

A Valentine from Kryschendo

Unlock the Secrets of your compatibilities and challenges using the science of numerology. This report was created especially for you to better understand your relationship, or potential relationship with others by comparing your life path numbers.

Your Life Path is 6

Your Compatibility with the 1 Life Path You, Dear 6, are fortunate in this union. Your precious 1 lover will protect and defend you through thick and thin and is buoyed by your great capacity for love, understanding, sacrifice and support. This is a combination that can last for a long time, without ever going through the kind of turbulence so many other relationships experience. The priorities differ in this coupling and if you are aware of the other aspects of your 1's chart, the value of each perspective and individual quality will be a powerful force in all that you do. Passion is absolutely here in this match, protect it as a new-born babe.

Your Compatibility with the 2 Life Path You are definitely cooking with gas with this Life Path Union! Love and passion are up, front and center with this combo and really, there is nothing that is 'too big' to take this union down. Your 2 lover is deeply sensitive and in-tune with your connection to family, hearth and home. You, Dear 6 will celebrate this, but there is a warning flag for you: do not ask your 2 to go 'above and beyond' the call of duty towards family obligations. While the 2 is incredibly adept at this role, they also must pursue their own goals and aspirations and this is where you can come in as a support system to make sure this happens. In this way you will ensure a beautiful longevity built on true love and a genuine mutual respect for one another. Dig into both charts and understand both of your Heart's Desire numbers – the insight will help!

Your Compatibility with the 3 Life Path This combination makes a creative couple that will do great service in the world. You, Dear 6, bring a warmth and self-sacrificing love for the friends and family members that so easily wins hearts over while your 3 Lover brings a true depth of creativity and sense of humor that everybody loves and appreciates. You are more than likely a popular couple with an active social life and a large circle of friends. The most common pitfall in this combination is connected to your 6 Life Path and the potentially excessive emotional bonds which, in the extreme, can feel smothering to your light and lively 3. There is a tendency inside of this coupling for the 3 to begin to parent the 6, which is not something either of you want. Keep in mind that you may need to know more about their chart to understand how and why this shows up in your relationship.

Your Compatibility with the 4 Life Path It is not that common for the 6 to fall in love, or even be attracted to the 4 Life energy. Both of you are practical, grounded and highly responsible, family-oriented with a strong sense of community and loyalty to others. In a nutshell, you're dating yourself and that might make certain situations tricky in the competitive department when most people would fall into support of one another. With that said, this is only one aspect of your charts, but quite possibly the hardest to overcome at the onset of your relationship. However, if support and unconditional love prevails over competition and you do become involved in a romantic relationship, it can be a strong, comfortable alliance right from the very beginning. An alliance that will, more often than not, last for a long time.

Your Compatibility with the 5 Life Path It is interesting to note that when the 6 and 5 meet, there is an initial distrust that must be overcome because both energies present themselves to the world in very different ways. There is very little in common and rarely does this number combination reach out to bridge the gap. With that said, if an attraction is there it will first initially be focused on the physical and sensual and will remain so throughout the duration of the relationship. The challenge in this relationship is a social one because the 5 and 6 operate on very different levels. Let's just say that you, Dear 6, prefer hearth and home while you 5 Lover prefers the pub. Keeping this in mind, you must both offer each other a lifestyle that is in harmony with what you want for yourself.

Your Compatibility with the 6 Life Path As a rule of thumb, relationships fare better when the core numbers found in the same location in a chart are not the same. An exception to this rule of thumb is the double six combo, considered the most harmonious of all, the most loving and committed of all numbers, and rightly so! There is nothing that makes you happier than to make each other happy and you both will go to great extents to do just that. You love kids, family, friends, and your local community. You will more than likely be involved in something related to healing, teaching, counseling, or the arts. If there are incompatible numbers in your charts that cause misunderstandings and conflicts, the impact of the double 6 Life Path will significantly reduce the impact.

Your Compatibility with the 7 Life Path A strange and not very common combination, the six and the seven have a kind of love-hate relationship. While the six is strongly motivated by emotions and romance, the seven is an intellectual and somewhat secretive and distant energy. You Dear 6 are connected to family and strong emotional bonds, while your 7 lover is much more independent and cerebral (and often times quiet) and simply needs more time and space by themselves to feel grounded. Unless this obvious difference is understood and accepted, it can become a problem in your relationship that more often than not, causes much unhappiness. If you are in a long-term committed relationship there are more than likely compatible numbers inside of your comprehensive charts that work well together. Get to know what these are and you will fall in love all over again!

Your Compatibility with the 8 Life Path This is a combination of numbers that is practical and goal-oriented and definitely not afraid of responsibility, no matter how daunting. However, there are big differences in the way the six and eight view responsibility, and even bigger differences in the way they pursue their respective goals. This doesn't mean one way is better than the other. They are just different approaches that ultimately attain similar outcomes and results. In a nutshell, this combination works better in business than in the bedroom but if you find yourself in a long-term relationship with an 8 Lover, it is more than likely that there are balancing numbers in your charts to help minimize the effect your Life Path combo brings.

Your Compatibility with the 9 Life Path When a 6 and 9 are found in the Life Path between romantic partners, the compatibility is often very strong. Both of you are self-sacrificing, giving and caring people, the 6 more practical while the 9 is more idealistic. Both Life Paths are strongly affected by a sense of right and wrong, sometimes to the extent that they get involved in politics or become activists. This focus often strengthens the romantic bond. However there are some areas where you may find yourself clashing if certain negative attributes of each number are allowed to grow. The 6 and the 9 Life Path are here to help humanity, big and small and one of the ways they work towards this goal is by first working on themselves within a partnership. So think of it this way: the relationship is the micro and what is learned and developed within the micro will at some point, be taken out to the macro – the world.

We hope you have enjoyed this quick snapshot compatibility report! A full compatibility report would allow you to compare your life path numbers more deeply including the core aspects of your collective charts. Comparing charts will tell you how close your attitudes and approaches are regarding money, career, communication, personal expression and yes, love. Your charts will be presented together and compared by key numerological aspect aiding in conflict resolution and reunion through compassion, awareness and understanding. This information is invaluable not just in love relationships but in understanding family dynamics as well as business partnerships.

Buy Now and Save $5 through February 28, 2015 on all compatibility reports at www.Kryschendo.com.

You will find the reports under Do. Click Purchase and scroll down to the compatibility report.

