'junk', or 'clutter'. A personal friend and proprietor of a successful antique shop, when asked what he collects, commented "Nothing, no attachments, I just like selling." Collectors care for their collectables and are meticulous organizers.

What's fascinating about collecting is that virtually anything is collectable. Nothing should surprise you, but it will! Attending an auction or collectables show is a great place to learn. As much as I'm lured to an event because of my own passion, marbles, I become immersed in the unbridled atmosphere.

You may know your hobby or collectables well, but it could happen that items pop up from time-to-time that will beg to stump the best of us. It might be helpful to have a pricing guide in your pocket, or as we know, it can be found on your cell phone quickly, but a living experienced source of information speeds the immediate need to know what you want to spend your hard earned resources on

There is one great way to assure you know as much as possible about your collectables. Join a club! Share with members that know far more than you do. For your consideration, the Badger Marble Club (Madison) will host its 20th marble show on October 27, 28 (room showings) and the show on the 29th. It will be held in Madison, WI. at Howard Johnson's Plaza Hotel, 3041 E. Washington Ave. Additionally, our club meets 4 or 5 times a year to keep members informed of the trends and special events.

We are fortunate to have members who are some of the most knowledgeable and enthusiastic collectors in the mid-west (and beyond!). To get the most out of our show, visit collectors rooms anytime Friday and Saturday. Rooms are open for you to visit and learn more about the hobby. Collecting marbles is our passion, but the friendships sustain our enthusiasm.

For more information regarding the show contact Bill Bass at 608-723-6138 or email IBMARBLS@PCII.NET or Jim Stephenson at 608-225-1226 or email JSWILDNS@TDS.NET

THE CHICAGO TOY SHOW

“An Antique/Collectible Doll & Toy Show”

Article & Photos by Diana Tabin
(Chicago Toy Show Antique World Shows)

The Chicago Toy Show features three enormous exhibit halls filled with toys: East, West, and Exhibit A, backed by two more exhibit halls with more toys: Trades North and Trades South. The show also presents two Doll Houses: The Atrium and Exhibit A Kitchen, as well as random booths displaying dolls in the toy buildings. This event presents seven buildings with over 600 exhibitors, and is the largest toy show combined with the largest doll show in the world. Yes, the largest in the world! Featuring the finest collectibles in today's market, this is truly a spectacular event!

Walk from building to building and be amazed at the quality and range of treasures available. Our exhibitors feature the unusual, the rare, and the desirable in every collectible toy and doll category. The most precious highlights in collections all over the country have been found at this show.

Toy collecting is not about barter and price and profit; it is about a fascination of the infinite items in the hobby. It is about an appreciation of the craftsmanship, the rarity, the exquisite detailing, the history of each playful toy. Toys are a reflection of the era they represent, a miniature interpretation of their world. Toys are a memorabilia of the past preserved for the future.

Collectors search for treasures remembered from their childhood, for items their parents enjoyed as children, and for toys too charming to pass by. Playthings made of cast iron, pressed steel, tin, die cast, wood, wind-ups, battery-ops, plastic, paper, china, bisque, and glass are all collectible. Equally unique and desirable are Star Wars items, Marvel comic characters, Action Figures, Robots, Disney, automobiles, planes, rockets, western, Matchbox, monsters, playsets, and vintage Christmas and Halloween. We have it all.

You are invited to the Chicago Toy Show on Sunday, October 22, from 8:00am to 3:00pm at the Kane County Fairgrounds, 525 South River Rd in St Charles IL 60174. Contact www.chicagotoyshow.com for information on floor rights, tables, room trading, and discounted hotel rates for our group.

FREE parking, adult admission is $10.00, and children are FREE.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION: The Midwest Garrison of the 501st Legion, Star Wars costuming organization is coming again to pose with you for your family/group photos. The 501st Legion is a worldwide Star Wars costuming organization comprised of and operated by Star Wars fans, Lucas film's preferred Imperial Costuming Group.

St. Louis Indian Western Art Show & Sale

Article & photos by Carolynn Boehmer (Gateway Indian Art Club)

The Gateway Indian Art Club of St. Louis was founded in the early 1980's by Todd Boehmer, Virgil Laux and Ben Thompson, three men who have been long time collectors and members of the Greater St Louis Archaeology Society. Although they started their collections with primarily stone tools, they had a great appreciation for the beauty of Indian Art which included pieces of bead work, quill work, pottery designs, basket designs, rugs and jewelry. They felt that an organization that focused on these pieces would benefit collectors and dealers in the St Louis area by connecting with others who recognized the artistry in each piece.

So join us for the St. Louis Indian Western Art Show & Sale on Saturday, November 4th from 10:00am to 5:00pm & Sunday, November 5th from 10:00am to 3:00pm. Admission is $5 & early admission is $25 at 9am Saturday. The show will take place at the Holiday Inn Route 66 Hotel, 10709 Watson Road at Lindbergh (near I-270), St. Louis, Missouri 63127.

The St. Louis area has a rich Indian heritage and there were many Indian Mounds within what is now the city of St. Louis when it was first being settled. We have a fabulous treasure nearby at Cahokia Mounds in Cahokia, IL and something we can be proud of. Additionally, the St Louis Art Museum houses the outstanding collection of St. Louisian, Donald Danforth, a long time collector of Indian artifacts.

The Gateway Indian Art Club of St. Louis has sponsored a major show every fall for more than 25 years which brings collectors and dealers to our area that shows the fine workmanship within the Indian Culture. Our show brings together collectors from all over the United States and is open to the public. It is our hope that when people see the beautiful items, it will form an interest in younger generations to perpetuate a strong interest in this unique culture and will carry into the future.
