ALWAYS THE 3RD WEEKEND IN AUGUST

Out & About

There is a variety of events to attend this weekend. Whether you take in an auction or stroll through a show. Maybe even enjoy some air conditioned comfort at an antique shop. Our weather around here has been extreme one way or the other. Good start for the farmers. The corn is off to a great start and should be knee high by the 4th of July. It is always fascinating to look at the fields when the crops first start growing. Some look like velvet others like a strategic puzzle.

Mekenzy said that it has rained four days in a row in Minnesota. She says that there is only so much television and solitaire you can watch and play. Tia surprised Todd with a visit on Sunday and stayed for dinner. She ended up returning to school to a roommate who broke her fibula at work. Brandon is enjoying his summer playing basketball, swimming and working. He is with his friends everyday and night.

The History of the W. Nelson McCoy's Blue Bird Pottery

By Dewayne Imsand
An Old "Blue Bird" Pot Shop

W. Nelson McCoy was born in 1820 in Harpers Ferry, Virginia, which is located in West Virginia. In January 1848, he and his wife Ester moved to Ohio's, Muskingum County, Springfield Township, in a community called Putnam. At that time, Putnam was a suburb of Zanesville, but in 1872, it became incorporated into Zanesville.

During the same year as W. Nelson and his wife arrived in Putnam, they had a son whose name was James W. Years later J.W. would go on to establish a well-known pottery, the "J.W. McCoy Pottery".

W. Nelson came to Putnam as a farmer. He acquired some land and built a house. In addition to farming, he also built a small, log building to produce stoneware during the warmer months. The pottery was a small, "Blue Bird" type shop, which was like the ones many of the farmers had at the time. It was primitive in its equipment, and the ware it produced was rough and unfinished. Although during that period, most of the home-owned, "Bluebird" shops operated under primitive conditions.

W. Nelson only produced pottery for a few years, not eight as previously believed. In January 1853, a notice was published in the "Zanesville Daily Courier" stating that a partnership that W. Nelson had with Jeremiah Elder was dissolved. The partnership was in a Putnam grocery store, named Elder & McCoy, which had been established at some uncertain prior time.

On the same date that W. Nelson ended his partnership with Elder, a second notice was published reporting that he had taken another partner, Norman Dodge, in the grocery business. Later W. Nelson bought out Elder, and the name of the grocery was changed to "McCoy & Dodge".

35Considering his job at the grocery, and the labor involved in farming, maintaining his household, supplying clay and firewood for his kiln, one would imagine that W. Nelson only had a small amount of time for actual pottery production. Surely, the volume he produced was small, and it was undoubtedly unmarked, since none that is attributable to him has been found.

Prior to 1853 a grocery store in Zanesville was owned by "James Benjamin & Co.". Sometime after 1858 W. Nelson acquired the major share in the "Benjamin & Co.", and the name of the store was then changed to "McCoy - Benjamin & Co.". Hugh McDonald was another owner besides McCoy and Benjamin.

In addition to the operation of the store itself, James Benjamin had other interests; he was a wholesale dealer in stoneware. The newspaper "Zanes Times Signal" carried an article in 1957 by Norris F. Schneider, who, quoting old sources, said that during the 1870's Benjamin was one of the three major stoneware wholesalers in the region. The other major stoneware wholesalers at the time were J.C. Gillespie, and Hudson C. Ward.

The crock shown is an example of Benjamin's wares. The inscription on it is stenciled in blue ink, and reads, "Jas. Benjamin Wholesale Stoneware Depot Zanesville, O".

W. Nelson is not known to have been associated with James Benjamin in the pottery business in Zanesville. However, he and Benjamin were associated in the pottery business located in Cincinnati. (See the article, "The History of the James Benjamin Potteries and his Connection with W. Nelson McCoy", which is contained on this Web site).

Restoring Old New England Homes and Barns

Schiffer Publishing, Ltd., is pleased to announce the release of Antique New England Homes & Barns: History, Restoration, and Reinterpretation by Jim DeStefano, P.E., AIA, F.S.E.I.

There is something about antique homes and their hard-working barns that captures the imagination. Maybe it's their pleasing proportions, maybe they remind us of a simpler time, or maybe we sense that these venerable old survivors that were built when our country was young have seen it all. But how many of us have bothered to listen to the stories they tell or tried to understand what makes them tick? This book reveals the essence of antique New England homes and barns—their history, the people who built them, why they were built that way, and how to restore them, piece by piece, without losing their character. Learn to identify architectural styles from different periods, how to strategize a restoration, and how to approach it systematically, from the timber frame to the floors, walls, and ceilings, windows and doors, wiring, finishes, and landscaping.

Size: 8 1/2" x 11" | 334 color and b/w images | 200 pp

ISBN13: 9780764353536 | Binding: hard cover | $39.99

A Treasure Chest "A Trunk"

By Shelby Weister

A trunk, according to Webster dictionary, is a chest for clothing. Trunks were used for storage, traveling and for concealing valuable belongings. Years ago, trunks were stored in wells attached with a rope, so thieves couldn't steal silver and money, etc. These boxes of different shapes, covered with metal, cloth, leather or canvas, were used by travelers to carry clothing and personal items, like we use our modern luggage. All trunks had trays or bonnet boxes with covers for storage of ladies hats, parasols and gloves. A lot of trunks are missing trays, because they were lost or destroyed over the years.

In the fall of 1900, Sears Catalog displayed twenty-five trunks on two pages, ranging in price from $1.75 to $37.00. The ad read, "We sell trunks at all prices. We can suit you in style and quality. We want your order, because we can sell good trunks and bags cheapest. We recommend the medium and better grades; a dollar or two added to the price of a trunk may mean many years of additional usefulness. There is integrity in trunks, as in other merchandise. They should be made to stand the wear and tear, which they are sure to get from time to time. Our trunks and bags are made under careful supervision, every nail, rivet, clamp, hinge and lock is attached with exactness and skill of the thorough workmanship. This is why we warrant every trunk to be represented and the best of its kind at the lowest possible price."

There were several trunk companies in Wisconsin, located in Milwaukee, Kenosha, Racine, Appleton, and Fond du Lac. Trunks were made from raw wood scraps of rough unplanned lumber, so companies were located near waterways and lumber mills. Pieces of tin or embossed tin covered the lumber, where seams joined together, a slat of wooden strip was attached with rivets, which is a nail with a head on both ends. Trunks were constructed of many other materials, such as wicker, rattan, and leather. There are many shapes and sizes, flat, rounded, camel back, and rounded sides. If you have ever visited Staten Island Museum in NY, where the Statue of Liberty is located, they have a display of over one hundred different kinds trunks that immigrants used when they brought their possessions to America with them.

Children's Trunks (smaller in size), doll trunks, salesman samples and unusual styles of trunks have greater demand and bring higher prices. Only the very elite could afford trunks for their children, most families shared one trunk. Theater trunks were very large and made of veneer covered with leather or black canvas. They stand on one end when you open them, and have drawers on one side and a place to hang costumes on the other. Traveling entertainers used them on trains. They were not made of wood, because they would have been too heavy to carry. Many old trunks were used to hold a young girls "Hope Chest" and carried a rich history from the old country. In Central Wisconsin, many trunks are from Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Norway.

Many people have at least one trunk in their possession. A trunk is one of the most basic and useful pieces of furniture there is. Trunks can be used as cocktail or lamp tables, storage units and benches. In the last twenty years, there has been a big resurgence in trunks, many people restore them to their original finish, or remove the tin to expose the beautiful patina wood finish. The inside of trunks and trunk trays can be restored using wallpaper, fabric, or cedar wood. Old trunks can be purchased at flea markets, rummage sales, or antique shops. The average price ranges from $50 to $200, depending on condition, style and rarity.

So Happy Trunking!

Wisconsin Pottery Association Holds 23rd Annual Pottery Show & Sale

Article by Jim Riordan (Wisconsin Pottery Association)

The Wisconsin Pottery Association (WPA) will hold its 23rd annual Art Pottery Show and Sale on Saturday August 25th, 2018, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. This interesting and exciting event will be held at the Exhibition Hall, Alliant Energy Center, Madison, Wisconsin. Admission is $5, and parking is free.

All types of antique and collectible pottery, contemporary ceramics, dinnerware, stoneware, tile, figurines, and other types of vintage items and art will be on sale. Fifty of the best Pottery dealers from across the Midwest will participate, as well as noted studio potters. Pottery examples for sale will be Roseville, Van Briggel, Fulper, Rookwood, Weller, McCoy and Red Wing along with many more. The dealers gather some of the best American and European pottery along with other vintage items to bring to this annual sale, and the contemporary potters bring many items right out of the kiln!

Along with all of the pottery for purchase, pottery experts from the WPA and additional volunteers from the Iowa Art Pottery Association (IAPA) and the Minnesota Art Pottery Association (MAPA) will be available to help identify pottery pieces brought in by show attendees. (Maximum of two pottery pieces please). There is no charge for the identification.

Roseville's Rosecraft Hexagon, 1925, was a simply shaped Art Deco line made in either brown or green, and more rarely, a glossy blue.

A green globe, modernistic shape.

Roseville Creamware "Good Night" candle holder. Roseville began making decaled Creamware utility ware by 1910 and continued making it at least through the 1920's if not longer.

Roseville Early Utility pitchers. Introduced around 1900 and popular for decades thereafter, Roseville made dozens of different pitchers. Some Roseville collectors specialize in pitchers alone!

Roseville Carnelian II, 1926. This line followed a line called Carnelian I and was produced in shades of red or green or a mix of red and green.

Roseville Early Utility pitchers. Introduced around 1900 and popular for decades

Roseville Crocus planter, ca. 1904.

A sleek blue Pine Cone "400 series" pitcher from 1953, and the smaller, older model designed in the 1930's.

Roseville "Vase Assortment" pieces were Roseville's earliest art pottery, beginning around 1896. The vases were sold in bulk to the A&P Grocery chain, where they were given away as premiums to customers.

Windsor, introduced by Roseville in 1931. This fern-decorated pattern was made in blue and rusty brown.

Ceramic Arts Studio Collectors will hold their 23rd annual convention that weekend and information can be found at their web site www.cascollectors.com. They will also have an information booth set up at the Pottery Show. Many dealers at the show will have Ceramic Arts Studio pieces for sale!

The Wisconsin Pottery Association meets the 2nd Tuesday of every month, 9 times per year - February through December at the Goodman Center in Madison Wisconsin.

The group gets together at 6 p.m. with a discussion about recent finds and mystery pieces. A presentation about pottery or a related collecting field starts about 6:45 p.m. Please see the WPA web site at www.wisconsinpottery.org for more information on meetings, presentations, and membership.

We hope to see Pottery Lovers and Antique Collectors at the WPA Pottery Show/Sale on Saturday August 25th, 2018! We are proud to present our show and sale for the 23rd consecutive year. Our first show occurred in August of 1995 at the Holiday Inn east in Madison Wisconsin. Betty Harrington, the designer of Ceramic Arts Studio Madison was the featured speaker. The WPA art pottery show and sale is a great opportunity to find just the piece you were looking for or to learn more about the many pottery or vintage items offered for sale!

Roseville Rosecraft, 1921, also known as Florane when it appears in this tan color. The form of this vase foreshadows the art deco telescoping and saucer-like shapes that were perfected in the Futura line seven years later.

Roseville Early Velmoss vase, ca. 1916. This line was unidentified as Roseville until collectors found a marked example and identified the shape numbers in a 1916 price guide in the 1990's.

Roseville Carnelian II, 1926. This line followed a line called Carnelian I and was produced in shades of red or green or a mix of red and green.

FRIDAYS NIGHTS@HEARTHSTONE

A new way of touring Hearthstone has been introduced which allows guests to experience Hearthstone in a whole new way. Those visiting Hearthstone Historic House Museum on the second Friday of each month through September can join for an evening tour by the light of Edison bulbs in our original electroliers and experience the Rogers family and their servants preparing for a big dinner party. Docents in period dress serve as re-enactors as guests move from room to room to hear the Rogers family tell their thoughts on the night's festivities. Trained volunteers acting as cooks, maids, and other servants tell their stories as well - as Hearthstone was home to more than one family in more than one way. Evening tours recreate a fascinating environment and the feel of the first nights to be electrically lit in the house - some of the first nights to be lit by electricity anywhere in the world. The evening tours also feature piano performances of 19th century music performed on one of the very few playable square grand pianos still in existence in the United States. Visitors step into a time when the piano was the focus of a home's entertainment, when gathering around while a family member played was the focus of family life. This music adds to the magic of the evening, with light refreshments served. Hearthstone asks that guests please arrive a few minutes early to purchase tickets, or tickets may be purchased in advance by visiting the Hearthstone website. As a special note, because of the historic nature of Hearthstone, stairs are the only means of access to the second floor. The first floor and lower level are wheel chair accessible via an electric lift.

Dates: July 13, August 10, and September 14

Time: 7 PM-9 PM

Limited to 20 guests per evening

Cost: $12 Adults/$8/Children

To purchase tickets, visit www.hearthstonemuseum.org or phone 920-730-8204.

NOW IN ITS 46th YEAR

Flow Blue International Collectors Club Meet in Iowa for Annual Convention

Bettendorf, Iowa – To the typical person, Flow Blue and Mulberry may sound like odd names for china but this variety has been around since the 1800s with thousands of patterns.

For collectors and interested enthusiasts, a highlight is the annual international convention. This year the Quad Cities is the host destination for the Flow Blue International Collectors Club convention on July 26-28 at the Isle Casino Hotel in Bettendorf, Iowa.

Located on the Mississippi River, the Quad Cities is comprised of Moline/East Moline & Rock Island in Illinois; Davenport & Bettendorf in Iowa; and surrounding communities.

If you have an interest in Flow Blue or Mulberry china and a curiosity about its patterns, potters and history, you are encouraged to attend. Attendees must be members of the Flow Blue International Collectors' Club and may join via the website at www.flowblue.org.

As part of the convention on July 26, attendees will tour the Quad Cities, including a tour of the John Deere Harvester combine factory, a luncheon cruise on the Celebration Belle Riverboat, tours of the Butterworth Center & Deere-Wiman House, and a visit to the John Deere Pavilion.

Convention activities also include an information-packed First Timers seminar, educational presentations, excellent buying opportunities, a show of Rare & Unusual pieces, getting to know other Club members, and a fabulous 300-lot auction of only Flow Blue and Mulberry items.

About Flow Blue and Mulberry

With patterns numbering in the thousands, Flow Blue and Mulberry ironstone accommodates the taste of every collector. The striking patterns create beautiful vignettes on a side table or dazzle when amassed in a glass cabinet. With patterns spanning categories such as Scenic, Oriental, Art Nouveau, Floral, Advertising, Children's pieces, Souvenir and Brushstroke, Flow Blue and Mulberry complements all types of collecting interests.

Why did such a variety of patterns appear on items like dishes, chamber sets and garden accessories? The rapid expansion of the British Empire in the 1800s into Africa and Asia inspired the imaginations of common people and inspired the travel plans of wealthy people. The unusual fabrics, spices, artifacts and porcelains that returned with travelers created a longing for faraway places and exotic things. English potters seized the romantic dream of travel abroad and placed it in reach of all classes of people as fascinating yet functional items for their homes.

Potters discovered that transfer printing in light blues, greens, pinks and browns gave a distinct, almost photographic quality to their patterns. That definitive image had a certain attraction, but to appeal to the householder who dreamed of something more mysterious, a process of introducing chemicals to the kiln while firing generated a blurring of the transfer lines which lent itself to fantasy.

All manufacturers must know their consumers to market well and make a profit. It quickly became clear that British housewives found Flow Blue with its vivid cobalt hues and Mulberry in a range from chocolaty browns to moody purples, less desirable than their American counterparts. Adapting to this observation, potteries exported much of their Flow Blue and Mulberry to America for use as everyday dishes.

In homage to this American love of Flow Blue and Mulberry, the Flow Blue International Collectors' Club became a reality in 1986. Its stated purpose "to stimulate, educate, and maintain interest in the collection and study of Flow Blue, Mulberry, and related fields of china..." is carried on by hundreds of members in countries across the world.

Your opportunity to join this vibrant club begins at www.flowblue.org where you will find a membership application and a copy of the convention booklet which you can view. Hopefully, it will help you decide that you want to become a member and attend the convention.
