I love the holiday season. I take some much needed time to just relax my mind and my body. I spend time with family and friends. I eat most of my favorite foods and desserts. My mouth is already watering for my mom's shrimp cakes. I don't like crab so I found a recipe a few years ago and asked my mom to make them for me and she does so with love every Christmas. Thanks Mommy!

This time of the year is always a reflective time for me about how my year has gone. And usually I can sum up my year in the words of one of my favorite holiday songs "Thank you for a good year" by Alexander O'Neal from his album "My Gift to You" (click the link to listen <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8chrEoJ4e6U>). Here are a few of the words:

I want to thank you for a good year. For those good times that I have received. I want to thank you for a good year. For the blessings that you've given me.

I'm thankful for the countless blessings. My whole family's health is just fine. And through this year of trials and tribulations I've held onto my peace of mind.

You've given me health. Yes! You've given me wealth! Yes! You've given me life. Yes! And understanding.

You've given me love. Yes! Peace in my heart. Yes! A brand new start. Yes! Oh I want to thank you!

It has truly been a good year for me and I am humbled and thankful for your support. I have done some new things this year that have pushed me past my comfort zone. Most notably creating and launching my Fiercely Debt Free Boot Camp, starting my weekly Tuesday Lunchtime Finance on FB Live in July that I have over 3,600 views and creating a $1.99 kindle version of my book "Transform Your Money Mindset – Simple Steps for Financial Fitness"

I have been very blessed with so many opportunities to share my financial fitness and money mindset message with over 350 clients and attendees at my speaking events. Here are pictures of a few of my events from 2017:

May 2017 - A book discussion and book signing at Sister's Uptown Bookstore sponsored by Delta Sigma Theta Manhattan Alumnae Chapter in Manhattan.

June 2017 - Speaker on Financial Empowerment at the Allen AME Church 20's and 30's Conference in Queens.

August 2017 - Speaker on Budgeting and Credit at the Young Non-Profit Professionals Network New York Chapter in Manhattan.

Now while I do many engagements in the New York City area, I can speak and do workshops anywhere so just ask me about my availability!

I plan to do even more coaching, speaking, workshops and conferences in 2018 to help you achieve your financial fitness goals. And I want to know what your BIG financial goal is for 2018? Click link for my quick 3 question survey - <http://bit.ly/2018financialgoal>.

I am so excited for all that 2018 holds for my clients and me in 2018. Let's live the #FierceLife in 2018 and "Be fierce in your finances".

Happy Holidays!

Audrey
