CELEBRATING 72 YEARS OF SERVING DETROIT AND THE DOWNRIVER COMMUNITY*

CELEBRATING WOMAN'S HISTORY MONTH

jessica Care moore

Jessica Care Moore is an internationally renowned poet/ publisher/ activist/ rock star/ playwright and actor. She is a five-time winner; has featured on hip-hop mega-star, Nas' "Nastradamus" album and was a returning star of Russell Simmon's HBO Series, Def Poetry Jam.

After her legendary win on the Apollo stage, jessica Care moore was approached by several book publishing companies, but in 1997, she paved her own path and launched a publishing company of her own - Moore Black Press. Which has released her first book; "The Words Don't Fit In My Mouth," and several thousand copies. A few years later, she followed up with her second collection of poetry and essays, "The Alphabet Verses The Ghetto." This bold and electric artist has shared the stage with the late Ossie Davis, CeCe Winans, Gregory Hines, Anthony David, Norah Jones, Amiri Baraka, Patti Labelle, Roy Ayers, Mos Def, The Last Poets, Sonia Sanchez, Talib Kweli, Nikki Giovanni, Steve Harvey, Maya Angelou and many others. In 1999, she was honored as Woman of the Year by the Harvard Black Men's Forum.

Her innovative and inspiring take on literacy among our nation's youth landed her opportunities to produce several art programs, concerts, and workshops for the National Black Arts Festival in Atlanta, and worked as a facilitator for The Langston Hughes National Poetry Circle Project.

She is the youngest poet published in the "Prentice Hall Anthology of African American Women's Literature," by Valerie Lee, alongside literary greats, Zora Neale Hurston, Alice Walker, Octavia Butler Maya Angelou and many others. ## Downriver Detroit Student Film Consortium gives students a look behind the camera

By: Dominique Madden - Special to the Telegram

Students from local schools learn to produce their own films

The Downriver Detroit Student Film Consortium (DDSFC) was founded by Scott A. Galeski, an award winning independent film writer, director, producer and retired Downriver Detroit police detective. As a judge for student film festivals throughout Michigan Galeski took note of the lack of representation from Downriver and De-

WORDS FROM THE PUBLISHER

Regina Wilson lived the life of a virtuous women

Gina Wilson Steward

26 She openeth her mouth with wisdom; and in her tongue is the law of kindness.
 27 She looketh well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness.
 28 Her children arise up, and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her.
 29 Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou excellest them all.
 30 Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain: but a woman that feareth the LORD, she shall be praised.

Proverbs 31: 26-30

That was my mom, Regina Mae Bates Wilson. This month we celebrate Woman's History Month and my family personally celebrates our mom making her transition to be with her heavenly father. Our mom was the type of mother that expected the best of her children and her children's friends. We had a strict rule, homework first. Although we were all active in sports and she left that part of our lives to our father, Robert Wilson, she made sure our academics was done. We had a combined TV life of the Leave it to Beaver and the Cosby Show. Our wonderful mom was a Stay at Home mom through most of our lives. My dad worked and provided for our family so mom could focus on us. She cooked breakfast each morning, had lunch for us (we came home for lunch each day) and dinner for us when we got home from school activities. She was active in PTA, community events and political groups. We went to Circle Y church camp each summer, girl scouts outings and events with the Beechwood Community Center groups. At our house, education was primary. My mom eventually graduated with an Associate's Degree and spread her magic with the Head Start program in River Rouge. She served on the River Rouge School Board for years and the City of River Rouge named a street by the school Regina Wilson Blvd. Me along with my brother and sisters went to a Historically Black College. (Derek - Lane College; Ingrid - Spelman and me and Angela - Tuskegee University) When asked by one of my co-workers at my first job after college, "When did you decide you wanted to go to college?" I replied, "I never knew there was another option. We talked about college always." As I thought about that answer later, I realized that during our Sunday dinners at our grandparents house (The Farm) on Martinsville Rd in New Boston, the talk was college... All of our first cousins also went college also. There comes a time when you realize that your mom is a special person. She died 16 years ago this month and I still run into people that say she positively impacted their lives. I miss my mother a lot, but the memories that we have and the values that her and my dad instilled in us has helped us raise our children to be respectable young adults. As we celebrate Women's History this month, I honor my mom, Regina Wilson

Dingell Statement on Trump's New Executive Order Banning Muslims and Refugees from Entering the US

Debbie Dingell
 U.S. Congresswoman

DEARBORN, MI – U.S. Congresswoman Debbie Dingell (MI-12) released the following statement on President Trump's new executive order seeking to reinstate his ban preventing Muslims and refugees from entering the United States.

"Today's executive order is simply an attempt to repackage the administration's harmful and unconstitutional ban on Muslims and refugees. While the administration tried to tweak the glaring problems in the initial ban that led to chaos at airports and unlawful detentions around the country, the fact remains: this is the same ban that targets individuals based on their region and flies in the face of our Constitution and our values as a nation.

door in the middle of the night and force them from this country. Last week, I met with students from the University of Michigan who came to the United States wanting nothing but the best – to receive a world-class education and contribute their knowledge and skills to our economy. Now, they question whether this country even wants them here. This is not who we are.

"National security experts, faith leaders, academia and the business community all agree that this ban endangers our national security and dishonors our Constitution and everything our nation stands for. This is not the America I was raised to believe in."

"Daily, I hear stories from constituents scared to death about what will happen next. Families who have been part of our communities for decades and are second and third generation Americans are terrified that someone will knock on their

Ben Carson Sworn-in as Trump's Only Black Cabinet Pick

By Stacy M. Brown NNPA Newswire Contributor

Dr. Ben Carson (left) was sworn in as the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development on Thursday, March 2. Carson's wife along with his 5-year-old granddaughter, Tesora held the Bible. (Shevry Lassiter/The Washington Informer)

The swearing-in of all of the primary members of President Donald Trump's cabinet is just about complete. Most of Trump's cabinet—from Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin to Commerce Secretary Wilbur Ross—are rich, White and male. On Thursday, March 2, retired neurosurgeon Dr. Ben Carson broke the mold with his swearing-in as Housing and Urban Development secretary, officially becoming the only African-American in Trump's cabinet. The former GOP presidential candidate was confirmed by a 58-41 vote, leaving just four of Trump's 22 cabinet-level nominees still unsworn. "Right now, our country is the patient and it's not a Democrat or a Republican patient..It's an American patient," Carson said at his swearing-in as his wife, Lacey and granddaughter Tesora held the Bible. "We have a duty to use the gifts that God has given all of us in order to heal that patient." Carson, 65, was born into an impoverished Detroit family, but ultimately became a popular neurosurgeon who ran for president last year winning the In January, he vowed to begin his job at HUD by going on a listening tour before developing any long-term plans for the department, which has more than 8,000 employees and a $50 billion budget. In February, during Black History Month, Carson joined Trump for a tour of the Smithsonian National Museum of African American History and Culture where the president said Carson would work very closely with him. "HUD has a meaning far beyond housing," Trump said. "If properly done, it's a meaning that's as big as anything there is." Carson, whose mother at times received food stamps to provide for her family, grew up surrounded by some of the housing assistance programs he will now oversee. "The New York Times" reported that, rather than embrace the programs that once sustained his family and the families around him, Carson adopted standard Republican beliefs that too much government help—both in desegregating neighborhoods and in lifting people from poverty—can discourage people from working hard. Carson was awarded a scholarship to Yale University, and at 33, he was named director of pediatric neurosurgery at Johns Hopkins Children's Center. He later became an author and a philanthropist supporting scholarships for young, often impoverished students. "Housing discrimination continues to be a significant problem in this country, unfairly limiting people's choices about where to live," Lisa Rice, executive vice president of the National Fair Housing Alliance, said in a statement. "We look to Secretary Carson to marshal the resources of the department he leads to combat this problem, and to fight all forms of housing discrimination."

GETTING TO KNOW YOUR ELECTED OFFICIALS

State Rep. Adam Fredrick Zemke speaks from the millennial generation

This week, in Getting to Know our Elected Officials, I sat down with State Representative Adam Fredrick Zemke. He is a millennial generation member of the Michigan House of Representatives. He represents the 55th District which include the city of Ann Arbor and Washtenaw County and he has great ideas on how to make these communities better.

1. What do you see as a few of the biggest problems facing the residents of the Ann Arbor community?

A: There are not many different issues technically speaking for the Ann Arbor District. But, I can say I have seen a huge increase when it comes to wages. Especially in educational backgrounds we see young people coming out of college without a lot of debt. Also, make sure we get business coming in and out of state the proper training. When it comes to tax money we all should be paying a fair budget. We should be spending on the things that will help impact people's lives. But, legislation raised voting registration fees and gas tax by 20%. I voted against it. But I definitely want to see tax relief and a Specific road Plan to fix the roads.

2. What organizations are you involved in?

A: I work on Educational things outside of the legislator but I represent House of Representatives. The boards I help serve on is the citing of general motors engineers foundation and educational foundation.

3. What exactly influenced you to join the political arena vs working with the private sector in engineering?

A: I got involved because I worked with kids who had fewer resources than I did growing up as a child. My family was huge on education, treating others with respect, and being impactful. So within the educational foundation I found a problem with equity. I wanted to express to kids that there is always opportunities. No matter the race, color, or religion.

4. Who are your biggest supporters?

A: The community members of Washtenaw County along with family support, they loved campaigning.

5. Has legislation done anything with House Bill 5968 (protect victims of abuse, eviction, and fines?)

A: Not as of right now, we spoke on it last session but we have to reintroduce it. I am a huge supporter of that. We are still in the process.

6. Do you think you and other house democrats will help push legislation for the DPS Schools?

A: Absolutely, I know I am supportive of it. There are problems that need to be fixed by the state. As I mentioned before with the educational system, transportation, and training with teachers. Sometimes it can be very difficult to increase funding because of the partisan environment., but you can count on the house of democrats to be there.

7. What is your idea on fixing the roads?

A: I definitely see a funding issue. We need to make the heavy vehicles pay for their damage. And that's the main problem; we aren't charging for their damage. We need to make it fair. The house of democrats has a plan for it.

Take My Breath Away!!

By Janine Folks - Religion Columnist

As a woman, I cannot think of anything more attractive on a man than wisdom. Appearances draw us in, charm intrigues us, but wisdom seals the deal!! That and a loving heart.

What is a fine fool? Still a fool. A wise man can bless your life. If a man is wise, everything else he needs will come. God honors our desire for wisdom. It was demonstrated in how He responded to Solomon's request for wisdom (1 Kings 3).

God is so big on wisdom. Wisdom is the ability to understand and discern things and it comes from God. He said all we have to do is ask for it and He will give it go us generously (James 1:5). But you really have to want it and actually be willing to use it. Wisdom is not always immediately gratifying and many of us forfeit it.

Wise women love wise men. Remember the Queen of Sheba? When She heard about the fame of Solomon and his relationship to the Lord, she came to test Solomon with hard questions (1 Kings 10:1). She did it big as far as how she travelled and arrived to see what was up with this man she'd heard so much about. When she heard him speak, his responses were so remarkable, truly he had been underrated. He was even more amazing than his reputation!

His wisdom 'took her breath away' (v.5). In other words, 'she was overwhelmed.' Some translations say her 'spirit left her.' I imagine that her jaw dropped in awe of him. My daughter would say, "HE SLAYED!" How wonderful to have a man's wisdom blow your mind!

His whole set up amazed her, like "Wow!" He wasn't putting on a front or 'trying' to be impressive. His wisdom yielded blessings all around him. Here was a man who was truly in tuned with his heart and the heart of God and a heart for people and doing right by them. This is how you knock a wise woman's socks off!!

Check your heart. Search for God and ask for wisdom. Truly. This is how you impress the right kind of people. The Queen of Sheba had it and she recognized it in Solomon. A reputation for being wise is priceless and can take you places you never imagined and gifts and blessings you never conceived. Ask for it. Wisdom. #SLAY!!

ASK ALMA

My boyfriend took my engagement ring from me. Should I stay with him?

Dear Alma,
Hi Alma. My name is K. I've been with my boyfriend almost 4 years. He works but doesn't make enough to help me. He makes up for it though in EVERY OTHER AREA, and he's also a little controlling. He's taken my engagement ring from me 3 times and I went and bought my own replacement ring and he told me that no other ring should be on that finger, and made me take it off. Should I continue in this relationship? Oh and yes I do love him.

— K

you're 16 and No if your 26. News flash! Your boyfriend isn't ready to get married and neither are you. When you love someone and you're ready to commit, you don't take back the ring every time there's a problem. And you especially don't go out and get a replacement ring, frontin' to your friends, so they don't see the real deal. What your partner offers, is who he really is. You can't change, transform or rearrange anyone. Wise up to the truth of the matter, when it comes to your relationships. Otherwise you're living in the fantasy of what you want your life to be. Stick to what you can control. The truth, that's what you can change and transform.

Alma Gill's newsroom experience spans more than 25 years, including various roles at USA Today, Newsday and the Washington Post. Email questions to: alwaysaskalma@gmail.com.

Well K, it depends. Yes, if

Ringling Pearls to be in Concert

Hand bell Choir Practices Musical Art

Besides Director Brooks, members of the choir are Carolyn Carrington, Tyese Lawrence, Sheila Clay, Corinne Lyons, Belinda Evans-Ebio, Delphine Oden, Yvonne Evans-Evans, Sylvia Pugh, Judith Hand, Phyllis Robinson, Gloria Hunt and Marilyn Stewart. Candace Walls shares her talents as Guest Flutist and Jonathan Wright is the group's Road Manager. Carlotta D. Mitchell is president of the Eta Iota Omega Chapter.

INKSTER - The Eta Iota Omega Ringing Pearls Hand Bell Choir of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated @ will be in concert on Sunday, March 19, 2017 at the Unity of Redford and Livonia Churches. The concert begins at 4:00 p.m. at the Unity of Livonia location at 28660 Five Mile Road, Livonia. The concert is free to the public. The theme of the concert is "Worshipping the Lord" and concert goers will be thrilled with music that will range from familiar hymns to contemporary musical selections.

The hand bell choir has performed for many public events, including church worship services, women's day programs, community scholarship programs, rededication breakfasts, Noel Nights and community concerts.

Are you Supporting Businesses in your Community?

The hand bell choir was established by Minnie Brooks, a retired music educator, who wanted to ensure that the art of hand bell music remained alive in the community. In April 1999, a group of chapter members formed The Bells of Alpha Kappa Alpha. After a short hiatus, the group reorganized as the Eta Iota Omega Ringing Pearls.

The continued dedication to this art form has propelled them to prominence in the Detroit community where their artistry is enjoyed at such events as Alpha Kappa Alpha Founders' Day programs and Great Lakes Regional Confer-

Inkster Preparatory Academy Reaching Back to the Community!

"Success is The Only Option"

Inkster Preparatory Academy is a first-year Kindergarten through 2nd grade school located in the Inkster Community. This new school has a brand-new learning library where students can go in and explore books or read in a quiet environment. There is also technology throughout the school in the form of: Smartboards in every classroom; a technology lab with laptops for every student and class sets of chrome books.

Inkster Prep has achieved great academic success! They have just been selected as a 2017 Innovative School by the International Center for Leadership in Education. This award means that Inkster Prep has enabled their students to achieve incredible growth in a short amount of time by being creative in the classroom and using best teaching practices. Inkster Preparatory Academy was chosen for this award among thousands of other schools in Michigan and districts across the country.

On Thursday, March 30, 2017 Inkster Prep will be having its Kindergarten Round – Up from 4:30 pm – 7:00 pm where parents will have the opportunity to visit the school, meet the kindergarten teachers, and enroll their child for the upcoming 2017-2018 school year. Applications for students entering KDG-3rd grade in the fall are available now. Slots are limited!

Coming soon, Inkster Prep is having its first-annual Easter Egg Hunt Extravaganza for the Inkster Community. This event will take place on Saturday, April 8, 2017 from 1:00 pm – 3:00 pm. The location will be at Inkster Preparatory Academy; 27355 Woodsfield St, Inkster, MI 48141. The Easter Egg Hunt Extravaganza is designed to bring the Inkster Community together. Prizes will be given out and children can “hunt” for Easter candy with their families.

Also, Inkster Preparatory Academy will be hosting Mayor Nolen’s Black – Tie event. More information will be forthcoming on this special event so stay tuned.

IS YOUR CHILD READY FOR KINDERGARTEN?

A GUIDE FOR PARENTS OF PRESCHOOLERS

Inkster Preparatory Academy is a K-3 public charter school and has been selected as a 2017 Innovative School District for showing great strides in strengthening rigorous learning for ALL students, increasing student achievement, and building a culture of innovation.

As your child’s first teacher you have a key role. You can help your child prepare for school and life success. The quantity and quality of time you spend with your child matters. You can do some things to help your child be better prepared for school while having fun.

What Can You Do at Home to Prepare Your Child For Kindergarten? Follow this guide to help your child transition smoothly into Kindergarten:

troit Students. He withdrew as a judge and recruited a diverse group of high school students from Detroit and Downriver to share his knowledge with. A groundbreaking program, DDSFC looks beyond race, color, gender or creed. He brought ing together an eclectic group of thirteen students to experience every facet of making motion pictures, while a volunteer team of filmmakers, writers, actors, sound editors and musical artists serve as mentors.

DDSFC is primarily funded out of pocket and through donations from community members.

The DDSFC Students have been collaborating and creating since October 1, 2016. Every weekend they meet at the Rivers Edge Gallery in Wyandotte Michigan. Four DDSFC projects will premiere on Saturday, April 8, 2017 6:00pm at the Trenton Village Theatre 2447 W. Jefferson Ave, Trenton Michigan 48183.

In The Cut Barber Shop Gives Free Haircuts

Barbers from InThe Cut Barbershop could be seen giving back to the Community, on Monday morning, February 27. They were at Ann Visger Elementary School cutting hair for free. Several of the kids were excited about climbing out of the chair with a new hair cut. The barbers' were excited about doing a good deed from the kindness of their hearts. In The Cut is located at 10514 W. Jefferson Ave. in River Rouge.

The barbers donating their time and services were; Dion 'Prime Time' Chapman, Randall Fears, John Tolbert and Huggy Mitchell. In the Cut is also a partner with the Telegram's Books, Boys and Barber shop program to encourage boys to read.

Time to Pick Your Brackets

By Butch Davis - Sports Writer

The 2017 NCAA Tournament schedule and sites will be announced as soon as Sunday evening with the annual "first four" games likely to be played in Dayton and concluding with the NCAA Tournament Championship game in early April, 2017 at the location of Glendale Arizona. In addition to the 31 automatic bids, the standard 37 at-large bids will join the automatic bids in the 2017 Field of 68. Several bubble teams have played their way comfortably into the NCAA tournament field in the past weeks. However, projected brackets are a loose guide for who is and isn't on the bubble. Yes local teams such as Michigan, Michigan State, and Oakland University who lost to a lower seed in the first round of the Horizon League Tournament this past Saturday at the Joe Louis Arena will be holding their breath to get into the "March Madness" dance.

Will Villanova Repeat? How about Florida Gulf Coast who was the leagues best team during the regular season and proved it by cruising through the conference tournament, beating North Florida by 16 points in the championship game this past Sunday. This certainly wasn't the most entertaining league tournament, however it has produced a champion good enough to pull off an upset in the Big Dance in the past. What about the Mountain West League that was once one of the premiere mid-major tournaments in the country which has fallen on hard times with former powers San Diego State, New Mexico and last-place UNLV all struggling. The highlight here is the resurgent Nevada Wolfpack, led by projected NBA Draft pick Cam Oliver someone you do not hear about from the major networks. Regardless of outcome, this is still a one-bid league.

The 2017 NCAA men's college basketball tournament has the potential to be one of the best in history thanks to some fantastic individual star power as well as some great teams. So as of this Sunday get brackets ready to fill out and see if you can pick the winner of this year's NCAA Tournament, and yes do not forget to fill the women bracket of the March Madness NCAA Tournament as the U-Conn women team is predicted to win it all, although I'm picking Dawn Staley South Carolina team to beat the Huskies in the final. By the way, the University of Detroit Mercy women team hopefully will be picked to be part of the dance as per their performance in the Horizon Championship Tournament this past Tuesday in which they lost to Green Bay in the finals at Joe Louis Arena.
