

A Valentine from Kryschendo

Unlock the Secrets of your compatibilities and challenges using the science of numerology. This report was created especially for you to better understand your relationship, or potential relationship with others by comparing your life path numbers.

Your Life Path is 8

Your Compatibility with the 1 Life Path This combination brings two captains on the same ship together ~ compromise and clear communication is definitely needed to make this duet sing for the long-term. If not, arguments that are up and over the top are a given and who wants that? With that said, you both have good business instincts, which could result in very successful shared endeavors. Neither of you accepts anything less than full respect and an equal playing field. Similarly, neither one of you can be dominated or accept being someone's side-kick, so in a nutshell, clear communication will be needed in order to make this relationship hum. This match simply begs you to know more about what makes your 1 tick – dig deeper into their chart to find out!

Your Compatibility with the 2 Life Path This is a relationship between Strength and Heart and has the potential to last for years and years. You, Dear 8 are strength, and your 2 Lover is all heart. Both of you will breathe a sigh of relief when you finally find one another and fall into each other's strength like a cool glass of much needed water. Strength however, eventually dissipates and the heart slowly loses interest. How to keep the burner hot? Recognize and acknowledge who each of you is, and remember there is an ebb and flow to life where strength and love waxes and wanes. Then, you'll be just fine. You'll fall in love over and over again.

Your Compatibility with the 3 Life Path This coupling effects each other in very interesting ways: compatible and not so compatible. Quite often, this is more of a powerful business relationship or long-time friend relationship that has built a successful business together. The sexual chemistry between these two energies is rare, but if you do find yourself with a 3 lover, more than likely your mutual attraction lies in other aspects of your compatibility chart. Both of you are great communicators and highly capable of brilliant interaction of all sorts with people and agreements of all kinds. You both have quite different views as to what is important in life that, unless you learn to respect each other's needs and expectations, the relationship will struggle. Your to-do: respect one another's needs, focus and goals and realize that one way is not necessarily better than another – it is just different.

Your Compatibility with the 4 Life Path This Life Path combination is excellent, both in romance as well as business. The eight and the four are like the gears in an engine: they connect perfectly and increase each other's torque. By joining forces, they triple or quadruple their output. Although the 8 and the 4 are different in many ways, they respect each other and recognize each other's value. Together, you are able to create a wonderful environment of trust, love and deep spiritual bonding. However, potential pitfalls do exist in this combination, just like any other Life Path combo. You, Dear 8 can at times be stubborn and authoritarian and that will at some point get under your 4 lover's skin. The solution? Communication of ideas without judgments or criticism. Easier said than done, but if you can pull this off, then you have a match worthy of the Gods' attentions.

Your Compatibility with the 5 Life Path This coupling needs some very clear definitions of roles that are far, far apart (and different) if it is going to work in a harmonious and stable way. This combination works better in business than it does in the bedroom, but that doesn't mean all is lost. As long as you don't try to over-influence each other, as long as you don't try to tell your partner how to behave or what to consider a priority, everything is going to be just fine. Make a stab at changing your partner and trouble will certainly be the result (this will always be interpreted as nagging, and no 5 likes a nag). This could be a tall order for both of you, as you Dear 8 are focused on structure and reaching the 'bigger goal' while your 5 love needs freedom of expression and a long runway to do it.

Your Compatibility with the 6 Life Path This is a combination of numbers that is practical and goal-oriented and definitely not afraid of responsibility, no matter how daunting. However, there are big differences in the way the eight and the six view responsibility, and even bigger differences in the way they pursue their respective goals. This doesn't mean one way is better than the other. They are just different approaches that ultimately attain similar outcomes and results. In a nutshell, this combination works better in business than in the bedroom but if you find yourself in a long-term relationship with a 6 Lover, it is likely that there are balancing numbers in your charts to minimize the effect your Life Path combo brings. I have seen this combination of Life Path numbers with couples who are clear about who brings home the bacon and who manages hearth, home and children. In many ways, this too is a business relationship and many couples are just fine with it.

Your Compatibility with the 7 Life Path If you find yourself in this Life Path combination, other numbers in your chart are the source of your mutual attraction. Rarely do the 8 & 7 Life Path's connect on a romantic level. The notion that opposites attract does not hold true for the 7/8 combination. In a nutshell, you simply have different priorities for life and often times will find yourselves at opposite ends of the spectrum when it comes to likes and dislikes, from movies to books, to travel arrangements, to housing, decorating, art, and so forth. The friends you attract are also very different, and on that note, so are your social needs. The key to success with this coupling is this: allowing one another copious amounts of space and freedom.

Your Compatibility with the 8 Life Path When two 8's come together, there is a job to be done, period. However, effort is required. This combo is gifted with natural leadership and the capacity to accumulate great wealth, and is focused on the greater vision, its purpose and long range goals. You bounce back from failures and defeats, somehow landing on your feet. You are the epitome of a survivor, but this is all due to your vision together as a couple. Family and friends play a large role in your lives and status is very important. Word of caution: be careful of becoming too stubborn, intolerant, overbearing and impatient. Dig deeper into the other aspects of both charts to learn more about how this relationship ticks!

Your Compatibility with the 9 Life Path The Life Path numbers are at completely opposite ends of the spectrum, which have nothing in common and are not considered compatible. However, they are often strongly attracted to each other; an attraction that lasts and forms the foundation for a relationship that can remain interesting and fresh for many years, because there is always something new to discover in each other. Your 9 lover will never find happiness or achieve success when motivated by worldly desires. On the other hand, you Dear 8 have a driven energy that is focused and directed towards accumulating great wealth and power. The keyword in this relationship is respect. As long as you respect each other, disagreements – of which there will probably be plenty – will not be able to weaken the foundation of your relationship.
