Antique Phonograph & Music Box Show & Sale Celebrates Forty Year Milestone

Article & photos by Brian Maloney

Donley's Wild West Town in Union, Illinois once again played host to what has become the world's largest show of its kind - the Fortieth Annual Antique Phonograph & Music Box Show & Sale. From its humble beginnings in the 1970's, when a few collectors spread their wares out on the lawn, the show has certainly grown up. Serious collectors from as far as Europe and Asia now make the trip here each year to visit the very best dealers in this specialized collecting field. From music machines to parts to vintage recordings, this is about the best place in America to find what you're looking for.

Out & About

Hope everyone had a wonderful 4th of July weekend. Our's was a quite relaxing day at home spent with family visiting from out of state. We watched the fireworks from two different cities from our backyard. That is always fun to see two grand finales. The weather was rather exciting around the office area last night. We had four tornados touch down. Thankfully no one was injured in the tornado. Everyone in the office was remembering when we were children, we used to get tornado warnings and never remember any touching down. Times are different now, if you hear of a warning, you need to take cover. Some of our cell phones are set to warn us, but a couple of us said that we still need to go and get those weather radios. Today it is a little windy but the sky is clear and sunny, everyone is talking about the tornados.

40th Annual Antique Phonograph & Music Box Show & Sale - The World's Largest!

Article & photos by Brian Maloney

As you drive to Union, Illinois, site of the event, you might wonder how the world's biggest antique phonograph & music box show got here. The little town of Union is on Route 20 between Rockford & Chicago, hidden in the fertile cornfields of northern Illinois. Not exactly the first place you'd picture for a world-class specialty antique show!

You may also be a little surprised when you pull up to the show's venue and see the façade of an Old West town looming before you, for you've arrived at Donley's Wild West Town. It's part Wild West Show, part theme park, part exhibition and auction hall, and part museum - including an impressive antique phonograph collection. They've played host to the show from its very beginning, when Wild West Town's founder Larry Donley got a group of fellow antique phonograph collectors together here to buy, sell, and trade their wares two generations ago.

I don't even collect phonographs or music boxes, and this show is still one of my favorite events to cover. Maybe it's a guy thing. Antique phonographs offer the appeal of fine furniture, plus fascinating mechanisms to tinker with. And I can't think of any other antique that more literally brings the past alive than an antique phonograph playing music and voices recorded before the airplane - or even automobile, was invented.

As is true of many specialty antique shows, the dealers at the Antique Phonograph & Music Box Show are just "different" from your typical antiques dealer. I use the term dealer loosely, as most of them are collectors at heart. One long-time exhibitor told me: "For both the dealers and the shoppers, reconnecting with old friends is as an important part of the show as buying and selling. Some of these guys have been coming to Union, Illinois since the very first show, and have been friends for even longer than that." The dealers themselves came from all over the U.S. and Canada. Most have been attending the show for many years - some haven't missed any of the thirty-nine annual events.

Of course, nearly every major antique phonograph dealer in the nation was here, with some of the finest and rarest examples you'll find anywhere - plus plenty of modestly-priced machines for us regular folks. Add to them the countless hobby dealers for whom this may be their main show of the year to buy, sell, and trade their favorite machines.

And many of the field's most noted authors and publishers come here each year too, with copies of their latest works. The photographs will give you a little glimpse of everything the show has to offer. Even if you're not an antique phonograph or music box collector, it's still well worth attending - you'll learn a lot, and get to see some of the world's finest examples of these fascinating mechanical wonders of the past.

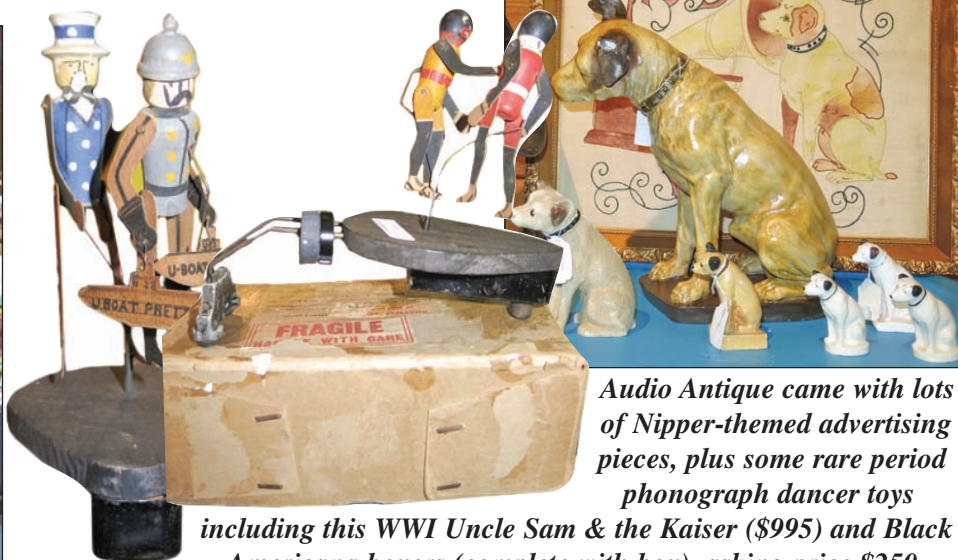

I couldn't end the story without telling you a little more about the hosts of the show, the Donley family - owners of Wild West Town. Larry Donley, founder of Wild West Town, had already been collecting antique phonographs for some time when he obtained the lifetime collection of Clarence Ferguson more than forty years ago. Mr. Ferguson, the last Edison dealer in the United States, had also amassed an amazing collection of his own. Soon after the acquisition, Donley opened a small phonograph museum right here outside of Union, Illinois, and it's grown over the years into the twenty-acre complex that it is today.

Donley's Wild West Town is definitely worth the trip - even if you're not attending the Phonograph & Music Box Show. The kids will love Wild West Town itself, where they can be deputized and help round up the desperados. Or learn to rope from a real cowboy - even witness a shootout in the town square. It's geared towards the pre-teen crowd, something founder Larry Donley insists will never change. There's also an outdoor Wild West stage show that'll appeal to wanna-be cowboys of all ages. And the world-class Old West and Antique phonograph museums ensure that the older folks will have a great time too. Be sure to check out their Website www.wildwesttown.com. It'll help you plan an old-fashioned day-trip for the whole family. And as always, keep an eye out for next year's 41st Annual Phonograph & Music Box Show in the Auction Action Antique News!

Bill & Rosanna Harris, publishers of the Carousel & Automatic Music News were on hand with the latest edition of the magazine. Newly expanded to include stories about phonographs & related music machines, the bi-monthly magazine costs only $35 per year. Just visit www.carousel-news.com or call 605-673-3068 to subscribe!

Don Gfell's Sights & Sounds of Edison has been coming to the event for more than three decades, bringing a wonderful array of wooden horns custom-made by Don himself - most in the $600 to $1,000 range. www.edison-man.com 419-499-3093

Audio Antique came with lots of Nipper-themed advertising pieces, plus some rare period phonograph dancer toys including this WWI Uncle Sam & the Kaiser ($995) and Black Americana boxers (complete with box), asking price $250. www.audioantique.com

Authors and RCA Phonograph collectors premiered their latest book on the subject: Nipper Collectibles Volume III. Go to www.audioantique.com to get a copy!

Here are the boys with a super-rare Regina #35 automatic music box displayed by The Phonograph Company, asking price $40,000.

National Depression Glass Association

The National Depression Glass Association - preserving America's glass manufacturing heritage - is dedicated to the preservation of American made glassware manufactured just before, during, and immediately after the "Great Depression". The organization is also dedicated to the dissemination of educational information regarding the same - including a membership newsletter, "The News & Views," an annual convention and show, and a variety of other member services. The NDGA's ultimate goal is a first-class museum of American-made glass and related items.

The NDGA website - www.ndga.net - has been greatly improved with a total new design and look earlier this year. The primary purpose of the site is to provide information to the members and other site visitors. The homepage provides a listing of contents and features the latest NDGA news. Appropriately heading this list is the latest news on the much anticipated July 2009 annual convention.

There is a growing section on The National Collection and how to donate either glass or cash for this project.

The site contains a wealth of information. Articles on Depression Glass, dozens of past features from the NDGA publications, glass reference books, past glass company advertisements, a directory of glass dealers and another of glass collecting clubs and photos of members' glass collections.

Anyone who happens to have the least bit of interest and appreciation for glassware is going to find this site a place on the Internet to visit again and again... and it must be a tremendous resource for NDGA members. Actually there also are members-only pages on the site in addition to all the public pages.

Golf Collectors Society

The Golf Collectors Society is an international organization dedicated to preserving the treasures and traditions of the game of golf. Founded in 1970 by Robert Kuntz and Joseph S. F. Murdoch, the organization today has over 1400 members from 15 different countries.

The Society's website features a masthead showing a golf memorabilia collection. Three sections underneath give a brief overview of what the group is all about, a center section on recent news and a block for text style ads. This gives the homepage a nice, clean and uncluttered appearance, yet traditional in approach.

Links across the top take site visitors to various segments including a webzine section, resources, events, a forum, membership, faq, links, and how to contact the Society.

We like the well-thoughtout membership page which briefly explains and visualizes some of the member benefits, plus providing contact information and a membership form. The links page includes links to several other golf collecting associations.

The faq section (frequently asked questions) is very simple and yet, very helpful. This is a section that should be considered on every collecting club's website. It simply and briefly answers questions like: Who belongs? How do I determine the value of items? Are there Society shows that are open to the public? How do I determine when an item was made? Where can I get more information? etc.

By spending only a couple of minutes on the site, if a visitor has an interest in collecting or studying golf memorabilia, it would be hard to resist joining!

Gone Wild for Manatee Gift Adoptions!

Adopting real Florida manatees for family and friends this Holiday season is nature-inspired, thoughtful gift-giving that helps Save the Manatee Club increase conservation and education efforts for the endangered marine mammals and their aquatic habitat. It also helps holiday shoppers stretch those often limited budgets.

Last year, Lisa Cartossa from Holt, Missouri, decided that since her two young nieces, Lily and Rose from North Carolina, were fortunate enough to have most everything they needed, she would adopt manatees as Christmas presents for them. Lisa chose adoptees "Paddy Doyle" and "Flash," who regularly winter at Blue Spring State Park, from Save the Manatee Club's Adopt-A-Manatee program. All of the manatees available for adoption can be viewed on the Club's website at <http://www.savethemanatee.org/adoptees.htm>. Two new manatees recently added to the list of adoptees are from Alabama, "Zewie" and "Bama."

2012 wall calendar, featuring spectacular manatee photos to enjoy all year and well past.

"When my nieces received their adoption packets for Christmas, I was told you could not have heard two children screaming with excitement louder than they were," said Lisa. "Immediately, the manatees' pictures went on their walls. They knew about manatees, but Save the Manatee Club's adoption program created this passion and enthusiasm in them that's very wonderful for me as an adult to be part of. I can't tell you how thrilled my nieces are to get the newsletter addressed personally to them."

They read every word front to back. Who knows, the Club may have just created the next generation of marine life specialists dedicated to the conservation of these wonderful creatures."

Save the Manatee Club, a national nonprofit organization, was co-founded thirty years ago by singer/songwriter Jimmy Buffett. Funds from the Holiday gift adoptions help with manatee rescue, rehabilitation, and release efforts; research; education and public awareness projects; conservation work to protect manatees and their habitat; and for programs in the United States, Central and South America, the Wider Caribbean, and West Africa. Manatees are listed as endangered at the state, federal, and international levels.

Patrick Rose, aquatic biologist and Executive Director of the Club, points out that manatees face tremendous challenges to their survival from human activities. "In Florida alone, since record-keeping began in 1974, more than 38% of manatee deaths where cause of death is known were human-related. So it is imperative that we continue to educate the public about the presence of manatees in our waters. Adopting a manatee is a great way to learn more about this beloved species and how to help make a difference in their lives."

Find out more information about manatees and Holiday gift adoptions by contacting Save the Manatee Club at 500 N. Maitland Ave., Maitland, FL 32751, or calling 1-800-432-JOIN (5646), or visiting their web site at www.savethemanatee.org, where you can also sign up for the Club's free E-Newsletter. Also, discover a variety of manatee items in the Club's gift catalog at <http://www.savethemanatee.org/shop/>.

Article by Anthony Schafer

Unique Events Specialty Shows announces new event

Jim Welytok of Unique Events Specialty Shows has formally announced a new event to begin this fall. The new show "Rummage n Relics" will be an all indoor, fall & winter flea market type event. The first scheduled show will be on the weekend of October 17th & 18th. It will be held in the Wisconsin Products Pavilion Building at State Fair Park, 640 South 84th Street, West Allis WI 53214.

"We are very excited about this new event. It will provide Wisconsin area vendors and shoppers a traditional flea market type atmosphere to meet and do business during the inclement fall and winter months," Welytok said.

"This show will offer over one hundred and fifty booths and feature the sale of just about everything you can imagine. Antiques, collectibles, home decor, toys, records, crafts, books, sporting goods, jewelry, overstocks, and close out items. All vendors will be welcome to participate in our fall and winter markets," Welytok said.

Unique Events Shows has been producing quality collector specialty shows in Wisconsin, Illinois, and Michigan for the past thirty five years.

"With our experience and network of collectible vendors on hand and the general merchandise vendors who will be participating with us, we will be offering the public some very enjoyable shopping experiences for many years to come," Welytok said.

Additional shows are scheduled for December 12th & 13th of 2015, and January 23rd & 24th February 27th & 28th of 2016. Saturday show hours are 9 am to 3 pm & Sundays 9 am to 2 pm

American Cut Glass Association

The American Cut Glass Association is devoted to the study and research of American Brilliant Cut Glass. The Brilliant Period lasted from approximately 1876 to around 1914. The Association offers a number of member benefits including a newsletter published 10 times a year, an annual convention, regional chapters, and Brilliant Weekends - special events held by ACGA chapters.

The ACGA's website homepage consists of some cut glass illustrations, a welcoming statement, bulletin board and navigation menu. This menu, serving as a site map, does an excellent job of directing first time visitors to the various sections on the website.

Divided into five columns, there is a column of features on the American Cut Glass Association, itself, including their history, organization, code of ethics, endowment fund and gifts & Acquisitions fund. another column offers segments on member benefits while a third column features information and photos of examples of Brilliant Cut Glass. The fourth and fifth column comprise information on the ACGA Store and contact information.

This is a very functional club website and serves the ACGA well.

New Book Authored by ACC Co-founder

If you like antique automobiles, are interested in the early U.S. highways and byways, or enjoy presidential campaigns and the political artifacts they generate, this is all rolled up in one new book authored by Larry Krug, one of the founders of the Association of Collecting Clubs.

Entitled, "The Coolidge-Dawes Lincoln Tour 1924," the book is the story of the political caravan promoting the presidential campaign of Calvin Coolidge and his running mate, Charles G. Dawes. The book is compiled from eyewitness accounts. It was documented by E. A. Seidel, who drove the lead vehicle - a REO Speedwagon - and from newspaper accounts along the route, all illustrated with vintage photographs and political artifacts. Starting in Coolidge's hometown of Plymouth, Vermont, the caravan wound its way down to New York City, then followed the Lincoln Highway across the country to San Francisco, then along the Pacific Coast.

Over five million people turned out to witness the caravan as it rolled along 6,500 miles, much of it still unpaved, ranging from dirt in good weather to mud in bad weather, and involving over 100,000 vehicles! Along the way local bands played, horns honked, most of the cars were decorated in red, white and blue, and two million campaign buttons were distributed.

Civil War veterans who had voted for Abraham Lincoln were invited to sign a roster at the various stops and they turned out by the hundreds. National GOP dignitaries provided the rhetoric at the stops, making over 400 speeches promoting the re-election of Coolidge. The newspaper press along the route loved the event, proclaiming it the largest continuous procession of any kind in all history.

Krug has been a member of the Calvin Coolidge Memorial Foundation in Plymouth, Vermont, for over 30 years and assembled the broadest private collection of Coolidge political memorabilia in the country. The book was published by Schiffer Publishing. For more information or to order contact: info@Amres.com or go to the website: <http://CoolidgeDawesLincolnTour.com>
